Stately Spanish galleon coming from the Isthmus,
Dipping through the Tropics by the palm green shores,
With a cargo of diamonds,
Emeralds, amethysts,
Topazes, and cinnamon, and gold moidores.

Cargoes, MALEFIELD.

The Blue Print, in presenting its panorama of activities, hopes that when its pages have yellowed that it will present many happy memories of your days at Doctor Brittain's Institution.

We open with Tech's rendezvous to California to brave the Bears—Warriors of 1917 and a glimpse of Home-coming.

In the circles we have—A bit of the wild and woolly West, Mike Chambers with the ten-gallon on, Tom Cain with the subdued shirt, Casey Jones with the tooth paste smile. Ben Cherry yawns, Casey looks serious and Jerry Goldsmith enjoys a sun bath. Choctaw or sunjin, with Injun Cain as model, Shorty Roberts being held up by two California babes, proving they are the same practically everywhere. Quint Adams and we will have to say Madame X for lack of information.

In the squares we have—a group of Tech's sponsors. Barron and James enjoying a snow bath. How the $1.65's welcomed their old grads at Home-coming. The Tornado of 1917, reunited at Home-coming, taking a few last minute instructions from their coach, Johnnie Heisman.
Sailing—sailing over the bounding main—all hands on deck—thar she blows—bring memories of the pleasant days spent this summer by the Navy on board one of Uncle Sam's destroyers.

In the squares—Fred Storey and Frank Whitley, a couple of future admirals; well, anyway, they are admired by the local beauties. One of the bulwarks of Uncle Sam's fighting fleet, the U. S. S. Arkansas. Nothing to do but bask in the sun while the destroyer forges ahead. A group of gobs forgo the tasks of the day long enough to have their beauty struck.

In the circles—Fred Storey and Frank Whitley, a couple of future admirals; well, anyway, they are admired by the local beauties. One of the bulwarks of Uncle Sam's fighting fleet, the U. S. S. Arkansas. Nothing to do but bask in the sun while the destroyer forges ahead. A group of gobs forgo the tasks of the day long enough to have their beauty struck.

What pleasant scenes—pleasant memories—long hikes—sweaty odors—aching feet—blistered bodies—but after all camp is a lot of fun—that is, after the camp is over.

In the circles we have—Pensacola and a machine gun crew taking a few pot shots at balloons. McClelland gunning for bear or samples, anyway gunning. Senior President and Buddy Pratt enjoying the white sands of Pensacola. And sometimes the heavy guns are pulled by tractors and other times by horses. Pat Stevens having a hot squat on a recently fired ten-inch gun.

In the squares we see—The crack squad Pensacola—and this isn't a wise crack; the picture is just informal; water is in the canteen. Just a bunch of the boys at McClelland taking time out for a snap. Waiting for their chance to be marksmen or what have you, and is it hot—on the range, and was it hot?—another inferno with an absence of Dante.
The scene shifts to bits of college life on and off the campus, Florida, the C. E. camp, a runner, and back to the old skule.

In the squares we have—The Tech Band in St. Augustine enjoying a bit of sunshine after the Tech-Florida football game. The Chemistry Building, where many have been weighed and found wanting. The Florida Band struts its stuff between halves, the palms will give you the place. Burton and his assistant in front of Black Beauty, another of those fiery and untamed steeds.

In the circles we have—Ray Miller fresh as a daisy after running a flock of miles. Gene Johnson and Frank (Loosy) Hulse during a rest period on Mr. Black's camp for C. E.'s Ray James being a big shot on the campus. Black, Johnson and Hulse looking industrious. A bunch of the boys that are practicing for the bread line, graduation in the back of their minds.

In the circles we have—A complete horse in a circle—with Rip Black, one of our best beloved professors, as butt of this joke. The Frosh put the flag up and the fresmen have to take it down. Rockefeller and Amos and Andy with the Fresh Air Taxi—as the Phi Gamms won the old car contest. Breffielh gunning for something or other merry—with a bit of Hawaii as a theme. A fitting close desert for last as it were, Miss Brewer, the A. E. Librarian.

In the squares we show—Jimmy Morgan and Clarence Hale at the desk as Freshmen dissent and Seniors gasp, the cuts petition being the reason. Three secretaries get together for a chat. The efficient librarians get together to smile their prettiest for the photographer. A student burning the midnight oil, with plenty of light on the subject; in fact so much that his face is not recognizable—a good one to claim as yourself when showing the book to your folks.
And now we have a page of prominent visitors—some old Tech friends and alumni—and a typical example of present Tech students.

In the squares we have—
There is something magic in the kickoff of the opening football game; Captains Miller of Clemson and Neblett of Tech shake hands before the fray. Dr. Shephardson, Dean Skiles' Dean, and a bunch of the boys on his visit here. Japan's beau gestes to America. The Class of '32 fills a long felt need with a bulletin board as a lasting memorial. In the circle—The Governor of Java at one of the football games. The campus sheiks, DeGolian and Butler. Dr. Brittain, who is loved by young gentlemen at Tech. Peter Pond, captain of the Row Bowl team, with his wife. A couple of old-timers compare it with the good old days.

We shift our panorama to campus initiations of some of the honor societies between the halves of the football game, Armistic Day, and the beginning of the cake race.

In the circles we find—The Scabbard and Blade initiates' band getting in tune (?) for the oncoming festivities (?). Preparatory to the firing off the cannon at Five Points, an old Scabbard and Blade custom. Half shot with muskets of 1492 ancestry. A couple of Skull and Keys just before being dusted off.

In the squares we see—Tech's tribute to the men who fought for America in the World War, Armistic Day was the date. A crack squad of Scabbard and Blade members being conducted through the outer mysteries. What price harmony? as the savage growls of the newly elected Kappa Kappa Psi members greet the car. Uncle Sam and the three political parties presented during the halves of one of the football games.
