To the Interfraternity Council of Georgia Tech falls the task of regulating, expanding and integrating the activities of the twenty-six national fraternities located here on the campus. Operating under the general supervision of Dean John J. Pershing, its fifty-two members increase the scope and value of fraternal life at Tech.

A realization of the large accomplishments which a council of this type is capable of contributing to the school has made the I.F.C. a leading factor in the promotion of athletic, scholastic welfare and social events. Competition is the keynote of all council undertakings, and thereby not only are results obtained, but pride is built up in each member of his particular chapter.

Softball, football, basketball, and many other sports constitute the principal athletic program of the I.F.C. A tremendous interest in these sports and also in scholarship is obtained by the presentation of a trophy each year to the fraternity which has acquired the most points in the athletic and scholastic competition.

Best illustrating the welfare work of the council is its part in the Empty Stocking Fund drive conducted each Christmas by the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce. Also, this year, the council organized a "help week" in which the pledges from all the fraternities took part. Rounding out the phases of campus life, the council is socially famous for the annual dance that it sponsors in the spring.

The Interfraternity Council as a whole, and its members individually, are constantly seeking new opportunities to promote a better student life at Georgia Tech.

Headed by Leon Siegel, Alpha Epsilon Pi enjoyed a very successful year. . . . Leon's partners in crime included Bob Davis, vice president, and secretary, Mark Myers, while Dick Dalton counted the green stuff. . . . Seen carrying the AEPi banner about the hill were Mike Tennenbaum, cheerleader and Drama Tech mainstay; Eddie Stern and Alan Salzman, IFC representatives and Siegel, Bob Davis and Al Cohen in the Bulldog Club. . . . Ira Charak won the UMOC contest. . . . In honoraries were Alan Salzman in Tau Beta Pi and Phi Eta Sigma; Morton Gruber in Phi Eta Sigma and Warren Epstein in Pi Delta Epsilon. . . . The year’s big events were headed by the winter meeting of the Southeastern Conclave of Alpha Epsilon Pi. . . . Social highlights include numerous house dances and several Groovers Lake outings. . . . Also in the spotlight are plans for a new house within the next year. . . . All this, and more, made the year an outstanding one at 728 Spring Street.

The hay-seed crew!
With last year's I.F.C. Trophy tucked beneath their belts, the 4th and Fowler St. boys were off to the races again this year after a successful rush season. Commanding the Tau fortress this year was Cecil Phillips, editor of the Engineer and ANAK president. Also in the notoriety column were Leon Scott, ODK president, Gordon Travis, Blue Print editor, Ronnie Jordan, Publications Board secretary, and Student Council secretary, Neal Smith. In athletics, the Taus were represented on several varsity squads, and copped a number of intramural laurels. Bobo Davis headed the Cheerleaders at all the 'Reck' fracases. Social highlights included frequent dances, headed by the annual ATO Spring Formal and house parties. Scholarship, far from neglected, is greatly encouraged by the annual award of the Thomas Clark Award. The oldest active chapter on the Tech campus, the ATOs again upheld a proud reputation with another banner year.

If every year were as successful as 54-55, the Betas could be well-satisfied... Up near the top in everything, they opened the year with an excellent pledge class... With last year's scholarship trophy in their pockets they began an all-out effort to obtain it for the fourth straight year.... Runners-up in their volley ball and football leagues, they walked off with top honors in the cross-country meet.... During the course of the year many Betas survived the toss down the bank.... Headed by Pierre Sovey, chapter president and Trial Board member, roll call included such notables as Ed Ferrell, Scabbard and Blade captain; Tom Stonecypher, vice president of Tau Beta Pi; Larry Wilson, Koseme and president of A.I.E.E.; and Charlie Cobb, Koseme and vice president of the Y cabinet.... Social activities such as the Formal, two house parties and many parties throughout the year fill the calendar.

The Crew Cuts?

