The fine business firms which you see represented in this section in our yearbook have aided very materially in the publication of this beautiful record of the treasured memories of days at old Georgia Tech. Such merchants are not only patrons of the school, but friends of the students as well. Georgia Tech loyalty will prompt the student to manifest its appreciation by its patronage.

The Staff.
The staff has taken the liberty of going back to an age-old custom of the days gone by and running a replica of the "Yellow Journal," brought up to date as much as possible. We know you will like the cartoons drawn by George Stewart, '41, but feel that we should put in a word of warning about the jokes. These quips and quibblings were taken from each and every old BLUE PRINT since the gay nineties in the effort to show the type of humor to which the old boys were accustomed.

This thirty-third edition of the BLUE PRINT again urges your support to the advertisers herein who not only offer outstanding goods and services, but have shown themselves to be interested in Tech and Tech students.
In Appreciation...

In behalf of the Georgia School of Technology, we, the students, want to thank the following firms for their wholehearted cooperation in making the cooperative department of Tech such a success by employing students at the various plants. We want all these companies to know our appreciation of their service, and hope that it will continue through the ages.

ATLANTA BILTMORE
STUDENT COUNCIL GOES HAYWIRE

Senior Brawl Predicted to Be Big Flop

COMMITTEE CONFESES

The Final Dances scheduled for Commencement this year is destined to be one of the biggest flops of the year declares Inter-Fraternity Council Committee.

One of the lousiest bands that has ever played at Tech will try to furnish the music, Tab Kendry and his North Africans, and the committee confesses that they will probably be non de plume and a victrola will be substituted.

Anes Whoij, a big shot of the council, announced in an interview that this dance was to come after other dances, and the dancers by that time will not realize that the substitution has been made.

Call it graft if you want to, he continued, but look at the salary that Amos and Andy receive for a little work, and then reconsider. What this country needs is a better five-cent cigar, was his closing remarks.

The committee on Horizontal standing for the dances reports that they are preparing to handle more crowds than ever before.

The Decoration Committee as heretofore will forego with this crap with the exception of working hard on a report so that they might be thought of in the expense sheet for the dances.

Molls from as far north as Decatur, if that is North, and even from Gainesville, Ga., it is rumored will attend the brawl.

Howie Ector has opened studios in preparation for the brawl and teaches plain and fancy wrestling as it should be on the Brawlroom floor. The recent kidnapping was the motive for the opening of the Studio.

The ratio of Male to Female this year it is reported will be 125.3245 to 1.000000000002. Which is much better than it has been heretofore; however this is a very rough estimate. The Council recommends that as many as possible refrain from coming to give the ones that are fishing room to fish.
The Georgia School of Technology offers to young men of ability and ambition a training which will fit them for positions of responsibility and power. The national reputation of this institution is based not on claims, but on results. Its greatest asset is the record which its alumni are making in the productive work of the world. Georgia Tech graduates succeed because they have been trained both to think scientifically and to work efficiently.

JABBO THE BLOOD THREATENS
GANG WAR TO SAVE MOLL

Campus Celebrity Stoops to Enlisting Help
Of Y Leaders

She was me moll and they didn't do right by Nell, was the statement of Jabbo Smerrill in connection with the recent Digamma Brawl.

The result being that he dashed over to the Kappa Alpha house and slew his rival, Jonathan Gilmore, in Cold Blood.

When told he was a bad boy and that he shouldn't go about shooting people he answered that he didn't know that the gun was loaded.

With Maxie and Nahas as lawyers Jabbo was acquitted today on the Charges of Insanity.

STUDENT ACQUITTED

John Smith of the Digamma House was today acquitted by the Fulton County Grand Jury on the Charges of Murdering his fraternity Brother.

Witnesses testified to the fact that the deceased had used the Fraternity Phone One hour and a half just before the Murder.

LOVELORN ADVICE

By Countess MacKski MacDonalavitch

Dear Mackski: I am going with a young soda
Jerker that I love dearly and with a rich old Millionaire whom I despise in spite of his money.
Please advise me. Signed, Perplexed.

A.—Marry the Soda Jerker and send address of old Millionaire to the Countess Please.

Dear Countess: I Date two Betas regularly, and neither knows that the other is going with me. Would you call that leading a double life?

Dot.

A.—No, go with two more and the equivalent will be a single life.

Lo, Vitch: I have a date every nite in the week and men are spending lavishly on me. Would you call me a flirt?

A.—No—The word is genius.

Dear Countess: I am a college freshman, and my SYT simply loves orchids, they are so rare.
I can't afford them; what shall I do?

A.—Orchids are scarcer than SYT's.

Mac, Old Pal: I am Professor at Tech and love my dear wife with all my heart—but the Coeds at Nite school just try to make me pay attention to them. What shall I do?

A.—The English Professor Lies.

ADVICE TO INCOMING FRESHMEN

Any college's most valuable asset is its freshmen. Even freshmen aren't modest to admit this.
Therefore, the BLUE PRINT wishes to extend to the freshmen a most cordial welcome and give some rules which will lead to your becoming a model Tech freshman.

This comes before our esteemed college paper,
The Technique, reprints its stereotyped welcome next fall.

Heed our advice, freshmen.

1. Before leaving home send a telegram to the president, telling him when you will arrive. He will then be at the station to meet you. For conservation, you might tell him who you are and what a good boy you are.

2. Go to Billy Goat Fields who will assist you in every way possible.

3. Find out who the best all-round fellow on the campus is. We could tell you this ourselves but modesty prevents.

4. Having found out his name write him a personal note informing him of your arrival and proposing to room with him providing, of course,

5. Stick to rule book as closely as your Sunday school teacher told you to stick to your Bible. It is the schedule by which college affairs are regulated and you can rely upon the absolute authenticity of all its statements. Don't have anything to do with the Y. M. C. A. secretaries for the first few days.

