ATHLETICS
WILLIAM ALEXANDER
Football Coach

Football
Coach Miller came to Tech with the fame of being a member of the renowned "Four Horsemen." He is leaving this year with an almost equal fame as a coach of one of the best backfield combinations seen on any field.

Coach Fincher is well known throughout the country for his power on the football field while at Tech and he is rapidly becoming known as one of the best developers of linemen that any school is able to boast of.

Captain Robinson, while stationed at Tech has taken a deep interest in the football team and his love of the game and natural ability have shown in the wonderful work done by the ends this year.

The two managers have worked four long years without the praise and adulation which serves as an incentive to the players themselves. They have performed tasks which are monotonous and tedious and have aided greatly in making the team comfortable on the trips which is a necessity in a successful football season. They deserve credit for the admirable manner in which they have executed the myriad details connected with the management. Their services have been indispensable.

EXPLANATION OF FOOTBALL SECTION

The thrill of having played in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena is to the football player what the Olympic Stadium is to athletes of other sports. It is a goal toward which all players look, most of them without a thought of ever attaining it. There were sixteen men of Tech to play in the Rose Bowl this year and they have been honored in this section by devoting to each a full page. The other letter men are not a bit less deserving of honor, but by the fortune of the day they did not get in the game. Each one of them was fighting, in spirit and mind, as hard as the men on the field. Each man whose picture appears in the following pages, is a "letter" man, and all that goes with the words.
A LEADER in every line of activity into which he throws himself, "Peter" Pund lead his team as a true sportsman. He was universally acknowledged as the best center on any college gridiron, and not once during the past season was there a mention made of unfair tactics or actions not becoming a real Southern Gentleman. He succeeded admirably in continuing the line of great centers for which Tech has become famous.

RALEIGH DRENNON is a man possessed with a cheerfulness and a fight seldom seen. His consistent work during three years was well deserving of his mention on Rice's All-American and his place on the All-Southern Team.

FRANK WADDEY is naturally gifted with all the requirements of a good end. His aggressiveness, speed and headwork all contributed toward his undisputed success in filling a flank position on the Golden Tornado.

YEARS of familiarity with the game have made Glenn Holland one of the brainiest ends ever to come to Tech. Despite the many injuries which have befallen him, Glenn has come through with brilliant playing and is well deserving of the honors accorded each member of the National Championship team.
Kenneth Matheson Thrash

Kenneth Matheson Thrash
Orlando, Fla.
Tackle
Age 22
Height 5 Feet 10 Inches
Weight 190 Pounds

KENNETH THRASH is a chip from the old block, having for a father an ex-captain of the Golden Tornado. Thrash has come to be known as one of the smartest and hardest hitting linemen on the squad. He will be heard from again in his duties as coach.

Luke Warner Mizell

Luke Warner Mizell
Atlanta, Ga.
Halfback
Age 20

Weight 170 Pounds

MIZELL is a constant threat to any team. His running, passing and punting are all exceptional and consistent. His ability to "get lose" is phenomenal and his energy never seems to give out. Warner was mentioned on several All-American teams and next year should see him even more flashy and dangerous.
Ronald Joseph Durant

Ronald Joseph Durant
New Martinsville, W. Va.
Quarterback
Age 21
Height 5 Feet 9 1/2 Inches
Weight 163 Pounds

DURANT has been a field general in every sense of the word. He sums up quickly the weakness in the opposing team and knows just which player is capable of advancing the ball. He is deadly as a backer and tackler. His place will be hard to fill next year.

Jack Griffin Thomason

Jack Griffin Thomason
Atlanta, Ga.
Halfback
Age 22

Weight 165 Pounds

"STUMPY" is known throughout the country as a little man made of iron. Once loose, he can not be "out-smarted" and is sure to have the stands as a whole on their feet by his spectacular and unexpected plays. The foremost writers and coaches of the country have heaped praises on Stumpy continually and still his head remains unturned.
JOE WESTBROOK has a fighting heart and the power that goes with it. Though not as heavy as many guards, Westbrook has played consistently well and has been a great factor in maintaining the center section of the stone wall so necessary to the success of a great team.

