Captain Fielder came to the realization of the fact that he was a pig-skin artist about the middle of the 1912 season. Each year he has been coming back stronger and stronger and more experienced than ever. He is always in the thickest of the battle, encouraging his men and showing great fighting spirit. He is one of the fast men of the team and when he hits there is nothing else to do but give way. “Wooch” was as good a captain as a Tech team has ever had and will be greatly missed next fall.

When the time came to elect a captain for the 1915 team, “Froggie” was chosen without a dissenting vote. While only a first year varsity man, being ineligible his first year in college, he is without a doubt the logical man for the place. All season long it has been his great generalship and field manoeuvring that won many a game. Our only score against Georgia came as a bit of strategy on his part. Besides being a heady player he is a powerful runner and a very good kicker. Great things are expected of him next fall. We look to you as All-Southern, “Froggie.”
Talley was seriously handicapped this year on account of an injured shoulder received during the last season. He is one of the men who has made people take notice, and is destined to do so again. He brought special attention to himself in 1913 by his line plunging. He is a big man, heady and is a pastmaster at forward passing. Talley has two more years at Tech and his prospects are of the brightest.

Patten was in better condition this year than the previous season, and his playing was spectacular throughout the entire fall. He was one of the best ground gainers that the varsity had, and could be depended upon whenever the occasion demanded. He is a fierce runner and of the hardest type to tackle. Unfortunately he will not be in college next year, but has taken up the harder scrimmages of life.

"Big Six" gets our palm as the gamest and grittiest man that ever donned a pair of moleskins. From the first blast of the whistle he was in the thickest of the fray, fighting with the greatest of vim and that never-say-die spirit. His very presence gave confidence to the rest of the team and he could be depended upon to do the lion's share of the work. He is not only a leader on the gridiron but in the class room as well. A serious injury in the Georgia game may keep him out of next fall's line-up, but we sincerely hope that he is back to give all he's got.

This was Lang's second year on the team. Last year he played a guard, and this year he was used at the same position. He is one of the biggest men on the varsity, not only in stature but in spirit as well. "Bob" gets his dip this June but it is to be hoped that he returns—to be one of the mainstays of the team.
Preas was not declared eligible to play with us until after the football season was well off the map, so he did not get much of a chance to show his prowess except in one or two games. Nevertheless everyone knows what he is capable of doing if given the chance. He has three more years yet to play, so look out somebody! We’re looking at ‘yer Jim, so give ‘em all you’ve got. He is one of the best all-round athletes in College.

“Big Jim” proved to be the sensation of the season when it came to bucking and real, sure enough line plunging. As termed in one of the local papers “Satellite Senter,” he certainly lived up to the name and proved to be the star in many a game. He crumbled the Auburn line as it has not been crumbled in many a day, and went through it at will. This is Jim’s first year as a varsity footballist and he can be depended upon to be a mainstay for several years to come. He was picked on Coach Heisman’s All-Southern for an end. He is a good track and basket-ball player as well.

Sneed showed better form this year than ever before and by good consistent work won a place on the varsity. He is about the best man physically in college and his ability to handle himself as a lineman can best be attested to by asking some of his opponents. He, too, has played his last for Tech for he gets his sheepskin when June rolls ‘round.

“Cush” played his usual good game at end and half, whichever place he was picked to fill. He was one of the hardest runners and tacklers wearing a Tech uniform, and just about the greatest at gathering in forward passes. Injuries kept him from a good many games, but nevertheless he showed up well enough in the games he did play in to win his letter. “Cush” will be sadly missed when the roll is called next fall as he has also felt the call of the outside world.
Jack is one of the coming men of the team. This is his first year to make good, but we look for something better from him next year. He has the weight and speed and with a little more experience should make a most valuable man.

Spence is a powerful man, always follows up the plays, and what makes him an exceptionally good man is the fact that he has the beef and the punch that goes with it. He played an end most of the season and showed up well considering that this was his first year. With more seasoning he will make a valuable man. Spence has three more years to play and great things are expected of him.

"Gris" played his usual strong game at end, and was one of the mainstays at bucking. His beef and knowledge aided the team materially throughout the season. He is fast and a hard man to down as some of the Georgia and Auburn men will testify.

Churchill, better known as "Pewt" is one of those raw-boned fellows from the districts of West Texas. This was his first year on the team and he showed that he has got the goods by his splendid playing in all the games in which he participated. We look for great things from this big fellow in years to come for he has several more to play.
Mauck played his first college game last fall and if that is an example of what he can do with a little more teaching and experience, all we can say is that we have all the pity in the world for the opposing linemen. This giant is all over at once, using feet, hands and legs to block, and tear through a line—why he makes a line look like a paper bag after an altercation with dum-dum bullets. He is also a good track and basket-ball player.

