Athletics

Measured in the eyes of the business world a college is judged by the ability and training of its graduates. Among men in other colleges, however, the ranking of a school depends largely upon the prowess of its athletic teams. Realizing this and valuing the esteem of other colleges as well as the esteem of the outside world, the authorities of Georgia Tech consider athletics as a most important part of the curriculum of the institution. A thorough knowledge of the subjects in the scope of engineering housed in a strong robust body is the goal toward which Tech men are working. As a result of this policy the merit of our teams has penetrated the country and each year finds representative teams from other sections of the country as well as from the Southland on our schedules. The entire athletic system of the institution operates under the motto: "It isn't whether you won or lost, but how you played the game," and in its fulfillment petty politics and internal strife are almost entirely eliminated. We play for the game's sake, hard and clean, and may the best man win. Although only comparatively few men can play on the teams, the entire student body displays a spirit of co-operation that is rapidly bringing to the institution a national reputation for indisputable sportsmanship.

Coach Alex

William A. Alexander, or better, "Alex," as he is known to everyone who ever heard of Tech and its Tornado, entered the portals of this institution as a student in the fall of 1906. At that time his knowledge of football was that of the ordinary spectator. However, he went out for the team and served faithfully with the scrubs for four years. As a reward for his years of zeal with the scrubs he made the team and his letter in 1912. Alex was awarded his degree of B.S. in Civil Engineering in the spring of 1912, but the fall of the same year saw his familiar figure back on the campus once more. He had returned as assistant to Coach Heisman and as instructor in the Mathematics Department. After serving in this capacity for several years there came the war, and Alex, feeling the call of duty, responded and joined the army. Returning from France where he served as Lieutenant in the Engineers, he resumed his old job. In 1921 he was made head coach of athletics, following the resignation of John Heisman.

Tech is justly proud of her Coach, who has reached such a high place in the field of athletics, for Alex is regarded as one of the greatest coaches of the larger universities. Through his efforts Tech has made a name for herself in athletics and the prowess of her teams is well recognized by all schools, large and small. Favorite and idol of the students, his is a personality which cannot be resisted. Let us hope that his years as Coach will be many to come.
Assistant Coaches

R. A. CLAY, Baseball, Football
Since "Kid" has had charge of the baseball team Tech's prowess in this form of athletics has markedly increased. From a rather average aggregation of players, Coach Clay has built up teams that have figured well to the front in Southern collegiate baseball circles. It is also due to his efforts that the scrubs are able to give the football varsity the practice so necessary to a finished team.

F. F. WOOD, Line Coach
The achievements of Tech lines for the last few years have proved that the picking of Coach Wood as an All-American linesman in the days when he attended Notre Dame was a true reward for ability. Not only has he the ability but he is so able to impress it upon his charges as to turn out a good line each year, despite the material on hand.

C. C. GRIFFIN, Track, Football
George has been at Tech so long that he has become the handy man around the place. He started helping with track and became so good at it that he has now full charge. In football, after coaching two freshman teams, he has been given charge of the scrubs, who have the important task of furnishing fodder for the varsity to feed upon.

T. B. AMIS, Freshman Teams
"Dad" has been given exclusive charge of freshman athletics and has made a marked success with them. Taking up the work begun by George Griffin he has carried it on in a true Tech style and turned out creditable teams in all the sports.

JOHN FRANKLIN MCINTYRE, Guard

Although having arrived from Pine Bluff, John turned out to be a grim reality, as opposing lines have found out during the last three years. After serving a year in France, John came to Tech in 1919 when he scrubbed on the football team. In 1920 he made his numeral and the next three years found him in a regular berth. As Captain of the 1923 team, he made a masterful leader and played his position with that zeal and ardor, characteristic of a Tech football Captain.

FELTON MCCONNELL, Guard

That guards make good captains is evidenced by the fact that Irish was elected to succeed Johnny Mac as captain of the football team. After spending a couple of years at the University of Virginia, Felton came to Tech. He was ineligible the first year, but having already made his letter at Virginia, one year of scrubbing made him right in line for a varsity berth. He made his letter in 1922 and 1923 and is Captain-elect for 1924.

JOHN CURTIS STATON, End

The junior member of the firm of Staton and Staton has followed in the footsteps of his brother Al and leaves Tech with four years of football behind him that will be remembered for many years to come. In his freshman year John made the Composite All-Southern and since that time he has been one of the most dependable ends in the South.

CLAIRE ALAXON FRYE, Center

Claire has quite a string of football experience behind him. In 1917 and 1918 he was All A. E. F. center in France. After that he scrubbed at Tech a year, made his numeral in 1920 and his letter in 1921, 1922, and 1923. The last two years his defensive work has been invaluable help to the team and his passing has always been accurate and sure.

ALEXANDER TROTTER HUNT, Quarterback

Pinkey was born in Arkadelphia, Arkansas, prepped at Staunton Military Academy and entered this institution in 1919. He played on the famous pony backfield of 1920 and the next three years was awarded his letter. Although hindered by injuries, his last season was a most creditable one.