SHULMAN has developed through hard work and the force of brains into a capable substitute for quarterback. He knew how to run the team and had the cooperation of every man. His personality helped materially in building a fine spirit during the whole season.
Earl Owen Dunlap

Earl Owen Dunlap

Weight 178 Pounds

DUNLAP is another triple threat man who is capable of a long run, or a bullet pass. There is not a cleaner nor harder player on the team. It is expected that he will be the man to fill the vacant quarterback position for the next two years and his qualifications are perfectly suited for the job.

Gordon Campbell Watkins

Gordon Campbell Watkins
Atlanta, Ga.
Tackle
Age 20
Height 6 Feet
Weight 199 Pounds

OOT WATKINS couples with his size the advantage of speed. Time and again he is the first down under punts. Any opposing player can vouch for the strength in his long arms and his cleverness on the field.
TOM JONES played his first year on the varsity this season and secured for himself a regular berth. He made the All-Southern and with two years more to play, his prospects are mighty bright.

JIM BROOKE is another Sophomore who has made his mark his first year on the varsity. He is a hard, fast hitter, and is destined to be a power in the lineup of the Yellow Jackets for the next two years.
George Lavance Maree

MAREE has already shown what may be expected of him in years to come. He loves the game, plays with his whole heart and body and it is doubtful whether an ordinary tackle can last a full game with such opposition.

Roy Lumpkin

FATHER LUMPKIN hails from the great open spaces of Texas. His greatest joy in living seems to be to romp through the line of an opposing team and drag at least three men with him. He is a spectacular player and keeps the stands in a continual uproar.
Clyde Simpson Smith
Cartersville, Ga.
Quarterback
Age 21
Height 5 Feet 7 Inches

PARHAM has long been known as one of the foremost punters in the South. He can also run with the ball and pass and his loss will be felt severely next year.

William Harrell Rusk
Atlanta, Ga.
Center
Age 23
Height 6 Feet
Weight 174 Pounds

RUSK will captain the 1929 Golden Tornado and his character speaks that he will have no trouble in securing faithful cooperation from his team-mates. He is a fighting center and is destined to carry on the line of great Tech centers.

EDWARDS is still another Soph to show promise early in his career. He played well every chance that he had, and good work is expected of him in years to come.
The Football Season of 1928

By MORGAN BLAKE
(Sports Editor of Atlanta Journal)

The most glorious football season Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets have ever experienced came to an end on last New Year's day, when the gallant sons of the red clay hills won the national championship by a brilliant victory over the University of California at the famous Rose Bowl in Pasadena, California.

Previous to this battle Tech had won the Southern conference championship by sweeping through a very strong field. In addition the Jackets finally conquered their old foes, the pesky Irishmen of Notre Dame.

It was the second straight conference championship for Coach Alex and his noble band, and the Yellow Jackets were worthy of all the laurels that they won. A great and invincible spirit prevailed on the team. It was this spirit that carried them to victory in the Rose Bowl game, when after having their ranks thinned by influenza followed by a long trip to the coast, and a hard week's practice under a tropical sun, they took the field and conquered a previously undefeated team of great physical power. The score was 8 to 7, Tech having the enemy blanked until the last minute of play when one of those long passes clicked to California. The Jackets had the game in hand all the way.

After getting an eight point lead the aim of course was to prevent California from scoring twice. This strategy was successful.

The Tech-California game will be talked about as long as football exists in this land of the free, due to probably the weirdest plays ever pulled in a major game. It was that reverse run by Roy Riegels, captain-elect and center of the Golden Bears. This play is so well known that it is not necessary to review it here. Riegels made a long run the wrong way towards his own goal and was only halted on the two yard line. A moment later Vance Marre, Tech tackle, blocked a punt by Benny Lom and Tech scored a safety. In the third quarter Tech scored a touchdown on two plays from midfield. Mizell running 15 yards and Thomason carrying the ball over for a touchdown after fifteen yard sprint. California's touchdown came in the closing seconds on a long pass from Lom to Dunlap to Thomason.