And now comes "Ole Pep" McCord. This man, gentle readers, was the life of many a battle and was a great help in many of Tech's conflicts as he kept up a running fire of encouragement to his team mates as well as taunts to his opposers. He played at center and filled that position creditably. We are sorry that he will not be back next year to lend a hand. He ought to make a real live wire in the business world.

Tyler was the smallest man on the team when it comes to stature, but he made up for this with his fight and pluck. Out at the first of the season with an operation, he was back in time for the late fall games as aggressive as ever. We extend the warm clasp to this lad. He's fast and clever on both the gridiron and diamond. At quarter or half he was always able to squirm for a gain of some kind.

"Big Alec" as this long, lanky, lean lineman is called to distinguish him from the Coach of same cognomen, was one of the hardest players on the varsity. Always willing to do his best and to exert his utmost, he usually made things hum when he got mixed up with them. This was his second year as a varsity man and showed wonderful improvement over the previous season. Go to it boy, we're for you!
Beard played in hard luck this year and was kept from most of the season's games with a banged-up shoulder. However Paul is a valuable man and given an even break he can be trusted to do his share of the work. We look to him as being one of the big men next season, for he's got the beef and speed.

"Pug," as he is most affectionately called, played a stellar game at center, and given a little more experience will make one of the best in the game. He's a hard tackler, has got the nerve and—well he is just a dern good player that's all there is to it. He's a mighty good baseball man, too.

"Shift Left" 27-56-45-Hike. That's the signal for "Joe" to take the old pigskin and just circle end with an interference of about 'steen men in front of him. And ten to one he gets away for a long gain. It's never known to fail, for when he gets that signal for a sweeping end run he's a goner. He's a hard tackler and even harder to tackle.

We were mighty glad to see "Senator" get his letter this, the last year that he will be with us, for he's a game through and through. He is one of the men who leave us this year, and every one who knows him will be sorry to see him go. He scrubbed for nigh unto four years as hard as any one could scrub and the awarding of his letter was justly deserved.
"Well, boys, the team's going to give them all they've got, now it's just up to you to give the team all you've got"—Uh huh, guess we all did! You just simply couldn't listen to one of Coach's talks and keep from yelling like a Hindoo Indian—maybe that's not some combination, but when Coach Heisman gets around, everything looks different, and acts different, too. He's spirit, himself, and no man, however he may chaff under a deserved "cussin" out, ever forgets, that, though Coach may seem a little harsh on the outside, he's white, clear white inside, and that he's always giving all he's got to Tech.

"Fellows, I haven't got much to say, now, but just watch that team fight to-morrow." That's Alec, old fighter from the start, and its a safe bet he makes that team fight, too.

They're the two old standbys, and they're the two that made the Red and Black bite the dust last fall. Not only do they make the Yellow Jackets invincible on the field of battle, but they're the friends of every student, always ready to help wherever and whenever they can, and not a man ever graduates from Tech that does not wish he was back in Chapel having spirit infused in his bones from the hyperdermic tongues of Coach and Alec, two of the finest friends a fellow ever had!
The Georgia game of 1914 was, as usual, played on Grant Field. According to the “advance dope” Tech had somewhat of an edge, although it would be impossible to find two teams more evenly matched than this classic struggle showed.

FIRST QUARTER

Captain Fielder won the fourth consecutive toss of the season and chose to defend the northern goal. Powell kicked off fifty yards to Fielder, who returned ten. After making first down on short line plunges, Tech was held for downs, and Morrison punted thirty yards to Paddock, who was downed in his tracks.

Georgia's Ball. Paddock hit the line for five yards. Thrash added ten more through the line. Marshburn made five around right end. Thrash failed to gain on two line bucks. Thompson made first down. Paddock made five around right end and added another one around left. A forward pass, Paddock to Henderson, netted five yards. Powell bucked the line for ten yards, bringing the ball to Tech's ten-yard line. On the next play Georgia fumbled and Lang recovered for Tech.

Tech's Ball on their ten-yard line. Senter and Goree tried three-line bucks but were unable to make it first down. Morrison punted thirty yards to Hitchcock, who was downed in his tracks.

Georgia's Ball. Paddock and Powell were unable to make the required ten yards after four attempts, and the ball went over to Tech on their 35-yard line.

