PHI SIGMA KAPPA
Kappa Deuteron Chapter

SINCE 1923, Kappa Dueteron Chapter of Phi Sigma Kappa has been upholding its Cardinal Principals—Brotherhood, Scholarship, and Character. This year started out with a bang as twenty-eight men were pledges. Things picked up even more with a first place in the Homecoming display contest, league championship in football, and the election of brothers Bob Gunn, John Dascanio, and Jack Benkovich to the positions of President and Vice President of SAM and Vice President of ASME, respectively. Another highlight was the return of brother Lou Wells from his year’s stay in Stuttgart of a WSF scholarship.

This year, the Phi Sigs were represented in Scabbard and Blade, Briarian Society, Pi Tau Sigma, Alpha Pi Mu, Chi Epsilon, Eta Kappa Nu, Student Council, a majority of the departmental societies, publications, and in the Georgia Tech Band.

Along social lines, this year, as usual, the biggest event was the Founder’s Day-Moonlight Girl Formal.

Alpha Delta's fifty-fifth year on the Georgia Tech campus was a typically good one. The Pike's thirty-one pledges placed third on campus in overall point average, with seventy-one per cent eligible for initiation, the highest of any fraternity at Tech. Fall quarter saw PiKA place second in the school volleyball championship, after winning the championship in their league. During homecoming, the Pike house was continually full of alumni, parents, and friends. At the beginning of the winter quarter Jim Snyder turned over the leadership of Alpha Delta to Neil Howard, who ably guided the chapter through their busiest season of the year. The annual Black and White Formal was the big highlight of the quarter, with the crowning of a beautiful Dream Girl, Athena Shaver. In addition to the formal, the Pikes had their annual Bottle Hunt, initiated the pledge class into brotherhood, and attended the Founders Day Banquet with the several other Pi Kappa Alpha chapters in the state of Georgia.

Pi Kappa Phi was founded at the College of Charleston, Charleston, South Carolina, in 1904. The local chapter, Iota, was chartered in 1915. As one of the oldest fraternities on the Tech campus, they possess a rich and colorful history. Believing in the true meaning of a fraternity, their membership has rarely exceeded fifty men.

With local chapters in most of the major colleges, including five within a radius of a hundred miles, the Pi Kaps are known as a group which likes to have a good time. Heading the list of social functions is the Founder’s Day Dinner held in December and the annual Rose Ball presented during the winter. This year’s ball was climaxed by the crowning of their Rose Queen.

The most important event of the year for the Pi Kappa Phi’s has been the start of work toward a new house. Temporarily located at Britain Drive, the Pi Kaps hope to move into their new home on Techwood Drive sometime soon.

GEORGIA PHI CHAPTER of Sigma Alpha Epsilon came to the Georgia Tech campus in 1890, making it one of the oldest fraternities at Tech. Under the able leadership of Tommy Branan and Richard Higginbotham, Sigma Alpha Epsilon has again strengthened its position of prestige on campus during the year 1959-1960. As usual, the SAE's performed well in intramural sports, providing stiff competition in all sports. As for varsity sports, the SAE's are well represented there also. Although active in sports, Sigma Alpha Epsilon probably displayed her laurels most strongly in campus politics. They boast presidents of two classes and vice-president of one—in the persons of Pat Peavy, Jim Jeter, and Joe McCutchen. Although the SAE's are sincerely proud of their outstanding individuals it is the SAE spirit of brotherhood which makes the fraternity what it is. This spirit is easily felt at the SAE's various dances held through the year and is vividly climaxd at the annual Violet Ball.

WORKING WITH the same spirit that resulted in their capturing the IFC Intramural Trophy and the IFC Activities Award Trophy last spring, Beta Psi of Sigma Chi won many victories in football, volleyball, swimming, and cross country during the Fall Quarter.

Under the leadership of President Jim Moore and with the assistance of their new housemother, "Mom" Moore, the Sigs celebrated Homecoming with a prize winning display featuring a Beatnik coffee house.

Winter Quarter was highlighted by the annual Sweetheart Ball, when the new Sweetheart of Sigma Chi was announced, the winter's cold was relieved by lively parties.

Continuing their tradition of leadership, Sigs are actively represented on the hill by brothers in Student Council, AFROTC, NROTC, Alpha Phalanx, Toastmasters and Tau Beta Pi.

Closing their list of achievements, the Sigs were prominent on varsity football, basketball, and baseball teams.