The Jackets scored a safety on the first play of the game, when Riegels, captain-elect and center of the Golden Bears, made a long run taking the ball within the enemy's five-yard line. It looked like a rout at this point the Jackets pushed it over to make the assurance of victory doubly sure.

The following Saturday Tech went to Chapel Hill to play North Carolina. In the first half Coach Alex gave his regulars, worn out from the hectic Notre Dame encounter a rest. He sent in to the field a team composed largely of sophomores, and it was in this first half, that Tom Jones, Earl Dunlap, and Father Lumpkin gained eternal fame. Three touchdowns were scored on the Tarheels in the first half. One came on a pass from Dunlap to Jones. Another came when Dunlap passed to Glenn Holland who carried the ball to the seven-yard line, from which point Dunlap scored on the first play, and the third came on Fitz Fitzgerald's long run.

At the end of the half the Jackets seemed little match for the Tarheels, but for three quarters the enemy appeared pretty healthy and dangerous. It was a weird fantastic game, full of both brilliance and bone headedness. At the end of the half it seemed like a rout, a complete rout for the Tarheels. But the second half was different. In this half Coach Alex sent in his older heads, but instead of completing the massacre the Jackets found themselves face to face with an infuriated inspired Tarheel clan. Not only did the Jackets fail to score again but they had their goal line crossed for the first time during the season. It was a brilliant comeback on the part of North Carolina but it was futile as Tech had too big a lead.

The next game was with the plucky Petrels of Oglethorpe. These boys gave the Jackets a big scare in the first half, the teams going to recess in a 7 to 7 tie. But in the next half the Jacket Jugernaut began to rumble and the Petrels were smothered under a 33 to 7 score.

Then came the game with the Vanderbilt. McGugin's men had a great record and a large delegation of fans followed them to Atlanta expecting to see them take the Jackets into camp. It was a desperate battle with homecoming about up to the last few minutes of the first half when Tech pulled that famous quadruple pass Mizell to Thomason to Jones to Mizell. It resulted in a long gain that Stumpy Thomason fumbled, Bull Brown picked up the ball and ran almost the length of the field for a touchdown. Tech, however, came right back and scored the third time. Vanderbilt never threatened through her own offensive.

In the Alabama game on the next Saturday, Tech got a real scare. The Crimson Tide came to town with reports of a long list of cripples. But for three quarters the enemy appeared pretty healthy and dangerous. It was a weird fantastic game, full of both brilliance and bone headedness and mechanical blunders by both teams.

At the end of the third quarter the teams were tied 13 and 13. Then Stumpy Thomason, the little giant broke the tie with one of the most brilliant runs he has ever pulled in which he bowled over five tacklers between him and the goal. The Alabama defense crumbled after this and Tech made two more touchdowns, before the final whistle. Warner Mizell continued his brilliant running and piled up a total of over 200 yards again.

The Auburn game on Thanksgiving day was a rout, the Plainsmen being unable to stop the furious thrusts of the great Tech backfield. The Tigers fell 54 to 0.

The greatest crowd of the local season was, of course, on hand to see Georgia play Tech on Grant Field in the final game of the regular season. The Bulldogs were not given a chance but they set their supporters crazy with joy when they scored the first touchdown of the game on a pass from Hooks to Maffett. Was the dope to be upset at last? Tech had already accepted the Rose Bowl.

Bowl invitation and a defeat would have ruined the season. The Jackets however refused to get excited. They went about their business in their usual cool and effective manner, and scored three touchdowns before the game ended. Georgia did not score again.

Then came the California trip and the National championship.