JOSEPH ALEXANDER URY, Tackle

How the name of "Baby Joe" ever happened to grace such an enormous personage as Joe Usy will probably remain a mystery but his ability on the gridiron is well known. He has made his letter for two years and when the roll is called next year Baby Joe will be there in considerable avoirdupois.

AUGUSTUS JOSEPH MERKLE, Tackle

Gus is a Savannah boy but has made a remarkable record in spite of that fact. He played on the freshman team of 1922 and last year played regular tackle on the varsity. He was the fastest man on the rush line and next year may be shifted to end in order that his speed may be used to better advantage.
Ivan Andy Williams, Halfback

Ivan entered Tech after having been one of the greatest prep school halfbacks ever developed in the west. His ability along these lines was proven during his freshman year when he starred on the rat team. Last year was his sophomore year but he played varsity half, despite the handicap of an injured neck. Great things are expected from Ike during the 1924 season.

Stephen Douglas Wycoff, Fullback

Doug came from the Little Rock high school with the Williams brothers and has been burning things up ever since. He created a sensation on the freshman team of 1922 and last year as fullback on the varsity his line plunging was superb. He was picked as fullback on every All-Southern pick and was awarded the position of Captain of the Composite-All-Southern team. Before he leaves school Doug should have a national record of note.

Robert Edwin Reeves, Halfback

Bob is the third of the sophomore backfield men to make a letter. He was a running mate of Ike Williams on the freshman team of 1922, and last year continued as such on the varsity. He is an excellent defensive man and a great help to the team.

William Bethel Farnsworth, Halfback

Bip prepped with such other stars as Covington of Center and Bonar of Vandy and when he came here in 1920 he played fullback on the freshman team. In 1921 he made his letter as sub fullback and although he dropped out in 1922 he returned last year and again made his letter.

Charles Green Fleetwood, Center

Red is redheaded. Perhaps this accounts for his favorite expression on the field, which is, “smoke ’em out.” As a relief man in the line Red has been indispensable and he is a hard and fierce fighter. His home town is Savannah, Georgia.

Ernest Gordon Nambiar, End

Monk is one of the fastest men on the squad, being a four-forty man on the track team. Although light he is a hard and sure tackler and gets down under punts quickly. He calls himself an Atlanta man but he really comes from East Point.

James Gerald Albright, Halfback

Jerry was the “Steve Himself” of the season. After showing up fine in the earlier games of the season he broke his leg in scrimmage just before the Auburn game and was forced to witness the game from the confines of a rolling chair. He will probably be back next year. He is fast and shifty on his feet and should do mighty well.

Frank Glenn Harris, Halfback

Frank came into prominence in the Florida game when after Florida had held us to a 7 to 0 score up until the last quarter he got in the game and by flashy end runs placed the ball in scoring distance so that the score was tied. He is very fast and shifty. He and Jerry form a good combination.
Fred Becker Moore, Halfback

Fred is a consistent ground gainer and has that important knack of following his interference. He is the only three letter man in Tech today, which shows that he has other ability than just football. This is his junior year so he will be back.

Homer Monroe Carter, Quarterback

Homer was one of the boys that scrubbed under Coach Heisman. He has worked hard on the scrubs and sure deserved his letter in 1923. He is a real self-made player who always puts his level best into the play. He is rather quiet and extremely popular with his teammates.

Henry Lewis Reeves, Halfback

It took weeks and weeks of practice but Henry finally got it down to the point where a drop kick from the thirty-five line was a dead cinch. He will always be remembered for his kick in the V. M. I. game which gave Tech the winning margin, the score being 10 to 7.

Starling Maxwell Carpenter, Tackle

Six came to Tech while the memory of his famous brother was still fresh in the minds of the students and so everybody looked on to see if "Little Six" would uphold the family name. This he proceeded to do in fine style and he was awarded his letter in 1923.

Albert Davis, Quarterback

Red prepmed at Culver and learned to play football up there in Indiana. After scrubbing a year he made his letter this season. He is a hard plunger and a good man in running interference. He is red headed and therefore good natured and always on hand with that old grin.

Roy Dessard Huffines, Tackle

Roy made his letter in the old days of 1918 and 1919. After that he left Tech and the United States and went to Texas. He returned, however, in 1923 and fought his way up through the scrubs to the varsity. He has two more years of varsity football ahead of him.

Samuel Herbert Werner, Tackle

Sam played on the freshman team of 1921 and was one of the outstanding players. The next year he dropped out of school but returned this year. Although he was late in going out for the team he played in half the Auburn game and won his letter.

Herbert Edward Hall, Guard

Herbert came to Tech after finishing his schooling down at Bay Minette, Alabama. That was in the year of our Lord, 1921. He played on the company team of that season and showed up well. The next year he scrubbed the season with the varsity and in this year's play he made his letter. One of the most consistent players on the squad, he can always be counted on for a hard fight.
Review of the Football Season of 1923

OGLETORPE, 13—TECH, 29

Tech's "Golden Tornado" got under way in its first game of the season by defeating the Oglethorpe Petrels by a 29-13 score. This team showed that, although defeated, they could certainly fight. This was clearly demonstrated when, in the first half, they were leading Tech's "Tornado" with a 12 to 7 score the first time that a Tech team has been led by a Petrel team. Again Mauser, Oglethorpe's widehiind back, crossed Tech's goal line twice during the game. Tech came back immediately, however, and began three successive marches to Oglethorpe's goal. Credit must be given the whole Tech team for the game they played, for with an almost wholly new team, Coach "Alec" showed that he had certainly instilled into them that "never say die" Tech spirit.

