Tech Education . . . An Evolution

The education of Tech students is the evolution from idealistic freshmen to realistic seniors. Arriving at Georgia Tech with high ambitions, freshmen are determined to withstand the academic rigors. As they become sophomores, students are generally pleased to have made it through the first year with a semblance of sanity. Junior year brings some realizations about Tech and some hopeful plans for "life after Tech." When the last year finally arrives, seniors are almost totally preoccupied with two things: graduation from Ma Tech, and the big question, "What after?"
Which Is Worse: 8 O'Clock Quizzes or Friday Afternoon Labs?
What Do You Do With a Lone Hour?
Happiness Is an Afternoon Without Class
The Night Before: The Great Georgia Tech Study Habit
CLASS PRESIDENTS

SCOTT KINNEY
Senior Class President

DENNIS WHITE
Junior Class President
MARCIA HAGER
Sophomore Class President

BETH BROWN
Freshman Class President