Not only did Tech have a brilliant and resourceful backfield, but the Jackets had one of the greatest lines the South had seen. Capt. Peter Pund was practically the unanimous choice of every critic for all American center. Warner Mizell was almost as popular a choice for All American halfback and Frank Spear, tackle, won the Associated Press composite selection for All American tackle. Raleigh Drennon received prominent mention. Mizell, Thomason, Spear, Jones, Pund and Drennon made all Southern in their positions, and the only reason that Maree, Waddey, Thrash, Westbrook, Lumpkin and Durant didn't make it was because the critics figured it would look too bad to have everybody on the Tech team on the mythical eleven.

The season's success was a great triumph for Tech's mighty coaching staff headed by Coach William A. Alexander. Don Miller was backfield coach, Bill Fincher, line coach and Capt. Robinson, end coach. Hal Barron, trainer of the team also deserves much credit for the wonderful physical condition of the team all the year.

The 1928 Freshman Football Team

The 1928 Freshman Football Team had at the start of the season all the evidences of a championship team, but the Georgia Freshmen blasted all their hopes in the last game of the season.

The Junior Jacket stars were quite numerous, and from the material much is to be expected in the future Tech teams.

The first-year men started out the season by playing the Monroe A. & M., a strong Prep school organization coached by Red Barron, and they defeated the Aggies by 19-0.

The Auburn Freshmen were the next victims, and they also fell by the same score, 19-0.

The baby Jackets then journeyed down to Macon and there defeated the Mercer Freshmen by the score of 12-0 in a good game.

The last game was the one with the Georgia Freshmen, where the Athens boys gave our Freshmen a terrible lashing by the score of 33-6.

Pat Barron, despite the fact of his ineligibility for some games, showed great promise of upholding his family reputation as a football player. Pifer, Graydon and Farmer were all stars who helped to give the Junior Jackets a fairly good season.

Frosh making their numbers were: Pifer, Lanier, Weatherford, Graydon, Farmer, McKee, Syd Williams, Shag Williams, Ezell, Goldsmith, Pippen, McKinney, Greer, Wagner, Ryalls, Bryant, Hungerford, Moore, Viebic, Adams and Daniels. These men were awarded silver T's for their valiant endeavors. Bryant Shellnutt was Manager of the team.

Fifteen victories out of twenty-one starts, and a total score of 732 points to their opponents' 599, was the record set by the Jacket basketeers for the 1929 season. Two of the six defeats suffered by Tech were by the hands of the Atlanta Athletic Club five, who boast of a bunch of star players who have been playing the game together for a number of years, while another of the set backs was administered by the Penn-Dixie quint who became professionals soon after taking the Jacket's scalp.

Coach Roy Mundorff, basketball coach of the Flats, deserves a great deal of credit for the way he developed a team of practically green material. At the first practice of the season, only two letter-men reported for practice.

The Jackets opened their season during the Christmas holidays by defeating the Y. M. C. A. team in LaGrange by a 33 to 31 verdict. Moving from LaGrange to Citadel, the Gold and White took the Cardinal five of that city to ride 41 to 35 to chalk up the second win of the season. During the trip, the Jackets were successful with five wins out of six attempts, losing only to the Penn-Dixie five in Chattanooga.

Soon after the Christmas vacation was over, Georgia Tech opened its 1929 regular schedule by taking the Clemson Tigers from Clemson College to ride 29 to 24. Florida was next to invade the Flats and the Jackets turned the Gators back in both of the two-game series.

The University of Kentucky proved to be the next victim of the Gold and White onslaught and the lads from the Blue Grass state fell 33 to 19. The next week-end, Coach Roy Mundorff's charges took their first journey of the collegiate season, trekking to Nashville and taking Vandy into camp with a 48 to 28 slaughter. The Atlanta Athletic Club was next on the Jackets' schedule and the more experienced Bean-coached team proved to be too fast for Tech and Tech was forced to trail on the low end of a 45 to 20 score when the final whistle sounded.

Next, Tech met and nosed out their bitter rivals from Athens by a single point. The Red and Black five led the Jackets up to the last few seconds of play, but "RED" Williamson put a beautiful shot through the loops as the whistle sounded, to give Tech the game, 38 to 37.