Beta's Bag 'o' Bolts!
With Bob Shivers at the helm, the Fowler Street crew really got the ball rolling during rush season. As the leaves turned brown, the Alumni Banquet at the Piedmont Driving Club and the fall formal shared the spotlight. Tea dances after all the football games continued to be a Chi Phi tradition. Senior Class President Charles Davis made Scabbard and Blade and Who's Who. John Hellwig made Scabbard and Blade and was American Chemical Society proxy. Buddy Martin and Lamar Reese were in the Management Club while Fleming Law was on the varsity gym team. Intramural golf champs last year, the Chi Phis got off to a fine start in defense of their crown. The spring house party rounded out the year's activities at 720 Fowler Street.

The Chi Psis really stepped out last fall and took in a fine pledge class to give further impetus to a long range expansion program. ... With Clint Richmond in the driver's seat the 10th Street boys showed they were headed for the top. ... Bob Viohl and Don Jackson were in the Bulldog Club while Willis Ludwig and Clint Richmond were in I.F.C. and Bob Mitchell and Willis Ludwig were in Alpha Phi Omega. ... Plans for remodeling and a new addition are keeping the Lodge boys buzzing. ... The annual football game between the Tech Chi Psis and their Athens cousins ended in a scoreless tie thus leaving the trophy suspended for another year. ... Finishing second in their football league, the 10th Street boys took the cup for the highest average in the Empty Stocking Fund drive. ... Bob Wright was the unofficial chapter chess champ.

The Delta Sigs, approaching their 25th year on the campus, began a fine year with an unusually large pledge class. In the fall the spotlight fell on the Carnation Ball. This was greatly overshadowed in the winter by the long-awaited opening of the new estate on Fourth Street. A hearty pat on the back for the newly-organized Alumni Chapter. Steered by President Rudy Klaas, they moved into the spring quarter and made a real 'ball' of the Shipwrick Ball, where they pinned their new sweetheart. Carrying the Green and White Banner about the campus this year were seen Al Twiss, Rudy Rubish and Regis Walker in the Bulldog Club; Jack Lucky and 'chief helmsman' Klaas in I.F.C.; and Mike Charles was a mainstay tankman on the varsity swimming team. Various things other than the new house such as the pledge-active football game and the resulting stag party made it a "real gone" year for Alpha Gamma Chapter.

Returning last fall to find construction in full swing on their new addition, the Delts immediately got into the swing of things headed by chief engineer Bill Britton. . . . Showing that scholarship has its place among the better things in life, they boasted of copping second spot in last year's I.F.C. scholarship derby. . . . The social whirl was highlighted by numerous house dances, two house parties and the winter Rainbow Ball, the crowning event of the calendar. This year's affairs were marked by a winter quarter house-warming. . . . Milt Sweigert headed the Glee Club, Jim Kennedy presided over the Y Cabinet, Gordon Oliver, chapter coin counter, edited the Technique, Warren Jaunsen guided Phi Eta Sigma, Pat Bolger was news editor for the Technique and had a seat in Student Council and Joe Pinnell was Sophomore Class President. . . . On the varsity swimming team were found Jack Leverette and Bob Ballard, who, incidentally, was one of the top divers in the Southeastern Conference. . . . Mother Wilson again was rated tops in the hearts of all.

Alpha Sigma Chapter of the great Southern order, headed by Lynwood Johnson, wrote a fine chapter into its annals. Notables such as football captain and All-America center, Larry Morris and Student Council President Gene Dunwody headed a list of KA campus wheels. Johnson, Morris and Dunwody all were named to Who's Who. Bill Cohen held down a regular spot on the Jacket hardwood five and Bill Brigman, Bucky Shamburger and Jimmy Carlen all saw action on the gridiron. Starting off the year with a fine thirty-one-man pledge class, the KA's moved into the winter and the annual Rose Formal where the new Kappa Alpha Rose was named. In the spring, the KA Old South Ball was one of the feature attractions on the campus. With work on an addition to the present house due to start some time this summer, the Southern tradition boys are looking forward to even bigger and better things for the future.
Wonder what he said?

