Phi Kappa Phi Elects Nine Members

The Briaerean Society is the highest honorary fraternity in the co-operative department, and one of the oldest and most distinguished on the campus. Its members are selected from among those men who have completed at least two years at Tech, and who have met rigid requirements of scholarship and leadership ability.

The purpose of the Briaerean Society is to promote fellowship and scholarship.

Fourteen Students Elected to Phi Psi

Fourteen new men were elected yesterday to Phi Psi, national honorary engineering society.

The sun never sets on a bulletin board at Tech. After an exhausting search into the deepest and darkest parts of the bulletin board at Tech. After an exhausting search into the deepest and darkest parts of the bulletin board, the freshman students found the keys to the new addition of the chemistry building.

Tech Sends Delegates To A. C. P. Convention

Tech has been invited to send a delegation to the A. C. P. Convention, to be held in Atlanta. The delegation will consist of six men, chosen by the students of Tech.
SOCIAL SPEAKING

Among the bigger events this week-end will be the reappearance of the Auburn Knights' orchestra at the Anak dance tomorrow night. This will be a swell chance to celebrate Tech's victory against Auburn for the third time in three years. Everyone attending the dance last year will remember the swell brand of music played by the Knights, and they return practically the same band for this year's dance.

The halloween week-end saw much activity in the social world. Anak held a capital dance. They are to be complimented on putting out one of the best dances of the week. The Chili Cook-off was won by a couple of Pi Kappa Phis who were old fashioned halloween parties.

And now in the personal department. Back to the Vandy Game. We wonder why Omni House and B. J. Kackey wanted to remain in Chattanooga so long. Paul is still thinking of going to Tennessee before starting. As forOmni, evidently, why 'Ocalugan' wanted to rush away from Ward-Belmont. The inevitable human drama—Why! still thinking of a football soiree with a certain Mary Belle Klasset. Luck to him—he'll need it!

IT SEEMS: That Pud Smith ought to succeed soon, he's bound to find a OAO out of the mess he's been brought into. Bill Hogan can't do much now, can he? And the others?

NEXT WEEK: We wonder if anything like that will happen. Whatever does happen, we shall be ready to report it. Watch this space.

Why, it seems to us, is it necessary for the Yellow Jacket Club to call a meeting next week? Will they try to raise the fund in one week? Is it impossible to complete their education because of the fund in one week?

FOR a little bit of relief. TODAY that relief need has been met by 5:00 P.M. Monday before date of publication.

COLLEGE COMMENT

By Spencer Montgomery

Why is it professors can wear purple ties, haphazard haircuts and coats the wrong size? They teach too short and the color scheme vies.

Yet flunk men in English because of their style?

Entire Cotton Plant Utilized in Future Says Dr. Cameron

Cotton growing methods in the future may be so increased that there will be no need of pruning, according to Dr. Frank Cameron, professor of paper technology at Georgia Tech. "The Great Waltz," a recent history in the history of the cotton industry, has shown promise of greater usefulness; and there is every chance with others for progression in the future. Cameron's theory is that of applying science in management, genius in operation, and the industrial unit, together with increased size of operations and the growing size of the industrial unit, together with increased size of operations and the growing size of the industrial unit.

The period of the depression has seen a decline in science in management making its way into the smaller industrial units. The most effective way to make a change in the business units is by utilizing the smaller units with more and more of the science in management. The manager of the present needs a knowledge of economic laws and conditions, but he must not be an economic theorist. He must be able to understand the social signs of today and to harvest the plants at an age of twenty-six weeks, when the cellulosic content is at a maximum. This will enable the grower to harvest the cotton in the region where it is most likely to be profitable.

The above quotation by Mr. A. G. Anderson, indicates that management will become more important and more routine positions. Given the opportunity to work in this way, the student who can read the social signs of the times and to harvest the plants at an age of twenty-six weeks, when the cellulosic content is at a maximum.

"The Great Waltz" has been to do with the musical rivalry of the two Strausses, father and son, over the title of "Waltz King" and the love affair of young Strauss with Theresa (Reza) Elsener, the charming and lovely daughter of a Viennese pastry shopkeeper. Many theatrical liberties have been taken in telling the story, which, however, is founded upon historical facts. The action of the entire musical play is set in Vienna. "The Great Waltz" has had an engagement of two days, Friday and Saturday nights, Nov. 20-21, with a matinee on Saturday afternoon at the Peabody Theater. This play ran for two seasons at the Center Theater, Radio City, in Rockefeller Center, New York, and last season was a sensational success in the nine night city all over the east and middle west including a record-breaking run of sixteen weeks at the Auditorium, Chicago.

