GLEE SINGERS GIVE CONCERT MARCH 13th

Dr. Potter Directs Student Ensemble
Focal Appearance

Georgia Tech's Glee Singers will give a concert in Marable Hall, First Baptist Church Sunday, March 13th, at Five o'clock, in conjunction with an Organ Recital given by Dr. Ben J. Potter. This will be the first formal public appearance of the Singers this season.

Dr. Potter, widely known through the South as an Organist and as Professor of Music at Brenau College has given the club something new in the way of musical instruction, putting much more emphasis on interpretative work than has been done in the past. The club has had the advantage of being able to work under the advice of that well-known style expert, Mr. Hug-Ebordur Mr. Burdine. Mr. Potter will choose all numbers throughout the concert opening, and will redesign the presentation of the works:

Co-op Club Elects Williams President Of First Section

At a recent meeting of the Student Council it was voted for the Council to pay half the expense of this free edition and the school to pay the other half.

There will be a different set-up in the staff of this new publication, each member of the staff being compensated for their work in the amount of work done. The staff will be made up of students who can do at least 2.5 or better, the editor and business manager must have averages of 1.5 or better.

There will be no editor and business manager elected for the first issue, all work being under the supervision of the President and the business manager. The editor and business manager for next year will be chosen by this committee on the basis of work done on this issue, as any one interested in the publication see Prof. Narme at once.

The election of officers for the forthcoming year was held at a recent meeting of the Briaerean Society, an honorary organization for Co-op students. Those elected were as follows:

President, F. E. Osborne; Vice-President, W. F. Hunter; Treasurer, T. E. Everett; Secretary, H. A. Dunham. They will succeed, respectively, W. E. Chandler, I. H. Mann, R. E. Rayle, and W. F. Hunter, the retiring officers.

ART OF PREPARING TO STUDY

By L. G. Culp and J. C. Jacobs

Before we can deal with the Art of Preparing to Study we must first know just what studying is, and then we can see why there is an art to the preparation of this study.

Studying as I see it, is an operation of the brain and the brain can be likened to a sponge. Those that are familiar with a sponge know that before a sponge can soak up any water, it is necessary to squeeze it and expand all that was formally in it, then, by relaxing it, it will absorb a certain amount of water that is in contact with it. The amount depends on how well it was squeezed and how good a sponge it is. The same is true of the brain, before it will absorb any knowledge it must be in a receptive condition to receive the knowledge that is being exposed to it. The art of preparing to study deals with the process of preparing the brain, or bringing it into a receptive mood so that it will absorb knowledge.

It is a generally conceded fact that students do sometimes study, that I think is merely to keep on the rolls of knowledge. In the actual discussion of this process we must first realize that students do study and this process they go thru in the preparation of the brain, before it will absorb any knowledge. We must consider ourselves with.

In the actual discussion of this process I think the best method of procedure is to go thru the preparation of the brain in the study of what is what we will concern ourselves with.

The third type is the most characteristic of all students in college. He studied the feminine element, in fact, he misses all that is of any worth to a student. But that is not the point. The point is, can he shift his mind from eating and table conversation to book learning in that short interval from the dinner table to his study table? I am inclined to believe that this is running the matter and one should approach it more diligently. This brings to our mind a second type.

This boy is the kind, who after dinner, sits down in an easy chair to smoke his cigarette and have a nice chat with his friends before he attempts to indulge in any form of study. But when the time comes to shift his mind from eating and table conversation to book learning in that short interval from the dinner table to his study table? I am inclined to believe that this is running the matter and one should approach it more diligently. This brings to our mind a second type.

Football Squad Cut As Spring Practice Progresses Rapidly

The Spring Football squad was cut Monday. The men who were retained are those to which the team will be built mainly around next fall.

Last Saturday the squad was divided into two teams and a game was played. The Varsity squad was defeated by the green team after a three-hour battle by the score of 15-6.

Outstanding in the game were J. L. Brooks, Gay Thrash, and Jack Hill. Brooks made several beautiful passes during the afternoon; one of which was to Thrash who ran forty yards to score.