Vandy invaded the Flats during the next week and were repelled by a 38 to 15 score, while the Auburn Plainsmen faced little better a little later in the week and were sent home nursing a 41 to 25 defeat.

Tech chalked up the ninth straight conference win the next week, by bowling over the strong Crimson Tide from Alabama. The final score gave the Jackets 37 points to 21 for the Red and White quint.

Quite a severe blow was handed Coach Mundorff when Sid Goldin, stellar guard and alternate captain, was forced to quit the squad due to a serious leg injury. After Goldin's retirement, the Jackets fell before Tennessee, 30 to 25; barely won from the Plainsmen in Auburn, 46 to 41; and were crushed by the A. A. C. and Georgia, by scores of 35 to 20 and 27 to 24, respectively.

After Goldin's loss, the Tech five fell from first place to third in Southern Conference standings and entered the tournament as seeded No. 3.

Josh Cody's Clemson lads met Tech in the first round and flattened the Jackets 28 to 24. The Gold and White led at the half by a 20 to 14 count, but were unable to cope with the furious attack of the Tigers in the last frame and left the court nursing a 28 to 24 defeat.

But, taking all in consideration, Tech's basketball season was very successful and Coach Mundorff and his Jacket crew are in line for hearty congratulations.

Review of the Season--1928

The Yellow Jacket nine opened the 1928 season with the Atlanta Crackers as their first opponent. After nearly a month of strenuous practice, with much rainy weather as the greatest obstacle, the Tech Team was whipped into shape, to start the season in which twenty-three collegiate games and one professional game were played. The Jackets waded through the season winning sixteen games out of twenty-three. The entire season was quite successful and very exciting from the start to the last inning of the final game with the Georgia Bulldogs. The entire team was ever alert and fought with everlasting spirit and excellent cooperation throughout the season.

The defeat of the Tech base ballers by the Atlanta Crackers served to urge the team on, and a two-game series with the Clemson Tigers was brilliantly smacked by the Jackets. It was in one of three games that the excellent arm of Dick Florrid was first displayed. The Jackets invited the Oglethorpe warriors to a two-game duel and successfully scalped their Atlanta rivals. The Tech squad was looking mighty good at this time of the season and great hopes for many conference victories were launched by all. Maryland University marched into Clay Field and biffed the Yellow Jackets into their second defeat of the season. One game with Mercer University followed, in which the Yellow Jackets again bit the dust. A couple of defeats, however, have never discouraged a Tech ball team, nor did they take the fighting spirit out of the boys from the Flats. Brilliant playing by the Tech boys netted them two out of a three-game series with the Auburn Bears. Captain McCash cracked the apple for his first home run of the season, scoring Mizell from second base.

A three-game series with Alabama netted the Jackets but one victory. Excellent hurling was, however, displayed by both Florrid and Carney. The strength of the Tech pitching staff kept increasing from the start of the season. The two-game series with Tennessee undoubtedly netted the spectators more thrills than any of the other contests. Both games were captured by the Yellow Jackets. One of the games was turned into a victory after defeat was almost apparent. In the last half of the ninth inning with Tennessee leading by one run, Bob Parham came to bat. There were already two outs and the count was three and two on Parham, but as the next ball came over the plate the famous Tech batsman drove the ball into the horizon for a home run, scoring Waddey from second base, thus ending the game, another victory for Tech.

The two-game series with Vanderbilt University netted the Tech nine two more victories to chalk up for the season. Like a thunderstorm, the boys from the University of South Carolina entered Clay Field with determination to defeat the Jackets, but they did not live up to their expectations. Tech won both games by a very close margin. Florrid captured one of the games and Carney the other. Carney displayed exceptional hurling against the Gamecocks, allowing them only one scratch hit during the entire game. This hit came in the ninth inning and had it been fielded at a bit faster Carney would have been credited with a no-hit game. During the entire game only twenty-nine batters faced the rugged hurler from Bradenton. Carney struck out nine men and had excellent cooperation of the team.

The defeat of the Tech baseballers by the Atlanta Crackers served to

The one game of the series was captured by Tech and the season was successfully closed.

