The Call of Duty

Duty, we hear thy voice tonight
Calling us from fond dreams away,—
Yet we linger here. The light
Of college joys in glittering ray
Lures us and bids each heart
With love, more strong, more true. From thee
Oh, college dear, we would not part—
But the voice calls. 'Tis Destiny.

Shall airy charms and pleasures light
Tempt us to paths of idle play?
Shall low desire cause us to blight
Tomorrow,—great and noble day?
Ah, no! Our Alma Mater's creed
Is not a selfish one, and we
Have learned that the world's great need
Is manhood of strength and purity.

We fear not future problems,—stern
Through be Life's laws which we must meet.
Someone must work; 'tis ours to learn
A wider nobler service sweet.
So now like men we hear the call:
Destiny, we meet you. Away
With self, nor shall vain dreams enthrall
Duty, we hear. We must, we will obey.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING
The increased and wide spread interest in the Young Men's Christian Association this year is not to be wondered at since the opening of its handsome new building and the addition of another secretary to look into and to push its affairs.

The building is indeed a handsome one, and a center for the student life which we have needed so long. We had not realized the urgency for the need of such a building until we got it and began to use it in so many ways. The presence of the various offices—one for every college activity—the students post-office, the barbershop, the lunch room, the lockers, the showers, the game rooms, the spacious lobby, the reading-room, the writing-room—all draw the students. The auditorium gives us a place for entertainments, for rehearsals, and for public occasions of all kinds. The building is the headquarters for the band, the glee-club, the orchestra, the dramatic club, the athletic association and a general rendezvous for the students.

We also have two secretaries who are happy in their disposition. They stand to serve, in any way possible, the needs of the students. They rejoice with us in our successes; they share our disappointments; they help us in our plans and council with us in our undertakings; they are the friends of any one who will let them be. Both are young men, college trained, and sympathetic in their attitude toward us.

Genial 'Gene Turner has been with us since the fall of '07. At the first he jumped into the very heart of our college life by showing his ability on the athletic field. For the first two or three years of his stay here, time was permitted him to assist Coach Heismann with the football and baseball squads, and now since the increased work of the Association demands more of his time he is with the athletes on the field, in spirit.

Harry Comer, the Associate Secretary, came to us this year and in this short time he has made himself as one of us, with the students and with the faculty, and has fallen very readily into the Tech ways. He has won the confidence and respect of us all. He is a hard worker and has contributed largely to the splendid admiration of the new building and to the excellence of the Association work.

'Gene and Harry make a good team, but they need the very uttermost co-operation on our part, and it is up to us to get behind the work for the coming year as never before. We stand periously near the head in the college work of the Southland and we have a great field which will require the best efforts of every fellow at Tech who is interested in the better things, so lets have the final word be: Get behind the Y.