Getting off to a fine lead in the campus activities parade, the Kappa Sigs walked off with quite a few I.F.C. points last fall. ... Taking their football and volleyball leagues and first place in Homecoming decorations with a "smelly" contraption as well as second place in the Reck Parade, the 6th and Fowler boys did OK in "wheeldom" also. ... Chapter prexy Bill Cheek was ODK vice president and Business Manager of the Engineer; Ray Baker and English Thornwell were active in Student Council; Bob Beach was Managing Editor of the Engineer and Tom Ellerbee presided over the Bulldog Club. ... Larry Dallam, Ellerbee and Cheek all made Who's Who. ... Rounding out the aggregation was Russ McDonough who was sports editor of the Technique. ... The social calendar was a story in itself; with parties such as the hay affair filling in the space between the fall Founders' Day Banquet and the winter Black and White formal, the Kappa Sigs had a never-a-dull-moment year.

The Crescent boys, beaming over their remodeling job and new outdoor patio, barbeque pit and bar, really stepped out and took in one of the largest pledge classes yet. Led by Bob Livingston, the Techwood Ave. crew boasted of quite a few campus notables. Ed Smith, Phi Eta Sigma, took the minutes for the Briaerean Society. Dick Clayton was features editor for the Technique. Bob James was tapped by Tau Beta Pi and Scabbard and Blade. Bulldog Clubbers included Charlie Pinson, Bob Livingston and Jim McGee. In the winter the annual Crescent Formal and crowning of the Crescent Girl was the feature attraction. The boys of purple green and gold also copped their basketball league crown. In addition, twenty-six new Lambda Chis were initiated during the winter quarter. The spring spotlight fell on the Founders Day party. The executive board included Livingston, with Jack Toland as veep, John Greasel taking the minutes and Bob Bickel keeping the vault keys.

The shy, shy type.

Dig those cool Kats!
The Miami crew, headed by Fred Singer, returned to find the house completely redecorated. In activities, honoraries and athletics the Phi Delts shone brightly. Ray Willoch, Virgil Tedder and Bill Mitchell were tapped by ANAK. Willoch was wing commander of the Air Force R.O.T.C., Tedder presided over the Ramblin' Reck Club and Bill Mitchell was business manager of the Yellow Jacket. They sewed up their league in football and were barely edged in the intramural finals. At Homecoming they capped third place in the Rock Parade and in Displays. In varsity athletics the Phi Delts boasted of Willoch, Humphries, Rotenbury, Thompson and Wade Mitchell in football; Kelly in basketball and Baumgardner, Brown and Williams in swimming. The social calendar was studded by such affairs as the Bowery Ball, the Spring Formal and three house parties. All this and more made it a never-to-be-forgotten year for Georgia Delta Chapter.

Com'on, let me listen to the spirits!

Must have been a good one!
The 1954-55 edition of Phi Epsilon Pi hit the stands with a flurry of activities, honors, and social events. Edited this year by Paul Lefkoff, the purple and gold volume is filled with pictures of such wheels as Stan Gumble, chapter coin-counter and chairman of I.F.C. weekend; Leon Sherman, President of Alpha Phi Omega and Bulldog Clubber and Phil Kaplan, mainstay on the Engineer staff. Lefkoff also was vice president of Delta Kappa Phi. The big attraction of the year was the fall quarter Dream Girl Formal. Miss Barbara Sugarman was crowned as Phi Ep Dream Girl and Shirley Cavalier and Carol Shapiro served in her court. Saint Nick visited the 6th Street mansion for a Christmas party for thirty of Atlanta's most deserving orphans. The winter Valentine party was also a feature attraction of the social calendar. Hats are off to Phi Epsilon Pi on their golden anniversary as a national fraternity.

