GREEKS
Week-Long Games Demand Skill and Spirit

The first week in May finds hordes of Greeks scurrying to and fro in preparation for a week of contests and events better known as Greek Week. With the warm spring weather come outdoor events like the Tug o' War, Watermelon chase, Keg Toss, and Mattress Race pitting fraternities and sororities against each other in spirited competition. Other contests such as the Obstacle Course, the Baker's Dozen, and the Egg Toss test the skill and dexterity of the Greek competitors. Fraternities and sororities combine their best talents and creative ideas for the Greek God and Goddess competitions while musically talented members participate in the Greek Sing. Keeping in the spirit of spring, the Pool Events provide contests to test the aquatic abilities of our beach-loving Greeks. During the week, strong participation in the Blood Drive showed the Greeks' commitment to community service and their willingness to participate in a good cause. The overall winners for the spring of 1987 were Pi Kappa Alpha and Alpha Chi Omega.

Greek Spirit in Competition
Homecoming — a time when Greeks join in competition and rivalry, exhibiting their best in originality, talent, strength and skill. When flashes of arc welding and sounds of hammering fill the night air.

T*E*C*H — Everyone Celebrate Homecoming kicked off Tuesday night with the Larry Linville lecture at the Student Center. On Friday night, students danced to the music of Borneo at the Officer’s Ball. With the M*A*S*H Scavenger Hunt running week-long, Monday afternoon saw faces being stuffed with unknowns, potato peeling, and Basic Training as Sigma Phi Epsilon and Alpha Xi Delta took the first places in the Mess Hall Massacre. On Tuesday, the M*A*S*H Masquerade and the U.S.O. Variety Show gave Greeks a chance to perform skits and display their talents and originality. Wednesday brought stretcher bearers to the Burger Bowl in the Mad M*A*S*H Dash while Phi Delta Theta engineered their way to first place in the Catapult-A-Cav contest. Friday’s grueling Mini 500 tricycle race provided spectators a good dose of Greek anguish as competitors tried to hold their trikes and bodies together until the finish line. Later that evening, the Homecoming Concert featured the bands Let’s Active, Balancing Act, and Not Shakespeare. Throughout the week, Greeks worked long into the night on their displays and Ramblin Recks with Phi Gamma Delta and Zeta Tau Alpha taking the first places in the Homecoming display competition. As the tanks, helicopters, ambulances, and assorted mechanical aberrations paraded down Fowler Street, engines coughed, wheezed, and sputtered with Phi Gamma Delta and Beta Theta Pi taking first place in the contraption and fixed body divisions respectively. Wrapping up this year’s Homecoming activities, first places were awarded to Phi Gamma Delta and Alpha Xi Delta while Mr. and Mrs. Georgia Tech were presented to David Mayfield and Sharon Just.
The Interfraternity Council and the Panhellenic Council are the governing bodies of the fraternity and sorority system. The IFC is composed of 31 chapters and over 1700 members. The sorority system at Georgia Tech has seven chapters and 500 members. The purpose of the IFC and Panhellenic Council is to provide the member chapters with organizational, advisory, social, and judicial services.

An extensive committee system allows both the IFC and Panhellenic to accomplish their organizational objectives. Both councils have an independent system of committees as well as joint committees with the other council. Fraternities and sororities work together to plan Greek Week, an annual celebration of Greek life at Georgia Tech, philanthropy projects, through which the Greek system raised over $75,000 dollars in 1987, and Homecoming.

This year the Interfraternity Council reorganized its scholarship program including the Scholarship Committee. The Greek system has always stressed academic achievement and this reorganization will allow the IFC to serve the member chapters in a more efficient manner. The Board of Directors passed a scholarship policy that sets minimum acceptable academic achievement levels for member chapters and provides support from the Scholarship Committee for chapters having trouble.

The Greek system is a major contributor to the positive aspect of life at Georgia Tech. One can find a member of a fraternity or sorority in almost every organization on campus. Over 80% of the leadership positions at Tech are filled with Greek aligned students. From academics to social activities, the presence of the fraternity or sorority member can easily be seen.