Tech's Ball. Senter went through the middle of the line for five. Morrison rammed through guard for ten more. Johnston hit the same place for five. Fielder added four more around left end. Morrison made it first downs through center. Senter hit the line for four yards. Patton made a beautiful run of thirty yards around left end. It was the longest run of the game. Johnston and Goree failed to gain through the line. Morrison made two through center. Fielder went around left end for a touchdown. He added another point by kicking goal.

(Score—Tech 7, Georgia 0)
Powell kicked off thirty-five yards to Fielder, who returned ten.

Tech's Ball. Georgia penalized ten yards for holding. Senter got five through the line. Georgia suffered a fifteen-yard penalty for being off side. Fielder made four around left end. The quarter ended here with the ball in Tech's possession in the center of the field.

SECOND QUARTER

Morrison, after attempting a forward pass, kicked thirty yards to Powell, who fumbled, Marshburn recovering for Georgia.

Georgia's Ball on their twenty-yard line. The Red and Black were unable to make a first down, and Paddock kicked to Tech's thirty-five yard line. Fielder was downed in his tracks.

Tech's Ball. Fielder made ten around left end. Senter and Johnston each added a yard. Patten was put out of the game for roughing it and Tech penalized half the distance to their goal. Hayes relieved Patten. After failing to gain, Morrison punted.

Georgia's Ball in the center of the field. Georgia punted, after failing in their effort for a first down. Spence and Morrison made a first down on short line plunges. Fielder was thrown for an eight-yard loss. Spence attempted a forward pass, but it was incomplete and Morrison punted fifty yards to Marshburn, who returned it.

Georgia's Ball on their ten-yard line. Thrash made ten through the line. Paddock, got five through center. Georgia was penalized five yards for offsides. Paddock and Thrash failed to gain. Thompson added fifteen yards on an end over end play. A series of short line plunges added another first down. Thompson forward passed to Marshburn for twelve yards. Georgia was penalized twenty-five yards for holding. Another forward pass added five yards and the quarter ended with the ball on Tech's thirty-five yard line.

THIRD QUARTER

Fielder kicked to Powell on his five-yard line, and he returned the oval thirty yards.

Georgia's Ball. After several attempts at line plunging, Paddock attempted a forward pass, but Morrison, of Tech, intercepted it.

Tech's Ball on thirty-five yard line. Spence and Morrison made a first down on short line plunges. Fielder was thrown for an eight-yard loss. Spence attempted a forward pass, but it was incomplete and Morrison punted fifty yards to Marshburn, who returned five.

Georgia's Ball on their ten-yard line. Thrash made ten through the line. Paddock, got five through center. Georgia was penalized five yards for offsides. Paddock and Thrash failed to gain. Thompson added fifteen yards on an end over end play. A series of short line plunges added another first down. Thompson forward passed to Marshburn for twelve yards, Georgia was penalized twenty-five yards for holding. Another forward pass added five yards and the quarter ended with the ball on Tech's thirty-five yard line.
FOURTH QUARTER

Powell punted thirty yards to Fielder, who returned ten. Tech's Ball on their forty-yard line. Spence bucked the line for four yards and Morrison made it first down through center. Goree hit the line for five yards. Morrison punted to the thirty-yard line out of bounds, and the ball was brought in fifteen for play.

An exchange of punts left the ball in Georgia's possession on their forty-yard line. After failing to gain, Georgia again punted to Fielder. Tech's Ball on their forty-yard line. Spence got through the line. Johnston added six more on a line plunge. Johnston made it first downs through the line. Montague got six around right end. Morrison attempted a forward pass, but Georgia intercepted it. Several substitutions on both sides were made at this stage of the game. It was Georgia's ball on her five-yard line. Numerous forward passes were tried by the Red and Black, none of which were successful. The game ended with the ball still in their possession on their five-yard line.

Final Score—Tech 7, Georgia 0.

When Coach Heisman sent out the first call for baseball candidates last spring over a hundred men responded. In the array of diamond talent were six "T" men of the previous year, including Captain "Murphey" Pound, "Joe" Pitts, "Smokey" Eubanks, the two Montagues, "Edgar" and "Tyler," and "Wooch" Wooten. With these as a nucleus, it was still necessary to develop two catchers, a twirler, two infielders and a couple of outer gardeners.

We had a good team—there's no doubt of that—but for some reason or other they didn't seem able to play the ball they were capable of until the first game of practically every series had been lost.

We won only three series of games the entire season, the Mississippi, Illinois and Alabama series.

