Math Convention Held Last Week Very Successful

150 Mathematicians Present At Meeting

On Friday and Saturday, April 1 and 2, the Southeastern Section of the Mathematical Association of America held its annual meeting on our campus. This is the third time in the history of the association that Tech has been the host. Approximately 150 of the foremost mathematicians in the Southeast were present. Among these were 14 from Alabama, 61 from Georgia, 7 from N. C, 18 from S. C, 16 from Tennessee and 9 from Florida.

The sessions were opened by Dean Wilks who welcomed the entire assembly to Georgia Tech. Following this paper on many phases of research in mathematics were presented. Among the speakers were the following from our own Department of Mathematics: Dr. R. H. Ballou, "Non-Vanishing Laphace Integrals"; Dr. W. E. Severi, "Some Inequalities Concerned with Exponential Functions"; Dr. M. F. Smith, "High School Requirements in Mathematics"; Dr. F. R. Stuei, "Partial Fraction Expansions"; Dr. D. L. Whiles, "Rings in Many Valued Logics." Dean Floyd Field presided at the annual banquet which this year was held jointly with the Georgia Academy of Science. Professor J. E. Daniel, President of the Academy, extended a welcome to Georgia in behalf of that body. The guest speaker was Dr. George M. Kummer of Johns Hopkins University who gave an address on "The Value of the Rule of Artistic and Algebra."

Due to Easter Vacation there will be no Technique next week.

An Appeal for Free Thought

I AM AFRAID that the gentleman of last week's column was just a shade on the optimistic side when he concluded that he was expressing the opinion of the majority of students at Tech. The article has aroused a storm of comment over the campus and although I am rather in agreement with the sentiments voiced, I am writing this with an eye to the welfare of the minds of our students.

I feel that every student at Tech, even the Freshman, has reached the age where he can think things out for himself and I don't believe that many of the students want to be told they are right or wrong regardless of the policy involved. Every man on the campus has a right to his own thoughts and it is in a position to formulate his own opinions and I, for one, would hate to see anyone attempt to deprive him of this right, whether his thoughts may be leftist or conservative.

Students and Educators Applaud Animated Paper

"...one-third of a nation...", a documented and dramatic attack upon the housing problem produced as its fifth Living Newspaper by the WPA Federal Project in New York City, is being acclaimed by students and teachers as a powerful new educational form.

For decades sociologists have been warning America of the evil effects of bad housing upon the millions who inhabit the slums of town and country. The slum has been called the pest-house in which a thousand denials are incubated to spread throughout the national life. Slum-dwellers themselves know the conditions of their home-life, but few of them have known the history of slums, their causes and home-life, but few of them have known the history of slums, their causes and teachers as a powerful new educational form.

Nor have the more fortunate known this. In... one-third of a nation..." the Federal Theatre cuts through the darkness of ignorance with a glaring spotlight and brings into sharp focus the plight of sixty million Americans forced to live in dwellings below the minimum standards of decency.

Reported of great value by the metropolitan critics and the school and college press, "...one-third of a nation..." has been seen by more than 10,000 New York students in the first month of its run at the Adelphi Theatre. High school teachers have taken entire classes to see the production, and student organizations have bought out the whole house for theatre parties.

From outside New York, schools such as Smith and Mount Holyoke are sending large groups of students on special field trips to see "...one-third of a nation..."

The Brenau Choral Club, an ensemble of sixty voices, will present a concert in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Miss. Regina Vicarino, of the Brenau College faculty, is director of the club. The program will open with a group of four evening songs and will close with Paul Bliss' cantata "Three Springs."

Featured in the evening's performance will be vocal numbers by Mary Virginia McBrien, Ashalah Hough, Lalah Mosley, Ma Nita Bowden, Vera Edwards, Mimi Guyer, Frances Shafter, and Helen Dean, and piano numbers by Leila Williams and Martha Thigpen. Margaret Morehead is the club's accompanist.

Interfrat Softball Season Began Mon.

Last Monday afternoon the official Interfraternity Softball League swung into action for this season with the SAE's playing the Phi Kappa Tau's and the Phi Delta Theta's opposing the Pi Kappa Phi's.

The game between the SAE's and the Phi Kappa's was fast and very evenly matched. The SAE's took the lead in the second inning with a score of 2-2.

One Phi Delta and Pi Kappa Phi game was a slug-fest, the final score being 15-2 for the Phi Delta.

student at Tech lives on Grant field? Well, sir, he must, because I have never been down to the track, when "Chickadee" Aldredge was not running 'round and 'round and 'round, etc. He took a little workout Sunday afternoon (only a couple of hours).

... Is it true what they say about Dix— I mean, Joe Bartlett? We wonder if there is anything to the rumor that he will be switched back to an end position next year. ???

... Tom Jones has been showing fine form in the dashes. He appears to be in for a good season. Good luck, Tom.

... Perrin Walker has been burning up the tracks during recent indoor meets. He beat Ben Johnson two out of three dashes and holds victories over several other track notables. Incidentally, it would sure be swell to see him back in a Tech uniform.