DERE MA

Dear Ma:

What a liar the Old Man must have been when he told me about his days at Tech. The beautiful campus that he painted is paved city streets lined with boarding houses. The stately administration building is as far from the Cathedral of learning as the Podunk Post Office from the National Capitol. And from rumors, what hell raisers they must have been. The campus reeks with the history of the class of '11 of which Dad was the illustrious President. They tell me that the biggest drinker back in those days got the Presidency, and the old man, according to his reputation with the older profs, used to go on a sober; however, these were not so often.

I can assure you now that things are different at Tech. Coca-Cola and chocolate milk are the strongest things that they drink. The studies are so hard that it is very rare that we ever see a Female.

Things are plenty expensive here, a cap costs more than they ever have before, clothing has doubled in price, in fact, everything is sky high. You know things are different in large cities than they are in Podunk. Then we ordered a lot of things from Sears Roebuck there. They are so far from here that the postage would make it impractical to order them here.

You can rest assured that I took the advice in your last letter. To be sure I go to bed at ten every night and I don't touch the foul stuff. The way the other boys drink is disgusting. What was Dad referring to in his last letter when he said not to drink any corn? I always eat it and you know that. What does he mean if I can't quite understand.

I had a long talk with the Dean and he complimented me very highly on the work that I am doing here for he says that I am doing so good that I should stay over for summer school rather than to interrupt my studies by taking a vacation.

About my studies, you asked what E was for; that is excellent, the B that I got was bad, but the professor tells me that it will be an E next time.

Don't forget the check, and don't try to buy the things at the store because I have gained weight and I am sure that you could not get things to fit me.

Your son,

PERCERVIL.

You can always tell a Senior,
For he's so sedately gown'd.
You can always tell a Freshman
By the way he struts around.
You can always tell a Junior
By his scurried looks and such.
You can always tell a Sophomore,
But you cannot tell him much.

TO RAMBLIN' WRECK

In the heart of every loyal man
Who hails from Georgia Tech,
There's a song that stands supreme o'er all—
It's good old Ramblin' Wreck!

We honor the Star Spangled Banner,
And the strains of Dixie too,
But our old war-song by the Ramblin' Band
Drives us crazy thru and thru.

There are songs that make us happy,
While others make us sad,
But when the band says: "Ramble, Fellows!"
We all go simply mad.

We love this song any time,
But we like it best by Heck!
When the Georgian band plays Glory
And is drowned by Ramblin' Wreck!

FLUE GAS

It must be nice to be a Prof,
His name's upon a door;
And starts his work at nine o'clock
And quits at three or four.
He flings his zips around all day,
Which isn't hard to do,
And if he's feeling out of sorts
He shoots a quiz or two.

It must be nice to be a Prof,
His life must be a cinch;
He answers all your questions
And evades them in a pinch.
It must be nice to be a Prof,
And reach a ripe old age.
But I'd rather be a truckman
And earn a living wage.

"Did you have any difficulty getting the connection?"
"No, the operator was a Scott girl, and she gave me the line immediately."

ATLANTA
THE MARK THAT IDENTIFIES THE SOUTH'S FINEST YEARBOOKS

113-119 LUCKIE STREET * ATLANTA GEORGIA
This is a lousy book, but—
It is the best we could do. We apologize for the lack of certain pictures which would have added greatly to the interest of the book. We are deeply grieved to find out names that have been misspelled, pictures that have been omitted. We regret that glaring grammatical inaccuracies are present in almost every word of our copy. Our knowledge of poetry is far too small to enable us to quote a catchy line from Keats or Byron alongside the picture of each senior. That would have been nice, though. Wouldn't it?

We would like to thank those who have helped us put out "this yearbook," and would like to give special commendation for their untiring work to: Mr. Charley Young of Foote & Davies; Mr. Walt Dargan and Miss Morgan of Photo Process; Vincent Neisius for his ace photographic work; Miss Louise Connell for her excellent ideas; and all other members of both business and editorial staffs of the publication. Also due credit goes to our advisor, Dr. Phil Narmore, for his help and guidance all throughout the year.

We have no senior class will, no class prophecy. We name no senior as the most likely to succeed. We make no prognostications as to who will be betrothed to whom. We do not publish nominations for the best dressed, worst dressed, or most disliked student. In short, we have fallen far short of typical yearbook standards.

We fervently hope that none of our subscribers will fall into the ways of sin because we failed to provide a sermon now and then, as is done in most college annuals. We apologize for the lack of the farewell note to the seniors that almost invariably occupies the last page of an annual. In short, we are sorry that we have not given you an annual that is like other annuals.

Maybe you will want to see a bigger and better Blue Print again next year, or maybe you will enroll at Georgia and subscribe to the Pandora, or ?#%?*

Well—good luck and good-bye.

The Staff.

The Blue Print

After you've finished dear ole Tech
And you are working out in life,
There'll be times you are up against it
In this never ending strife.

When you get so damn disgusted
You don't know what to do,
Just get out your old corn cob pipe
And this time worn Print of Blue.

Put your feet upon the mantel
Put a "no-home" on your door,
Then you'll soon be back in college
With classmates in days of yore.

Ah! won't it be great,
Just to root again for Tech,
And the "good ole" girls you danced with
To the tune of Rambling Reck?

And when the time comes for quitting
You'll close it with a sigh.
Woudn't it be great to live again
Those college days gone by?