Our first game of the season was on March 26th, when Auburn invaded our territory for a stay of two days and a series of three games. It being the first game of the season we could hardly expect to win it—at least we didn't. The next day we came back at them strong, winning the first game of a double-header, and having the lead in the second when J. Pluvius put a stop to the activities. It was in this game that we discovered we had a real twirler in "Pug" Bryant. He hadn't given up a hit and during Auburn's last time at bat struck out all three men.

Mississippi College next invaded our haunt, straight from a couple of wins over Alabama, and with a wonderful twirler in Brooks. Be it remembered that this guy struck out twenty Alabama batters only a couple of days before he hit the Yellow Jackets' stronghold. We took Mr. Brooks into camp by the tune of 6 to 4. We easily defeated them in the second game—6 to 0.

Illinois was our next victim but they proved worthy opponents. They were on their annual Southern trip and it might be well to state that the Tech series was the only one they lost. We won out in the ninth inning in the first game—going into the ninth with the score 2 to 1 against us. We got our stingers to working though and nosed home a 3 to 2 victory. The result of the second game was the same as the first, the only difference being in the score, which was 5 to 2. Illinois won the Championship of the West.

As usual, Mercer won the first game of their series, due mainly to the superb twirling of a certain Mr. Hunt. We evened up the count on the second game, but a third and deciding game was not played.

Vanderbilt came next, after a season’s absence, and again we lost the first game. Also again we won the second. The scores in both games were rather one-sided, being 11 to 2 and 18 to 6 respectively.

The team then went on a road trip, playing Mississippi A. & M., and the University of Alabama. This trip proved a rather disastrous one for we lost two out of three to Alabama and the only one we played with Mississippi A. & M. Things were looking rather gloomy at this stage of the race, for we hadn’t won a series since the Illinois games, and the Georgia games were only a few days away.

Following the Mississippi defeat we returned to our own stamping grounds and engaged the University of Alabama in a return series of two games, both of which we easily won, making the final count in the number of games won against them 3 to 2 in our favor.

The Georgia games were now upon us. As usual the “dope” veered strongly to the Red and Black collegians, although we had long since learned to discard the “dope bottle” when we played the boys from the Classic City. As for the games themselves, probably the least said, the better. They were typical Tech-Georgia games, and by this is meant everything that the term “Tech-Georgia” implies. Georgia won, and with them went the winner’s share of the spoils. They had the best team, and a goodly portion of the grand old luck which follows a winner. It did seem mighty tough to lose that second game in Athens, after holding the lead until the last half of the eighth inning. To “Pug” Bryant goes the honor of winning the only game we copped of the four. He had the Red and Black swatters entirely at his mercy in the last game, and we are depending on him strongly to "bring home the bacon" this year.

Thus, it will be seen we won three series, lost two and tied three. The season could have been a good deal better, and also—a good deal worse.

Five men will be lost to the 1915 team, but there are as many from last year's squad and ineligibles that can be counted on to fill the losses.

Track History

In reviewing the splendidly successful track season of last spring, we must give credit to many athletes individually and to the team collectively for setting a standard which will be hard for succeeding teams to equal.

Work began in the early spring with a squad of earnest, gritty freshmen and loyal upperclassmen. The first year men were always ready and willing to follow the advice and accept the help which the older and the more experienced upperclassmen gave with a willingness which speaks volumes for their college spirit. Five old varsity men were back in harness ready for the first meet and with a firm determination to even up matters with a few who had so gloriously trimmed us in years gone by.

On April 11, the annual Field Day meet was held and all events were closely contested. It was nip and tuck between the Sophomores and Freshmen, the final event putting the class of 1916 ahead by a half point in the final count. Totals—Sophomores 61½, Freshmen 61, Juniors 42, Subs 35, and the Seniors 25½. Churchill broke the college record for the hammer with a heave of 126 feet 8 inches and Preas, a Freshman, broke both the record for the discus and shot-put. His marks in these events were 108 feet 4 inches, and 37 feet 8 inches respectively. All of this was very encouraging and the team got down to real hard work.

On April 25, Clemson came down from their Carolina haunts and the Varsity was determined to retrieve all previous defeats. This they did, a feat that a Tech track team had never before accomplished. Points—Clemson 52, Tech 62.

May 15 and 16 the team journeyed to Meridian, Mississippi, and entered the S. I. A. A. Tech showed to advantage and carried away some of the most coveted laurels. It was at this meet that Robinson broke his own splendid Southern Intercollegiate record in the high jump by setting a mark of 5 feet 11½ inches. Several of the point winners played in hard luck and we were content with fifth place after two days of gruelling work.