V. M. I., 7—TECH 10

The game with the "Flying Cadets" was one that will long be remembered by those who saw it. The Cadets certainly lived up to their name and played a hard clean game. At no time was there any let-up in the playing of either team, but rather an increasing tenseness as the game progressed. Tech was led by the opposing team and again she pulled out from behind with the aid of that wonderful fighting spirit, displayed by Tech teams of old. The feature play of the game came near the end of the first half. Coach Alec sent in Henry Reeves to try for a field goal, and although at the thirty-yard line, Henry put the ball behind with the aid of that wonderful fighting spirit, displayed by Tech teams of old. The flashy Wilson, one of the sensations of the year, was almost completely smothered by the Tech tacklers. Doug Wycoff again demonstrated his remarkable line-plunging ability.

FLORIDA, 7—TECH, 7

Confident of victory, the Floridians poured into Atlanta to stop the Tornado. In the first half Florida intercepted a pass and carried the ball to Tech's 17-yard line. A completed pass and a line buck carried the ball over for the first score. In the last quarter, Coach Alec sent in two tiny backs, Harris and Albright. These men, with perfect interference, started a bucking, also starred for Tech. With a dash, reeled off three touchdowns, giving Tech the lead. The star of the game was Albright, who, after brilliant playing, scored two touchdowns. Wycoff, with his splendid line bucking, also starred for Tech.

GEORGETOWN, 10—TECH, 20

Four times, Georgetown's "Hilltoppers" had invaded Grant Field, and four times they had been turned away by defeat. This fifth time was no exception, for although Tech played a more experienced team, she won by a 20 to 10 score. The first half ended with Tech at the short end of a 10 to 0 score. Singularity Georgetown had not made a single first down, while Tech had made eleven and been unable to score. In the second half the team came back, and with a dash, reeled off three touchdowns, giving Tech the lead. The star of the game was Albright, who, after brilliant playing, scored two touchdowns. Wycoff, with his splendid line bucking, also starred for Tech.

Oglethorpe, 13—Tech, 28

For the second time in as many years, Tech lost to Notre Dame; this time by a 35 to 7 score. Meeting what was supposed to be the best team in the country, the Golden Tornado blew vainly against this team, which, on successive Saturdays, had defeated both the Army and Princeton, two of the most powerful elevens in the East. From behind a three-touchdown lead, Tech fought desperately and rallied, driving the ball sixty yards for a touchdown; a thing which neither the Army nor Princeton had been able to accomplish. Although we were beaten, we have no alibi to offer, for every man on the team gave his utmost, and we are proud to be able to say that we gave them a hard fight. The whole game was hard and clean, Wycoff winning the honors for Tech, and Miller for Notre Dame.

Alabama, 0—Tech, 0

In a game played on a muddy field and in a drizzling rain, Tech was tied by Alabama in a 0 to 0 game. Tech completely outclassed Alabama, however, making twenty-two first downs and自媒体. Still we were not able to score. On the fourth down, a confused signal cost Tech the game, for she had the ball on Alabama's one-yard line, and a fumble lost our chance. Alabama carried the ball for a total of seven yards, averaging one yard per play, while the Tornado backs carried the ball for an average of seven yards per play.

Penn State, 7—Tech, 0

Tech journeyed to State College with a determination to avenge the defeat in 1921 at the hand of the "Lions." Although they were disappointed, they played a hard game throughout and deserve considerable credit for the low score to which they held their opponents. The flashy Wilson, one of the sensations of the year, was almost completely smothered by the Tech tacklers. Doug Wycoff again demonstrated his remarkable line-plunging ability.

Kentucky, 8—Tech, 3

The "Wildcats" certainly lived up to their name in their game with Tech, for a more scrapping, fighting team was not seen on Grant Field the whole year. Early in the first half, Williams, better known as "Ivan, the terrible," dropped back for a placement kick and put the ball between the posts from near the center of the field. In the next quarter, however Kentucky did the same thing, tying the score. From then on, the game sea-sawed back and forth, neither team having the advantage, until the referee's whistle finally ended the game. Again Wycoff proved himself to be the star of the game.

Auburn, 0—Tech, 0

For the first time in many years Thanksgiving Day was one long drizzle. It was a disheartened crowd that witnessed the game, and although it was the first scoreless game between these two rivals, it was a lovely played affair. It was replete with fumbles and fumbles, and the ball changed hands frequently. Once Auburn seriously threatened the Tech goal line and once Tech tried a field goal but the game ended without scoring by either side.
Auburn Game

Thanksgiving Day proved a disappointment in more ways than one. First of all, after plans had been made for the biggest crowd that had ever assembled for an athletic encounter in the South a drizzle set in early in the morning that lasted all day and a number of loyal citizens decided in favor of the stuffed turkey and the fireplace, rather than the doubtful joys to be derived from two hours in the rain. This was doubly disastrous as the first concerted home-coming for the alumni was somewhat dampened.