NOTES

Coach Robert Alva “Kid” Clay, known in the South as “Little Napoleon,” performed his duty as coach with the utmost care. His excellent and well-known ability enabled him to develop a baseball team that will not be forgotten so soon. With his usual shrewdness the “Kid” watched the progress of his team throughout the season, carefully directing every move of the players.

The Tech team was favored with several good sluggers, among whom were Parham, McCash and Waddey. Several two-base and three-base hits made the games very interesting. Nine home runs for the season was the record. As a whole the Jackets were a hitting squad with no little ability.

As Tech closed the season of 1928 with Georgia, Captain Arthur McCash bid his fellow players adieu. Jimmy Stevens, star catcher for the season, was elected captain of the 1929 team, with Frank Waddey, the rapid center fielder, as alternate captain.

The Tech veterans split the four-game series with Georgia, their ancient rivals. One of the games was called an account of rain, but the battle was renewed the following day. In one of the games the team from the Flats scored fifteen runs in the first inning, thus badly defeating the Bulldogs. The final game of the series was captured by Tech and the season was successfully closed.

NOTES

Coach Robert Alva “Kid” Clay, known in the South as “Little Napoleon,” performed his duty as coach with the utmost care. His excellent and well-known ability enabled him to develop a baseball team that will not be forgotten so soon. With his usual shrewdness the “Kid” watched the progress of his team throughout the season, carefully directing every move of the players.

The Tech team was favored with several good sluggers, among whom were Parham, McCash and Waddey. Several two-base and three-base hits made the games very interesting. Nine home runs for the season was the record. As a whole the Jackets were a hitting squad with no little ability.

1928 Cross Country

The 1928 Cross-Country Team returned most of the members of the 1927 season. However, the loss of Captain Tom Wright of the 1927 squad was keenly felt throughout the meets.

The first meet was run on November 3rd against the University of Georgia. Tech won the meet by the score 24-31. John Young, of Georgia, was first, and Roy Brewer, Tech's Captain, was a close second. Young's time was twenty-six minutes and thirty seconds for the five miles.

On November 16th the Auburn team defeated Tech's team by the score 22-33. Captain Brewer won first place in this race with a time of twenty-eight minutes, ten and three-fifths seconds for the five mile course.

In the Southern Conference Cross Country Race held in Atlanta on November 24th, the North Carolina team ran away with the meet. John Young, of Georgia, coming first; Penn of V. P. I. second; Barclay of North Carolina third, and Brewer of Tech fourth. Tech finished fifth in this meet. Members of the team were: Brewer, Crisfield, Summerour, Owen, Morgan, Coker, Bryan and Furlow.

Edward Barton Hamm, of Loanoke, Arkansas, broke the record that was said to be unbreakable. In the National Championships of the year before the Olympic trials, Ed learned how easily a few feet could be chopped off one's record.

From that day, a whole year in advance of the Olympics, Ed began to train for the final try-outs. While others were waiting to be called out for track, Ed was working on fundamentals and getting his heart, lungs, and muscles in shape for great efforts. He was advised, more than coached by Hal Barron, a former Olympic place winner himself.

The problem of the coach was to place Ed at the final try-outs in shape as far physically and mentally as possible. Advice as to physical condition consisted mostly of warnings about how and when to "let out" without fear of pulling a tendon. The mental condition was building up confidence of his ability to make the team and thereby overcome the mental hazard—"A trip to Europe if I make it". This has caused the defeat of so many athletes in the Olympic try-outs. For Ed, the try-outs were just another meet. The runway was so perfect, he was in such good shape after months of training, that it was inevitable that he ran and left the take-off board and landed twenty-five feet, eleven and one-eighth inches away from where he started. Because of his thorough training and application Ed will place the record over twenty-six feet before he hangs up his shoes.
The 1928 Track team of Georgia Tech had a gala year. Captain Ed Hamm's performance with the broad jump and the dashes were by far the outstanding features of the season. Kontz, Beall, Brewer, Wright and Crisfield ran some good races, while Papa Hood tossed the shot for a consistent place in conference dual meets, Southern Relays, and Southern Conference Meet. As a whole, the Gold and White team was one of the best and most successful that Georgia Tech has ever had.