Tech Faces Auburn In Conference Clash

Jackets Strive for First Win Over Tigers In Three Years

Returning from a hard and losing trip to the west coast, the Auburn Tigers again leave home for the first time to meet Tech tomorrow. This Alabama team, according to pre-season dope, was rated as possibly the most powerful in the conference, but their schedule has evidently been kinder to them, as they are now far from the top.

There is no doubt, though, that Tech is going through a hard struggle to beat them Thursday afternoon, in spite of the fact that Auburn is rated the stronger. The Engineers are in a much better shape all around than they have been in the preceding weeks and are up to full war-strength with the exception of Fletcher Simons, star passer, who may be able to play.

A record crowd should be on hand to watch the battle between two such powerful squads, since it is really the second big game which the Jackets have participated in at home. Also, there is a large contingent expected from the neighboring state of Alabama, who have high hopes for a win, but who are doomed for disappointment. Prospects for a big day at the Rumble-Dance as the most effective method of ground-gaining are in sight, due to the potential strength of the Auburn line.

Much credit is due the boys from Alabama Polytechnic since they do face such a full schedule which carries them all over the South, besides Do- just and the Pacific Coast, allowing them only one home game. The majority of the heavy work is carried out in their two outstanding stars—Kirkpatrick and Fonten. This pair of backs is due to find its equal in Konemann and Appleby on the opposite side.

There are many others in the nation on mention for outstanding play on both squads, but each and every one of them should have his chance to be the well-known star in such an exhibition as this game is rated to be.

Everyone present at Grant Field Saturday can be assured that both coaches Alexander and Meagher will turn loose every resource to bring about a victory for their respective institutions.

Blick's To Reward High Scorer; Delta Sigs' Still Hold Lead

Mr. John S. Blick, proprietor of BLICKS BOWLING CENTER, announced this week that he would send two representatives from Georgia Tech to the National Interscholastic Bowling Tournament. The two men who maintain the highest average for the current Building League will be picked as representatives.

This tournament will be held in Richmond, Va., during the month of April and will be participated in by the majority of the major colleges.

Mr. Blick has consented to defray all the expenses for the men who qualify to go.

In order to be eligible it is compulsory that a man has to bowl in at least three-tenths of the league games.

All men are urged to bowl frequently, and in the league games maintain as high an average as possible, because the trip and also the privilege of representing your school, should mean a great deal to anyone eligible.

The results of the fourth week's play show that there's no stopping the three leading teams. Bill Roux of Phi Delta Theta still hold the lead with 11 wins and 1 loss. The standing at the close of the fourth week is as follows:

Kappa Alpha 9 3
Beta Theta Pi 9 3
Chi Phi 8 4

Wanted—An Answer From The Mysterious George P. Burdell

By a Freshman

Soon after entering school I was told about a certain Mr. George P. Burdell, who was the most outstanding man on the Tech campus. A man of decidedly mysterious personal habits, he allowed no one to know his school address, phone number, or fraternity. But still my determination to meet this noteworthy EMOFC persisted, so I went about asking students for some information on him. In the registrar's office I was told that no one by that name was on the rolls of the school at this time, but I found that he had passed several courses with high grades. I also learned to my amazement that he is at this time enrolled at this school, but I found that he had failed several courses with high grades. In the registrar's office I was told that no one by that name was on the rolls of the school at this time, but I found that he had passed several courses with high grades. All upperclassmen who wish to enter the school-wide ping-pong tournament, sign-up at "Y" desk immediately. Prizes will be awarded to the winner and runner-up.

Dormitories To Hold Track Meet Tonight

An inter-dormitory track meet, sponsored by the Tech Yellow Jacket Club, will be held Friday night at 7:00 o'clock during the regular Pep meeting. Any freshman from any of the four dormitories is eligible to enter the meet, which will consist of 100, 200 and 400-yard dashes, relay races, and other events to be announced. Points for each event will be counted, and a banner will be given to the winning dormitory. This track meet will, from this year on, be an annual affair, and the banner being given to the winning dormitory each year. The tug of war held last Friday, which Charles won, Knowing being runner-up, will count as points for these dormitories.