However, both student bodies and a large number of fans were on hand to witness the famous annual classic between the two famous elevens. As soon as the game started the rain was forgotten in the excitement of the battle. From the start it was a see-saw affair. The ground was in such a slippery condition that long runs were impossible and the condition of the ball made forward passes out of the question. It was at once evident that it would be a plunging affair. As each team excelled in defense against this form of attack little could be accomplished. Time after time one team and then the other would rush the ball for three downs and be forced to kick. Fumbles occurred at intervals, but were equally balanced so that neither side obtained the advantage.

The half ended with the ball in the middle of the field and both teams drenched to the skin and reeking with mud. Between the halves the Tech hand marched on the field arrayed in gold sweaters and white ducks and formed a big "T". It made a most colorful spectacle as it played "Ramblin' Wreck" and cheered the sinking spirits of the huddled spectators.

The second half continued as the first. Once Auburn got within striking distance of the Tech goal by recovering a fumble but a forward passing attack failed and the ball was kicked out of danger. Again, Tech managed to get far enough into enemy territory to attempt a drop-kick but the ball was too wet and the attempt failed.

Thus it was that for the first time since the two institutions have played that a game resulted in a scoreless tie and a very much disappointed crowd wended its weary, wet way homeward.

Notre Dame Game

It was not without forebodings that the Tech team journeyed to South Bend to play Rockne's famous Irishmen. On the preceding Saturdays the Notre Dame team had decisively beaten the strong Army and Princeton teams on foreign ground. The Army had not been able to make a first down and the Princeton game had been a walk-away. A team that could do that a thousand miles from home would be a terrible adversary on its home field.

Our fears were well founded as the game showed. Although the Tech team fought with more than its usual tenacity they were unable to cope with the fleet backs of Notre Dame. Time after time the Tornado line threw back line plunges, only to have the versatile Don Miller dash around end, aided by perfect interference, for twenty or thirty yards. Before the Tech men woke up to the fact that they were in a football game he had run through the whole team for a touchdown twice. His ability to do this was most uncanny. After the Tech line had thrown back plunges, the backfield had broken up forward passes, and it looked as though the Irishmen were going to be completely stopped, the Notre Dame quarterback would call the touchdown signal and Miller would run through the whole team for a touchdown.

After three or four times this got monotonous and Tech started on a campaign of her own. With Doug Wycoff doing the most of the work, the Tornado carried the ball down the field for sixty yards and a touchdown, something that neither the Army or Princeton had been able to accomplish. Because of the splendid work of Doug and his teammates, the results showed that although the final score stood 35-7 against them, they had made more first downs than the Irishmen.

The team was excellently treated and everyone in South Bend was unanimous in saying that in Doug Wycoff, Tech had one of the greatest fullbacks in the whole country. Although this makes two straight defeats at the hands of Rockne's men we are determined that we shall have our innings and next year we hope to get back one of them when we meet the Irishmen again.
Penn State Game

Since the humiliating defeat at the hands of the Penn State team of 1921 it has been the ambition of the Golden Tornado to avenge that defeat and take the scalp of the "Lions." It was with this in mind that the team arrived in College Station.

From the start the Tech team fought like demons, and it was at once evident that the struggle would be one which would not be decided until the final whistle blew. Still smarting from the defeat at the hands of Notre Dame and from the tie game with Alabama the Jackets were determined. The Tech tacklers were fearless and they managed to almost completely smother the famous Wilson, who had proved so disastrous against the Navy and other Eastern teams.

If the Tech defense was good, the Penn State defense was faultless. Try as they would the Tech backs were unable to gain against the Lions. The Jackets were forced to resort to a purely defensive game. They did this exceedingly well, however, and the best the Penn State men were able to do was to score once. After this the Tech men held their own and throughout the last half managed to keep their goal line out of danger.

Although they scored but one touchdown, they beat us again and beat us fairly. We are hoping that, as with Notre Dame, we may be able to avenge these defeats next year when the Lions meet us on Grant Field.

The 1923 Football Banquet

The 1923 football banquet, like the 1923 football season, was marked by that spirit of good fellowship which cements more firmly the bonds of friendship and makes each Tech man a brother to every other. The banquet was given on the night of December the fourteenth at the Capital City Club and was a complete success viewed from every angle.

At the appointed time those who had made themselves eligible for this occasion began to file into the hall. The assembly of players, alumni, and friends of Tech never looked or felt better in their lives and they wanted others to know it. The team retired at first to elect the captain for next year's varsity and the alternate. They soon returned and everybody took seats for the spread.

Colonel Lowry Arnold, toastmaster of this, and many other Tech football banquets from time immemorial, presided in his enjoyable manner. The guests forgot all other matters for a time while the material part of the banquet was disposed of. After the debris had been cleared away, the chairs were pushed back and Mr. Arnold introduced John McIntyre, captain of this year's Golden Tornado. Mac announced the election of Felton McConnell as captain, and George Gardner as alternate to lead the Yellow Jacket gridders in 1924.

Next came a short speech from McConnell and Gardner, who though hardly able to say anything after the honors recently bestowed upon them managed to convey their thanks and appreciation. Coach Alexander followed with a short speech on the important facts of the past season and also said that he was more proud of the 1923 team than any he had ever coached.