The big problem which still prevails is the development of new backfield men. Among the outstanding prospects are Hitt, Bartlett, and Brooks.

The new shift, which the squad has taken up this spring practice, has begun to look less ragged as it gives to a team more polished look. The new shift was brought into use so as to allow the ends and halves to better position themselves upon their opponents.

The men who were retained of spring practice and who will be vital back early next fall for practice are:

Varsity Supremacy Attacked By Frosh

This coming Saturday the Varsity and Freshmen track teams will stage a meet at Grant Field at 2:00, which should prove to some doubling Frosh men that the varsity still remains supreme. The only event in which the varsity should be worried any at all is the mile relay, in which as it may seem to the upper classrooms, the freshman are due to win. On March 19, the date of the faculty football game, during the half, there will be a special mile relay between the Varsity and the Freshmen. Following this there will be a match race between Captain Aldridge and Small. As added interest there will be a special 100 yard dash between the best sprinters at Georgia Tech. They will be James, Bulcher, Parks, Huntsman, Stead, Venable, and Evert.

Four Jackets Given Places On S.E.C. Championship Team

Coaches, officials, and sports writers met last Saturday at Baton Rouge to pick one man from each team which enliven the finals, and three men from other S. E. C. teams to represent the all S. E. C. basketball quintet. Those picked were:

Forward—Ronnie Graham (Miss.)
Forward—Bill Jordan (Tech)
Center—Dietrich Noyland (Tulane)
Guard—Conly Hathorne (L.S.U.)
Guard—Bill Opper (Kentucky)

The second team chosen was made up of:

Joe Hagen, Kentucky; Wilson Putnam, Tennessee, at forwards; Bo Johnston, Tech, center, and Junior Anderson, Tech, and Fletcher Sims, Tech, at guards.

Jacket Basketeers Outclass Rebels To Win S.E.C. Tourney

Last Friday evening both Mississippi State and Georgia Tech were confident of winning the S. E. C. basketball championship. Both of them had clearly outclassed their opponents. The Rebels won from L. S. U. by the score of 66 to 40, while the engineers won over Tulane by the score of 44 to 29.

When Saturday's game was over Georgia Tech had won over Mississippi and had conquered its first S.E.C. basketball championship.

score of 43-42. It was necessary to play an extra period to decide the game.

With such a period Coach Mundorff and his boys took to the road and again defeated Vandy. The score this time was 59-25. The next night Florida beat 46-34.

On the following week-end Tech had a close call in Athens winning 26-27. It was the best game the Bulldogs played all year, but the Jackets were off their usual games.

It is difficult to name the outstanding player this year. The four seniors, Bill Jordan, "Bo" Johnston, Fletcher Stone, and Ed Jones ended their careers with brilliant performances. The others, "Bad" Anderson, George Smith, and Joe Eldon, too, had their share in the glorious season.

Art of Preparation Needed at Tech

in the room the struggle begins. He sits down at his desk, noticing a magazine he picks it up and thumbs thru it to see if he has missed one of the stories. Finding he has read them all he throws it down with much disgust and looks up to find a text book. He happens to think that Benny Goodman is on the air so he rushes over to the radio and turns it on. After tuning it to all four stations on the dial he decides that it must be the wrong night for Benny Goodman so he contents himself with records over WATL. He then lights his pipe, removes his shoes, and puts on his lounging robe and sits down at his study table. He looks thru his book to find the assignment, and glances at the calendar to check himself and finds to his horror that it is Friday night, the night of the big dance at the garden. He jumps up, issues an oath, dresses and is off to the dance for the rest of the evening, putting off all further study.

To sum up the three types and draw our conclusion we find; that in the first case, the boy is abnormal, he is found perhaps one in a million, but he has some grave mental maladjustment which will eliminate him from our discussion. The third case, which I said before is most common to all college students, had no intention of studying when he went up to his room so he will be thrown out of the discussion. Which leaves us with only the second case that can be considered.

And here we find that before the actual studying begins the mind is in such an awful turmoil that it is impossible to do proper concentration. That leaves us with only one alternative, that is to forget about preparing to study.