The Gold and White track schedule records follow:

In the Southern Relays Ed Hamm won first in the broad jump and third in the 100-yard dash. Papa Hood was third in the shot-put; Duren third in the High Hurdles and Nash tied for first in the Pole Vault.

In the North Carolina dual meet held at Chapel Hill, Tech was defeated by the score of 72 1-2 to 53 1-2. Ed Hamm was absent during this meet as he was attending the University of Pennsylvania Relays where he won the first place in the broad jump.

In the University of Georgia dual meet, Tech defeated their ancient rivals by the decisive score of 80 to 46.

At the State Meet held at Emory University, Georgia Tech ran away with almost every event, winning the State Championship with 97 points. Emory, their nearest competitor, placed second with 40 points while Oglethorpe University took third place with 10 points.

In the dual meet with Auburn, Tech defeated the Plainsmen by the score 67 to 59. This marked the first time that an Auburn Track Team had been defeated in six years.

At the Southern Conference Meet held at Birmingham, Alabama, L. S. U. won the conference title with 43 1-4 points. Georgia Tech took second place with a score of 34 1-4. Auburn, third, with 33 3-4. North Carolina fourth with 30 3-4. V. P. I., Georgia University and Mississippi A. & M. tied for fifth place with ten points.

In the S. E. A. U. track and field meet, Georgia Tech won the event with a score of 29 points. Georgia University was a close second with 27 points.

At the Chicago National Inter-Collegiate Track Meet, Captain Ed Hamm won first place in the broad jump and Ernest Kontz, who running from an outside position in the 440-yard dash, was able to place in sixth place with a record time of 48 4-5 seconds.

In the Olympic try-outs at Boston, Ed Hammon the broad jump made a World's record of 25 feet, 11 1-8 inches. In the Olympics held in Amsterdam, Hamm won the broad jump with a jump of 25 feet 4 3-4 inches.
1929 Track

CRISFIELD: Al is regarded as the easiest runner in the conference. And while he isn’t as flashy as some of his predecessors and doesn’t make much fuss about his work, he can be depended upon for a consistently good performance in two mile run and the mile. Al is the 1929 Cross-Country Team captain. He gives his address as Savannah, Georgia.

BREWER: A versatile young man is Mr. Brewer, who hails from East Point, Georgia. Coach Barron feels that in Roy he has one of the best distance men in the conference. Brewer first leaped into fame in Fresh Cross-Country race when he came out from nowhere to take second place in this annual event. One of the best runners the Varsity squad has. He runs the mile, two miles and if needed, the half-mile.

ANASTASAS: As a freshman, Hank Anastasas caught the eye of Coach Barron, who saw in him a varsity prospect. Blessed with good middle-distance runners, the Tech Coach didn’t hurry him as a sophomore, being content to spring him at a time when his team was in need of strengthening. Hank has been running the half-mile, in record time and this season he should be the best in this event. Hank’s home is in Sour Lake, Texas.

RANOLPH: Bob, a product of Atlanta, fits in mighty well among the many varsity luminaries. This young gentleman hurled the javelin and according to all available dope he puts the weapon, if it might be called that, down the far field around the 180 or 185 yard line. He is a hard worker and a good bet to bring in a couple of points in any meet.

MARTIN: “Firpo” is a weight man. He heaves the shot and heaves it far and wide. He is a husky, well-built lad. A real threat in conference circles. His home is in Sheffield, Alabama.

SUMMEROUR: Suffering from a heavy scholastic schedule, Summerour has had a hard time getting out for practice. He is one of the best cross-country men and a very good miler and two-miler. Marietta, Georgia is his home.

SWAIN: He placed in the Southern Conference Meet last year in the high jump and the pole vault. His chances this year are better than last season provided he keeps himself scholastically eligible. He is from Calhoun, Georgia.