John Staton was the orator of the occasion and voiced, as he said, the sentiments of "the Old Guard who were now passing out of the pictures." He paid a tribute to all the coaches and said that the friendship of Coach Alec meant more to the players than anything that had ever come into their lives.

Dr. Crenshaw awarded the gold footballs to the members of the team, and each of the Old Guard spoke a few words straight from the heart. Dr. Brittain then told of the pride he had in the high caliber of our athletics, and the scholastic records of the players. Speaking for the Atlanta press, Major John S. Cohen stated that they were always pleased to give Tech all the support in their power.

There was joy and sorrow at the 1923 football banquet, and the spirit of Tech prevailed the atmosphere throughout the whole affair.
Review of Freshman Football Season of 1923

After two practice games in which the Federal Prison and the University School were defeated by scores of 26-6 and 7-0, respectively, the Freshmen opened the season against Piedmont College and defeated them by the score of 13-0. The game was a preliminary to the Tech-Florida bout and though the Piedmont team played hard the Freshmen gained almost at will.

The next week the first year men were again victorious, Dahlonega being the victim. This game was a well-played one and though at first it looked like an easy victory, the mountain lads tightened during the last half, which was an exceedingly fast affair.

The Florida Freshmen paid us a visit and for the second time in as many years they took the measure of the Tech Rats. After holding the "Alligators" scoreless for the first two quarters, the Tech men went into a slump and during the last half permitted twenty points to be scored on them making the score 20-0.

The Freshmen again met defeat at the hands of the Alabama yearlings, the score being, 17-0. This game was played in Tuscaloosa and was the first trip of the season. The scoring was all done in the second quarter, the Tech men making their best attempt in the first quarter when they made three first downs in succession.

In the next game the rats again met defeat at the hands of an Alabama team, this time Auburn being the opponent. Although the Freshmen fought hard the Tigers managed to score 16 points on them. During the last quarter a rally was started which netted one touchdown but this failed to overcome the lead of the earlier part of the game. The game ended with the score 16-6.

Review of the Basketball Season of 1924

The basketball season was opened with a practice trip which the team made during the Christmas Holidays. First they journeyed to Macon where they met the strong Macon Y. M. C. A. team and defeated them by the score of 31 to 28. It was a narrow margin and the game was a closely played one throughout. The Jackets showed up exceptionally well in this, their opening game of the season.

From Macon they journeyed to Savannah where they met the Athletic Club team of that city. In this game the Tech men were playing real basketball and succeeded in beating the Geechee team 39 to 29. The next night the winning streak was continued when the Jacksonville Y. M. C. A. team was nosed out by a 32 to 31 score. The Albany Y. M. C. A. was too strong for them, however, and the basketball team lost its first game of the season to this team, the score being 39 to 28.

The first game in Atlanta was played against the Atlanta Athletic Club team. In past years the Club has turned out some teams of national reputation and this apparently got on the nerves of the Tech men for they were unable to keep their hands on the ball and lost by a large margin.

The first college game of the season was played with Clemson on their court. This proved to be an easy one and the Jackets won by a 48 to 13 score. Coming back to Atlanta the following night, the old rivals from Auburn were defeated easily, the score being 39 to 24. The first defeat at the hands of a college team was administered by the Furman team, which managed to run up 42 points to the Jackets 36.

After the Furman game came two with Mercer, both of which proved disastrous. The first game was rather close, the score being 29 to 26. Up until the last few seconds the outcome of the game was a toss-up, but a field goal just as the whistle blew gave the Baptists the verdict. The second game, however, was a more one-sided affair and the final result was 36 to 20.

The next two games were possibly the best of the season. The first of these, with Alabama, was a see-saw affair in which first one side and then the other would get ahead. The Alabama men were so much taller than the Tech men, that they had a distinct advantage under the basket. In the end this height told, and Alabama was on the long end of a 33 to 28 score. In the Mississippi game the long range guns were brought into action. It started when the A. and M. boys dropped in five shots from the middle of the floor, before the Tech team even touched it. Starting out under a handicap of ten to nothing was hardly easy, but the Jackets gradually cut into the lead until at the end of the half the score stood at 23 to 18. The second half began the same way and the visitors ran the score up to 31 to 20 in no time at all. Then Tech got in a big rally and scored ten points, bringing them within one point of the leaders. From this point the game was a hot affair until it ended with the score at 40 to 36 in favor of the Mississippi Aggies.

Another game with Clemson turned out much the same as the first, as did the return game with Auburn, Tech winning both of them by large margins. It seems singular that after winning these two games with Auburn so easily, it should be Auburn that would eliminate Tech from the tournament.

A game with the local Y. M. C. A. team also resulted in a victory for the Jackets but the following week they were again defeated at the hands of the fast Alabama team. As if this were not enough, the team came back to Atlanta and played a game with the Jewish Progressive Club. Although the club has an excellent team, there was no excuse for the drubbing they gave the Tech team. The Jackets were way off form and the final score was 41 to 29.

The last two games of the season were victories, one over the University of Chattanooga being by a score of 23 to 19, and the other from the University of Kentucky, 27 to 22.