On May 22, the first Interscholastic Track Meet was held at Grant Field under the auspices of the Tech Athletic Association and was well attended by the prep schools of the State who sent representatives for all events. Georgia Military Academy won first place after a very spirited contest. This was the first time anything of this nature had been attempted in the State, and was such a success that it was decided to make it an annual event and something that will be looked forward to year after year.

Tech loses only one man by graduation, her stellar captain for two years, "Joe" Logan. His absence will be keenly felt in the dashes and hurdles, but there are several good men in college that with a little training will make valuable men in this department. All of the other varsity men are in college and with this nucleus and promising material from the entering classes, Tech's chances for a winning team are most bright.

CLASS ATHLETICS
All-Class Basket-Ball Team, 1914-15
BASKET-BALL has been struggling for an existence at Tech as a major sport for some time past. Last year the team was a success, but not so the financial end, and it was decided to do away with it this year and try as an experiment the idea of having a class league and to award sweaters to the ones selected for an All-Class Team. The plan worked out very well indeed as far as real lively games are considered and there was great enthusiasm on the part of the players, but the interest manifested by the student body was very poor indeed. Next year some plan should be worked up to get everyone interested.

Practice began shortly before Christmas, but it was not until after the holidays that playing began in earnest, and then there were some rare exhibitions pulled off. Every game was close and exciting from the first blast of the whistle until the timer sounded his blast. To name the class which showed up the best would be quite an undertaking so it will suffice to say that up until the last two weeks things were about even, and then the Sophs and Freshmen began to pull away from the others and it was left to them to play the deciding game. This was the game of games and the one for the class championship honors. With bright visions of class numerals staring them in the face these two teams went at it, tooth and nail, and to draw blood. They did. The detailed accounts of the game show that the score surged back and forth and was tied and untied several times. At last the Fresh team managed by superior basket shooting to forge ahead and remain there for the remainder of the game, and when the referee blew his whistle the score stood in favor of the first year men.

The All-Class Team as picked by Coach Heisman is constituted of the following men. It presents a strong line-up and one that would have ranked well with the other teams of the South if they had been put out as the Varsity.

Center, Senter, '16, Dunwody, '18; Forwards, Spence, '17, Strupper, '18, Golden, '18; Guards, Preas, '17, Johnston, '17; Utility, Phillips, '18; Manager, P. E. Beard.
THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION is to be congratulated upon the phenomenal success of class athletics during the past year. Starting with the class baseball games of a year ago, the track season and the football games of last fall and up to the basketball season, this branch has filled a great want and is furthering that long-felt want at Tech—that of Class Spirit.

The Class Football games of 1914-15 showed a marked improvement over those of a year before. The teams were stronger, the games better attended and the interest shown was far greater than anticipated. The season started a week after Thanksgiving and a large crowd was on hand to cheer their respective classes on to victory. In the opening game the Freshmen and Juniors tied up in a 0-0 game. Right here the fun started. The following Saturday also brought forth some fine football, in fact the games played before Christmas were, as a whole the decidedly better of the entire season. The Soph-Fresh game was a battle royal, and if either side had anything on the other it was not apparent to the casual onlooker. The first game ending in a tie, 0-0; it was necessary to play a second game, which also resulted in a tie game.

The Seniors coached by Coach Heisman put out a good team, making up for the rather poor showing of the year previous. They had some good men in Reifsnider, Montague, Parker and others.

The Juniors had one of the strongest teams of the college but just could not seem to get together. Glover, Merrill, Span, Gardner put up excellent games for this class.

The Sophomores had one of the best all-around teams in the bunch, but were greatly handicapped in their last games by the loss of Knapp who sustained a broken leg. Harkins, Meyers, Spengler, Funkhouser and Bird, besides Knapp, deserve especial mention for their playing.

The Freshmen had every right to the best team on account of the first year rule not allowing first year men on the varsity. Beyond a doubt they had the finest material to pick from, and we find such as Barnwell, Strupper, West, Hill, Hall and others putting up ripping good games.

The All-Class team as picked by Coach Heisman is composed of the following, and compares very favorably with the selections of other years:

Center, Fitzgerald, '19; Guards, West, '18, Crutcher, '15; Tackles, Barnwell, '18, Spengler, '17; Ends, Harkins, '17, Meyers, '17; Quarter, Strupper, '18; Halfs, Reifsnider, '15, Hill, '18; Full Back, Glover, '16.
