In response to Thoreau's own civil disobedience, Emerson visited Thoreau, who was jailed for refusal to pay an unjust tax, and asked, "Henry, what are you doing in there?" Thoreau replied, "Waldo, the question is what are you doing out there?"
A HISTORY OF THE MAD HOUSERS
Twenty Years Dedicated to Providing
Shelter And Protection for the Homeless