The season was a remarkable one in the large number of close games that were played. With the exception of one or two, all the games that were lost were by very narrow margins.

S. I. C. Basketball Tournament

The fourth annual basketball tournament of the colleges comprising the S. I. C. was held in Atlanta beginning February 28th, and ending with the finals March 4th. The tourney was of unusual interest this year due to the exceptionally good teams turned out by the colleges, and the uncertainty as to which team would emerge victorious. Large crowds were present to witness the various contests, numbers of students from the colleges in the vicinity coming in to spur their respective teams on to victory.

From a Tech standpoint, there is not much that can be said, though Tech did have a very good team they were eliminated by Auburn in the first contest after a hard fight. The four teams going to the semi-finals were matched so evenly, that no one could forecast the outcome and the interest waxed keen. The finals were played by Alabama and North Carolina, the latter team winning. North Carolina deserves a great deal of praise for the splendid team they put out, and their clean, sportsmanlike playing that they showed throughout.

Review of Freshman Basketball Season of 1924

Freshman basketball having become an established branch of athletics at Tech, the year 1924 witnessed the fourth freshman cage season. The team of this year was exceptional and the season very successful as the results show at a glance. The games were well played at all times, and the first class playing of the men on the team showed that they would be strong contenders for berths on the varsity in the future.

The season began with the University High Bluebirds, and finished after ten other contests and several trips, with a stiff contest with the Carrollton A. C. The Freshmen won nine of their eleven contests and lost but two out of that number, giving them the excellent percentage of .818.

The initial contest against the University High team was a hard fought game from beginning to end, and the final result was in doubt up to the time the whistle blew. The score showed a victory for the Tech five, 19 to 18.

The second game of the season was another hard fought affair and the result ended in a one point victory for the opponents, Draughon's School, 25 to 24.

In the next affray the Mercer freshmen met the Tech quintet at home and put forth an unusual exhibition of basketball skill, downing the home team to the tune of 34 to 14. The Tech bunch played hard, but were outclassed.

The Auburn Rats next sallied forth to do battle with Tech's team on their home ground. The green jerseyed cagemen met and conquered them in a strenuous contest, the score being 20 to 18.

G. M. C. was the following team to invade Tech flats and they speedily went down in defeat, though they put up a hard fight. The score showed 25 to 18.

In a match with Darlington High bunch, the game proved a walkaway for the Tech youngsters from the beginning, though the Darlington boys struggled valiantly. The scorebook showed a victory for Tech 26 to 14.

On the road the Tech rats revenged their defeat by Mercer, by returning the compliment on their home grounds with the close score of 18 to 17. Auburn was again swept down in defeat to the tune of 26 to 16 in an easy game for the Freshmen. LaGrange was also mowed down by the Tech quint with a score of 25 to 17.

Oglethorpe Freshmen were the next to succumb to the freshman Yellow Jacket five in a good game ending 20 to 13. The last affray of the season was played away from home on the Carrollton A. C. ground, Tech winning the large end of a 43 to 31 score.

The season was a highly successful one and a great deal of credit should be given to Jamison, James, Schwalb, Parrish, Moreland, Connally, Rauber, and Baker who were the factors in bringing this about. We predict that these men will be heard of in the future on the varsity Yellow Jacket squad.

Review of the Baseball Season of 1923

It has been so long since Tech has not won a Southern Championship that hardly anything else was considered by the baseball team of 1923. Of the twenty games played, Tech lost two, and only one of these was to a Southern Conference team. Honors in two games were split with Auburn, both games resulting in a tie.

The season opened with Penn State in a two-day series, Tech pulling from behind in a ninth inning rally in both of these hard fought games. The following week the team went under in a hard fought game with Pennsylvania, the score being 3-2. The team redeemed itself the next week, though, by defeating Maryland 4-3, and Dartmouth the following weekend in two games, the scores being 3-0 and 3-2. Next came our first conference game, which we lost to Auburn 7-3. Our next two games, which were with Florida were easily won by our team by scores of 2-0 and 12-0.

The road trip started the week following, with the first stop at Auburn. Here the game with Auburn ended in a hard fought tie, the game being called on account of rain. The next day the team again engaged Auburn, and again the rain stopped the game in the fifth inning, neither team having the advantage. Alabama was next to fall beneath the slugging of the Jackets in a two-game session, both games ending with Tech at the long end of 6-3 and 12-2 scores in the respective games. The team then journeyed over to Macon, where they took the Mercerites into camp in another two-game series.

Returning home, the Jackets trimmed the University of North Carolina by a 9-5 score. The next week Tech took two slugging feasts from Kentucky by scores of 9-2 and 10-2, respectively, in a two-game series. The final games with Oglethorpe were both won by the Jackets; the first by a 4-2 score and the second by a 3-0 score.

The entire team deserves credit for the splendid showings which they made, both on the road and at home. "Tobe" Edwards and Ed. Morgan both finished their careers at Tech with a splendid season. Tech won more honors this season than any other school, both in percentage of games won and in the placing of men on the composite "All-Southern."