With Bill Long in the driver's seat, the Fiji crew started off the year in fine fashion with a great pledge class. . . . Santa Claus paid a visit to the Phi Gam house late in the fall quarter to unload his bag of good things for a group of deserving Atlanta orphans. . . . In the spring the spotlight fell on the spring formal where the new Fiji Queen was crowned. . . . Also in the realm of the social whirl was the annual Fiji Island party and pig dinner—a real "ball." . . . Entering their 30th year on the campus the Fiji boys are really buzzing about plans for a new house near the corner of 5th and Fowler Streets. . . . Seen doing quite a bit of "wheeling" about the hill were Bill Winn and Dick Cleghorn in the Bulldog Club and Dave Donald and Bill Long in I.F.C. . . . Hugh White was business manager for the Technique and made Tau Beta Pi; Bob Ramsey presided over Kappa Kappa Psi and Bill Winn was secretary-treasurer of the Sophomore Class and was on the varsity swimming team. . . . With a great year behind them and the new house plans, the North Avenue boys are looking forward to bigger and better things in the future.

Homecoming.
The Phi Kaps started off the year with a new feather in their caps—they returned last fall to find the estate at 172 4th Street completely redecorated.... As usual, moderation was the watch-word in everything but still the black and gold boys were found in everything on the hill.... With President Bernard Sigmier showing the way, the Phi Kaps got off to a running start with one of their largest pledge classes.... Seen scampering about the hill were Gene Huffman and Joe Chew in Scabbard and Blade; the I.F.C. boys were Bernie Sigmier and Ming Chew while Huffman, Sigmier, Neal Seaborn and Harvey Krieger barked it up in the Bulldog Club.... Lee Jones made the varsity tennis team and Ming Chew pocketed the gym team varsity letter while in intramurals the Phi Kaps shone brilliantly, winning their volleyball league and finishing well up in the standings in their football league.... The social spotlight fell on the winter Black and Gold formal where the new Phi Kap Girl received her laurels.
The Phi Kappa Tau Express, engineered by Don Nordal, picked up steam, moved into rush season and pledged more men than were aboard. ... Gaining momentum as they rocketed down the tracks, they swept to second place in their football league, allowing only six heartbreaking points to be scored against them. ... As the days grew shorter, ticket-seller John McMillan called for a short whistle-stop to take a number of Atlanta orphans aboard for a wonderful Christmas party. ... Then the red and gold express rolled into the winter quarter with many water stops for house dances and parties. ... After taking on coal for the last leg of the journey they steamed into the spring and their annual House Party. ... I.F.C. treasurer and Wesley Foundation veeep, Wilfred Smith, Bud Williams, Briaereans presxy and vice president of Pi Tau Sigma and Don Nordal, secretary of the Briaereans were all seen stepping off the streamliner at the end of its stirring nine month journey.

Sewing up their football league and coping second place in their volleyball league, the Phi Sigs, under the capable leadership of Dick Lejk, began the year in fine fashion. ... With a large pledge class they pocketed two national Presidential Awards for membership and scholarship. ... Clark Mercer kept the minutes for Alpha Phi Omega and Harry Phipps was managing editor for the Technique. ... Mike Tierney won last year's individual intramural tennis championship. ... President Lejk won the "Most Outstanding" award among I.E.'s in the Junior Class. ... The social feature of the year was the Founders' Day Formal at which the new Moonlight Girl was named. ... Chapter wheels included veep Dan Gorman while Ronald Stallings took the minutes and Clark Mercer stacked the change.

ALPHA DELTA of

Enjoying their best in recent years, the Pikes boasted of one of their finest pledge classes to get things off to a running start. . . . After Jack McFarland's yeoman job as rush chairman, the Pikes turned to the task of formulating plans for a new house. . . . With Bill Nettles at the helm, some of the notables in the clan included freshman class president, Fred Osborne and A.P.O. vice president, Ken Vickery. . . . Jesse Howell earned a cross-country letter; Maurice Pratt was selected by Tau Beta Pi; Fred Cook was in the Glee Club and Pete Ralston, Spencer Godfrey and Claud Hemphill carried the Pike banner in the Pershing Rifles. . . . Ed Trent placed second in the UMOC contest and Ed King was champion of the "midnight track team." . . . The installation of the Pikenique was of great value for publicity and alumni relations. . . . The winter quarter spotlight fell on the annual Black and White formal where the new Dream Girl of Pi Kappa Alpha was named. At this affair the new Dream Girl song was dedicated by Dick Nowell. . . . The Pikes could be well satisfied if every year could be as successful as 1954-1955.
