A Program of Exchange Between the Georgia Institute of Technology and the School of Planning, Ahmedabad, India
INTRODUCTION

The Linkages Program has undertaken one principal administrative activity during its second year of operation, namely a series of visits to Government of India and USIA, New Delhi offices. The Linkages Program had stalled due to confusion regarding the necessity of obtaining Government of India approval for School of Planning participation. No exchanges were executed during the 1984/85 academic year because the School of Planning believed that its faculty could not participate until Government of India approval was obtained. Because the financial structure of the project requires reciprocating visits, Georgia Tech was unable to send its second exchange faculty member.

Fortunately, project co-principal investigator Dr. Weinstein was in India on a grant from the American Institute of Indian Studies and was able to meet with several Ministry of Education Officials, USIA personnel and Dr. Dinesh Mehta, Director of the School of Planning in New Delhi.

The conclusion of these meetings was that Government of India approval is not required for the School of Planning to participate.

This confusion having been resolved, plans are underway at both Georgia Tech and the School of Planning for exchange visits during the 85/86 academic year.
The Linkages Committee has determined that the following schedule of activities should be conducted during the coming year:

Dear Mr. Graham:

Enclosed please find the current AY Program Plan and quarterly reports.

We at Georgia Tech are pleased that Dinesh Mehta (Director of the School of Planning) and Rabin Gangly, Professor at the School of Planning, will be joining us for the Spring Quarter.

We are also pleased that the Council for International Exchange of Scholars has approved our application for an Indian scholar, which should enable Dr. Mehta to join us for the next academic year.

I am in receipt of your letters regarding reporting requirements for the School of Planning and will review and rectify any deficiencies as soon as Dr. Mehta arrives.

I hope to travel to Washington during the next month or two and will look forward to the possibility of meeting with you.

Sincerely,

Larry Keating, Ph.D., AICP
Associate Professor

A PROGRAM OF EXCHANGES BETWEEN THE
GEORGIA INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY AND
THE SCHOOL OF PLANNING, AHMEDABAD, INDIA
INTRODUCTION

The Linkages Exchange plans two exchange visits by School of Planning faculty to Georgia Tech during AY 87/88. Dr. Dinesh Mehta, Professor and Director of the School of Planning will visit Georgia Tech between April 1, 1988 and May 15, 1988. Dr. Rabin Gangly, Professor at the School of Planning, will visit between May 7 and June 22, 1988.

Drs. Mehta and Gangly will jointly teach International Planning (which is jointly offered by the Graduate Program in City Planning and the School of Social Sciences). Both faculty will advise on City Planning theses and option papers, conduct seminars for City Planning and School of Social Sciences faculty and students, present guest lectures in several courses and develop research proposals which were initiated during the Spring '87 visit by the first School of Planning faculty exchange.