Review of Freshman Baseball Season of 1924

The Freshman Baseball Team of 1923 was really the first exclusively freshman baseball team to be put out at Georgia Tech. As such, this bunch of hardworking Junior Jackets, under the able guidance of Coach Dad Amis, set a standard which subsequent freshman teams will have difficulty in raising. Playing some of the strongest prep and college teams in the South, they came through the season with a record of six games won, four games lost, and one tied for a season's average of .600.

The freshmen took the road the first thing off the bat and journeyed to Greenville where the Furman Freshies were unable to stop them and the game resulted in a 3-1 victory for the Tech Rats.

The following week saw the team on the plains for a two-game series with the Auburn Freshmen. The first game was a tooth-and-nail fight, resulting in a 3-3 tie. Because of this game a double-header was played the next day, the Tigers taking the first, 4-3. Tech came back in the next game and pasted the ball with such viciousness that at the end of the fifth inning the score stood 13-1 in their favor, evening the series.

From Auburn the team journeyed to Barnesville where they met defeat at the hands of the strong Gordon team. Both sides played air-tight ball until the last inning when Gordon managed to bring in the only run of the game and win by a 1-0 score.

The day after their return, the freshmen took on the G. M. C. cadets at Fort McPherson. The strain of the Gordon game the day before told on the boys and error after error was made. G. M. C. was thus able to pile up a large score in the early part of the game, and the Fresh rally in the last few innings was not sufficient to overcome the big lead, the final score being 11-6. The second game could not be played on account of rain.

The Auburn Rats then came to Grant Field for a return engagement, determined to win the series. The Tech men thwarted their plans, however, and took both games in great style, the first 5-3 and the second, 4-2. This put them two games ahead of Auburn for the series.

The next two and final games of the season were played in Milledgeville against G. M. C. In the first game, "Steady" Thompson reached the peak of a wonderful season of pitching and held the heavy-hitting cadets to two lone hits, while the whole freshman team batted the way to a 12-1 victory. They could not connect with the horsehide the next day and the game went to their opponents 2-0.

While not exceedingly remarkable from a won-lost standpoint, the 1923 Freshman season was yet successful and indeed served its purpose well.

Review of the 1923 Track Season

With the close of school last year the curtain went down on the completion of one of Tech's greatest years in track history. The team won in three of their five meets, placing second and fourth in the other two, respectively. Tech again won the Southeastern Amateur Athletic Union championship, also the Georgia state championship. Sewanee was defeated to the tune of 79-38. In the Intercollegiate Relay Race Carnival, the first event of its kind ever held at Tech, the team placed second, scoring 20 points to Mississippi's 24 1/2 which won. At Montgomery the team placed fourth in the Southern Intercollegiate Meet, Welchel being our only entry to cop a first, several others taking second or third places.

The above records shows that Tech regards track now not as a minor sport, but as a very important sport; and that she has spent much time and pains in turning out a good team. To Coach Griffin goes a large part of the credit for our team. He worked unceasingly to enable the school to show up well in the various meets, and the above record shows that his work was well done. The showing of our team proves that Tech can excel on the cinder path as well as on the gridiron; that she can turn out sprinters and field men as well as linemen and halfbacks.

Probably the most interesting of the meets held on Grant Field during the season was the Intercollegiate Relay Race Carnival. This was the initial trial of a meet of this nature and it was a great success. Ten colleges competed and a large number of high schools. Mississippi A. & M. proved to be Tech's stumbling block, as it has done so much before with its exceptional track stars. Tech placed first in four of the eleven events. Tech beat Vanderbilt, her next nearest opponent in the meet nine points.

The score for the Southern Intercollegiate Conference Meet was: Mississippi A. & M., 47; L. S. U., 40; University of Tennessee, 14; and Tech, 13 1/2.

The results in the Georgia State Track Meet showed an overwhelming victory for Tech, with the score of 71, University of Georgia being 38, Oglethorpe 27, Emory 23 1/2, and Piedmont College 7 1/2.

In the Southeastern Amateur Athletic Union Meet the results were: Tech, 47; Atlanta Athletic Club, 35; University of Georgia, 24, and Tech Freshmen, 16.

Sewanee was easily defeated with a score of 79 to 33. It was in this meet that Homer Welchel, premier javelin hurler of the track squad, shattered the Southern record for the javelin throw with a distance of 193 feet and 3 inches. Due to the fact, however, that Sewanee is not a Conference team this does not go on record.

At the end of this highly successful season letters were awarded to sixteen of the faithful ones who had merited them, and Homer Welchel was unanimously elected captain of the 1924 track team.

The Cross Country Run of 1924

The morning of this most picturesque event dawned clear and fair and the firmness of the turf and the clearness of the day prophesied the splendid race that was to follow. Six hundred hopefuls crowded the starting line and swarmed out of the gate at the boom of the salute gun.

There was the usual wild race to be the first to get out of the gate, but as the race swung over the hills and through the valleys, these aspiring young men soon fell out. It was a wonderful sight to see the men start strong and determined to conquest at any cost, and to return weary and foot-sore but proud that they "had run the race."