SIGMA NU

SIGMA NU, chartered at Tech in 1896, began a successful year by pledging forty men during fall rush and becoming, by a margin of four, the largest fraternity on campus.

The chapter house was completely redecorated for the first time in its nine year history with the aid of Sigma Nu National Fraternity. The membership is justifiably proud of the fraternity's facilities.

The major accomplishment of the year was the construction of the first fraternity swimming pool in the state. The pool, boasting such features as a complete re-circulating system and underwater lights, was constructed solely by chapter labor. It is a precedent which other chapters will soon follow and will add measurably to fraternity prestige at Georgia Tech.

The social season was climaxed in the winter quarter by the annual White Rose Formal and House Party. Miss Bang Holland was crowned Sweetheart for 1960-61.

Georgla Alpha chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon was chartered on the Tech campus in 1907. During the years since their beginning, the Sig Eps have become known as one of the strongest medium sized fraternities on campus.

After a fine rush week, the Sig Eps began on their usual series of Saturday “After-the-Game” buffets and parties. The highlight of the social year was the annual Sweetheart Ball on February 26. Brothers, pledges, guests, and dates all went to the Georgian Terrace and the party was enjoyed by all.

As they have done for many years in the past, the Sig Eps again held their annual Christmas Party for orphans. Members and dates alike enjoyed making very happy to little girls who were the guests of honor.

To round out the activities, the SPE’s are always ready to participate in extra-curricular activities. Members are especially active in publications, honoraries, departmental societies, and the Student Council.

THE PHI CHAPTER of Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity is relatively one of the smaller fraternities on the Tech campus and yet has achieved the desired goal of a fraternal organization—to promote good scholastic habits, to create and encourage social activities, and to instill leadership qualities in its members.

The Tep's have many men in departmental societies and have also a good number in honorary societies as well as other important organizations.

On the sports agenda, the Tep's are Tops. This came about with the winning of the league basketball championship over great competition.

Along the social calendar the annual Sweetheart Dance is the big affair of the year.

Plans are now complete and house breaking will be started soon for the new house which is going to be built for the Tep's at Techwood Drive. The Tep's are looking forward to further prosperous and progressive years.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON Fraternity was founded in the year 1899, at Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington Illinois. Georgia Tech's Beta Pi Chapter was founded in 1948. Their greatest emphasis, as far as school life is concerned, has been on scholarship. Tau Kappa Epsilon pledges are indoctrinated with this idea upon their first day of training.

Since their national organization was the first to replace "Hell Week" with "Help Week," the Tekes try each year to undertake a charitable project during this final week of pledge training.

TKE also takes part in almost all phases of the intramural sports program and in other IFC events.

Social events for the year include parties scattered at varying intervals throughout each quarter and open house after each football and basketball game. The most important function is the annual Carnation Banquet and Ball at which the Teke sweetheart is crowned.

ALPHA NU CHAPTER of Theta Chi, chartered on the Tech campus in 1923, started the year with a very successful rush season that added 44 pledges to the ranks. This was enough of an incentive to make the rest of the year one that will be long remembered.

Adding to Theta Chi prestige on the hill are outstanding brothers on the Cheerleading Squad, IFC Trial Board, Pi Tau Sigma, Ramblin' Reck Club, and many other brothers active in honorary societies, clubs, and sports. In addition, the Theta Chi’s are active in the intramural sports.

To add to their social status, the ox’s had such functions as rush parties and smokers, record and combo dances, an Alumni dinner, a Founder’s Day Ceremony, the annual Christmas party for a number of orphans in the Atlanta area, and the highlight of this and every year, the Carnation Ball in February, graced by the announcement of our new Dream Girl, Miss Helen Duke of Atlanta.

After opening the rush season with some of the most popular parties in their history, Theta Xi pledged a fine class of future brothers. Afterwards, the brothers and pledges of Theta Xi calmed down and proceeded to enjoy another successful year. Fall quarter found the men of Theta Xi collecting vigorously for the Empty Stocking Fund Drive. As a result, the trophy for the most money collected per man found its way to their mantle. With the pledges having the second best point average on campus, Theta Xi was high above the all men's average. Taking a break from the books, the men enjoyed the annual 6294 banquet, the Sweetheart Ball—honoring Miss Diane Deas, and the orphan's Christmas Party. As the year came to an end, Theta Xi was selected from the host of sixty-one chapters as the one to receive the general improvement trophy for the past year. The brothers and pledges of Theta Xi will continue to improve and to expand Theta Xi on the Tech Campus. They are eagerly looking forward to an even more successful year here at Tech next fall.