STEWART: Stucy, a pole-vaulter and high jumper of note, has been one of the outstanding cinder stars of Georgia Tech and the Conference. He is equally proficient at throwing the javelin. Great things are expected of Stewart before the coming season draws to a close. He hails from Adairsville, Georgia.

WITNER: He has great natural ability but lacks experience. With one more year in the varsity squad he is bound to click as one of the fastest sprinters in the conference. He hails from Boonsboro, Md.

GARDENHIRE: A very good sprinter but doesn’t come out enough to be much of a contender. His home is in Chattanooga, Tenn.

HICKS: A very good sprinter but doesn’t come out enough to be much of a contender. He is from Calhoun.

DUREN: “Dreamy” is a point man in the high and low hurdles. He is also entered in the broad jump. A mighty nice competitor. He is an Atlanta boy.

BOYD: Jimmy had a good year last season but injuries have played havoc with his track career this year. He is a high and low hurdler and also an entrée in the broad jump. A pulled tendon has laid him off but it is hoped that he will be able to compete in the dual meets of the year. Boyd’s home is in Philadelphia.

FAISST: A sprinter of high calibre and a place man. ’Nough said! He is an Atlanta boy.

BEALL: For three years “Frog” has upheld the track prestige of Georgia Tech on the cinder path. He is a mighty consistent half-miler and despite severe competition he has been a regular ever since he became eligible for the Varsity. Much is expected of Frog this season in the half-mile event and probably the quarter. He hails from Memphis, Tenn.
The Freshman Cross-Country Team held two meets and were successful in both of them. The first on November 9th when they defeated the team from Tech High School over a three mile course by the score 24-30.

On November 22nd they again met Tech High Team and defeated them 22-33 over a two and one-quarter mile course. Members of the Freshmen Team winning numerals were: Lanier, Kennedy, Fagan, Terry, Smoot and Seasholtz.
1928 Tennis

The Tech Tennis Team of 1928 battled down all opposition in dual meets and their doubles team went to the Semi-Finals in the Southern Intercollegiate meet.

The Team was composed of Captain "PeeWee" Merry; George Lewis, Captain for 1929; Burr Cabiness; Red Williamson; and Sydney Goldin.

1928 Golf

The spring season of 1928 was an exceptionally successful one for Tech's Golf team. Captained by the well known Watts Gunn, and rounded out by Shag Irwin, Charlie Brumby and Joe High Williams, the team lost only one dual meet and that to Yale at New Haven. Shag Irwin was selected to captain the 1929 team.

1929 Swimming Team

Tech's Swimming Team for this year lived up to the reputation it has had for the past several years by winning the Southern Conference Championship, and also the State Championship.

Early in the season the Team took the Northern trip and found the competition up there too strenuous to meet. They fell before Princeton in a dual meet and came third in a triangular meet with the Navy and University of Pittsburgh.

Three dual meets followed and Tech won all of these, and then finished the season by winning the State meet.

Captain McKinstry and Ex-captain Holleman, by setting quite a few records, established themselves as the stars of the season. Simpkins, Haggerty, Shackleford, Maier, Harris, Cooper and House helped to uphold the name and reputation of Tech as the best swimmers in the South.

The results of the meets were:

The R. O. T. C. and the Naval R. O. T. C. at Tech each year sponsor athletic contests between the different branches of the service and between the units of these branches.

A regular football schedule is arranged, uniforms are loaned by the Athletic Association and the use of Grant Field is permitted. Players showing up exceptionally well in Battalion athletics are invited to come out for the Varsity teams. Many good players have been "discovered" by this means. The Infantry won the R. O. T. C. football championship this year, after several very close games.

A similar schedule is arranged for basket-ball and much interest and rivalry is displayed. Below is shown a picture of the Coast Artillery basket-ball team, which won the championship of the military units in that sport.

An R. O. T. C. track meet is an annual event. Fast time is recorded in the running events and the field events attract considerable interest. The infantry carried away high honors in the track meet this year.