The first man to appear through the gate was John Barrett, a long winded sophomore from Arkansas, who led the field by fifty yards. Barrett's time was 18:4 which clipped 11 seconds from the former record, held by Horace Moore. H. P. Barton and Ben Peacock finished second and third. Barrett received the finest of the 132 cakes awarded, a varsity "1", and a gold medal. Barton was awarded a large cake and a silver medal, while Peacock was awarded a bronze medal. The first 132 men finishing received cakes donated by the faculty and the friends of the school.

It was an inspiring sight to see the men come in exhausted but with that do or die spirit. As each group entered the gate there enured a race to see who would be the first of that group to cross the finish line. At the end of 26 minutes the gates were closed and the men were numbered for the selection of cakes.

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity won the Pan-Hellenic cup given to the fraternity with the highest number of points. If this cup is won three consecutive times it becomes the property of the winner. The Phi Delta Theta fraternity won it last year. The freshman class triumphed over the other classes; Swan won in the dormitory group, and Company "G" made the highest score of any of the military companies.

Review of the Tennis Season of 1923

The annual school tournament which was held the last part of May on the courts at Piedmont Park was one of the best in the history of tennis at Tech. From a field of about fifty men the singles narrowed down to E. K. Van Winkle, R. S. McIver, Jr., E. P. Murrah and K. G. Matheson, Jr. In the semi-finals Matheson and Van Winkle were eliminated and McIver and Murrah left to play off the deciding sets. Three hours and a half were required to settle the singles championship but after a most bitterly fought battle McIver came out on top, 4-6, 6-0, 8-6, 4-6, 6-2. With this victory McIver gained the singles championship for the second time having won it in 1922.

In the doubles tournament the finals were played by practically the same men as were the semi-finals of the singles. K. G. Matheson and R. S. McIver defeated Zack Carnes and E. P. Murrah by the score of 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. On a whole the school tournament was a great success and did a great deal toward putting the team in shape for the successful season which was to follow.

The first match play that the team of 1923 attempted was in the Southern or S. I. C. tournament held at East Lake the last Friday and Saturday of May. McIver and Matheson represented Tech in the doubles and Carnes, Matheson, McIver and Murrah in the singles. The doubles team was eliminated early in the race. Carnes stayed in the race through the semi-finals in the singles. N. C. State was the winner of the tournament both in the doubles and singles.

In the Georgia State Tournament held in conjunction with the annual state track meet at Emory, K. G. Matheson and R. S. McIver won the doubles championship without losing a set. This is the second successive year that the Tech team has won the doubles championship in this tournament. In the singles Tech did not fare as well and the victory went to Simpson of Emory.

The tennis team of 1923 took three trips. The first of these to the University of Alabama was highly successful. The team composed of Matheson, Carnes, McIver, and Murrah won every match both in the singles and doubles and lost but one set in the entire tournament.

The second trip attempted by the team was not what might be called a howling success. The foe this time was Camp Benning at Columbus. Tech's colors went down in every match with the exception of one. In this E. P. Murrah defeated Capt. Slatter of the Fort after a hard fight. Murrah is to be congratulated on his victory because this match is the only one that a member of the Fort Benning Team of 1923 lost to a college man.

In a return match in Atlanta the Fort Benning team were again victors and this time they made it unanimous and took every match.

In the third trip of the team, this time to Greenville where a three-sided tournament was to be played with Clemson and Furman, old "Juke" took a hand and wet courts prevented the match from taking place.

Review of the Golf Season of 1923

In the first part of March, 1923, a golf club was formed at Tech. This was not a new movement but it had been several years since we had had a golf team or club. This new organization seems to have opened a much needed field as a large number of men became members. The club had eight honorary members (faculty) besides thirty-three student members.

Captain Frazier Hale, of the military department, who was selected as advisor, and
F. B. Farnsworth were among those most active in the formation of the club.

Immediately upon organization the club decided to sponsor a golf team. Finding that the Athletic Association was ready to back them, the men began practicing on the various courses about Atlanta. Under the coaching and advice of Captain Hale the team was rounded into shape and on April the 28th the team entered on its career by playing the University of Alabama at Montgomery. The men picked for the team were Sonny Krauss, Bip Farnsworth, J. H. Lynn, and Taylor. Farnsworth was elected captain. Although Alabama won with a score of 10 to 7 it was not at all a bad match.

The next match was with eight followers of the Scottish game from Newnan. Tech won, defeating their opponents 33 to 0. The team in this match was made up of Tully Walsh, Willard Davis, Bill Spalding and those who played in the Alabama match. Krauss brought in the best score.

Tech next won a victory from a pack of golf-hounds sent down by the University of Tennessee. Taylor, Krauss, Brannon and Lynn representing the Yellow Jackets played to a score of 15 to 1 in their favor.

On May the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th the First Annual Intercollegiate Association tournament was held. The matches were played at the Cherokee Country Club of Knoxville, Tenn. A team consisting of W. B. Farnsworth, captain, J. H. Lynn, J. B. Brannon, W. W.
Krauss, and Captain Hale, advisor, represented Tech at this match.

In the team trophy Tech showed up well, tying Tennessee for second place. Georgia won first place.

The team scores over the 36-hole qualifying route were:

Georgia—688.
Tech—698.
Tennessee—698.
Alabama—708.
Sewanee—728.
