The Digital Media Program within the The School of Literature, Communication and Culture (LCC) welcomes Case Western Reserve University Professor Mark Turner on “Conceptual Blending in Higher-Order Human Cognition.” The talk will touch on the cognitive processes involved in human creativity ranging from everyday thought to higher level literary and artistic cognition. It should be of great interest to anyone interested in the mind, the arts, and the creative hallmarks of human thought.

This lecture is part of the 2008-09 Georgia Tech School of Literature, Communication, and Culture’s Distinguished Speaker Series on Minds, Machines, and Media

Related Link:
Imagination, Computation, and Expression [ICE] Lab

©2008 Georgia Institute of Technology :: Atlanta, Georgia 30332