The men’s and women’s swimming & diving teams placed seven student-athletes on the 2007 Academic All-ACC Swimming & Diving Teams
Conveniently located on the third floor of the Edge Athletics Center, the Andrew Hearn, Sr. Academic Center houses staff and facilities to support the academic endeavors of Tech student-athletes. The academic support program is under the direction of Associate Director of Athletics Phyllis LaBaw.

The Hearn Center, which originally opened in 1984, has been expanded several times and now includes over 5,000 square feet of open and self-contained work area. Eighteen rooms of varying sizes flank a glass enclosed computer cluster with the latest hardware and software.

Study and tutoring rooms vary in size and offer secluded environments in which to work. Tutoring for classes ranging from biology to advanced engineering courses is scheduled daily.

The Hearn Academic Center, staff and programs offer the finest and most innovative educational advantages in the country. Student-athletes are provided a convenient place to study and meet with tutors and advisors.
Georgia Tech was the only school in the nation to have a player selected as one of the top-12 picks in the NFL, NBA and MLB Drafts in 2007 and one of just two schools since 1995 with a player selected in the top-20 in all three drafts. (From L-R) Calvin Johnson was the second overall pick by the Detroit Lions in the 2007 NFL Draft, Javaris Crittenton was the 19th pick in the 2007 NBA Draft by the Los Angeles Lakers, the Philadelphia 76ers made Thaddeus Young the 12th overall pick in the 2007 NBA Draft, and Matt Wieters was the fifth overall pick by the Baltimore Orioles in the 2007 MLB Draft.

Swimming standout Ofer Finkler was one of four Yellow Jackets to earn Academic All-America honors in 2007 and also one of four to earn ACC Postgraduate Scholarships last year.

Academic All-America Whitney Haller helped the Yellow Jacket softball team to a school-record 54 wins in 2007 and the highest final ranking in the program's history.
EXCELLENCE

Three Yellow Jackets, including volleyball standout Ulrike Stegemann, earned Honorable Mention All-America honors, while two others were named Freshman All-America in 2007.

Four-time All-American Roberto Castro helped the golf team to one of two ACC Championships for the Yellow Jackets during the year and was one of 34 Georgia Tech athletes to be named to the Academic All-ACC team.

Fatmata Fofanah finished fourth in the nation in the 100-meter hurdles and was one of 17 All-Americans for the Yellow Jackets in 2007.

The Yellow Jacket women's tennis team, under the direction of ITA National Coach of the Year Bryan Shelton, became the first Georgia Tech team to capture an NCAA Title and only the fifth squad in school history to win a National Championship.

GEORGIA TECH SWIMMING & DIVING
September 30, 1961 versus Rice. For the first time, the official Rambling Wreck car led the Georgia Tech football team onto Grant Field. It’s happened at every home game since.

The event did not establish a new tradition at Georgia Tech, but it cemented one. The vehicle, a restored 1930 Model A Ford Sport Coupe, was Tech’s first official Rambling Wreck car.

Since that time, the Rambling Wreck car has joined a much older tradition—the Yellow Jacket—as an official school mascot.

The term Rambling Wreck was first applied to a 1914 Ford owned by Floyd Field, Dean of Men. In the first published reference to the car as the “Rambling Wreck” in 1927, the Technique student newspaper spoke out against Field when he considered trading the car, but he did it anyway.

The Technique maintained the tradition with a yearly collegiate auto race from Atlanta to Athens, known as the “Old Ford” race or “Flying Finver” race, which began in 1929 but was discontinued when it became too dangerous. In its place is the familiar Rambling Wreck Parade, which is still held every year at Homecoming. The event challenges students to produce outlandish “mechanical monstrosities” capable of traversing a short course on campus.

Tech officials decided in the late 1950s that the school needed an official car that would be known forever as the Rambling Wreck. Dean of Students James Dull began a search for a pre-1940 vintage model, and finally found one—parked in front of his apartment building. The owner, Capt. Ted J. Johnson, a Delta Air Lines pilot, had just finished restoring the 1930 Ford Cabriolet Sport Coupe, which he intended to give to his son as a gift.

Johnson decided to let Tech have the car for $1,000 in May, 1961. He later returned the purchase price in the form of a contribution to the Alexander-Tharpe Fund, fulfilling a desire to go on record as having given the Rambling Wreck to Georgia Tech.

The Yellow Jacket

Conflicting accounts exist as to the origins and beginnings of the Yellow Jacket, but the nickname did not grow out of the familiar six-legged insect; rather, the insect mascot, known as “Buzz,” grew out of the nickname. The first known reference to Tech students as “Yellowjackets” appeared in the Atlanta Constitution in 1905 and came into common usage at that time. The name, spelled as one word, was first used to describe supporters who attended Tech athletic events, dressed in yellow coats and jackets. The actual mascot was conceived at a later, undetermined date.

Other nicknames which have applied to Tech teams include the Engineers; the Tecks, the first known nickname which was phased out around 1910; the Blacksmiths, common between 1902 and 1904; and the Golden Tornado, thought to be created by sportswriters when John Heisman led Tech to its first national title in 1917.
The Ramblin' Wreck Fight Song

Howard D. Cutner, a member of Tech's first graduating class (Mechanical Engineering, 1892), wrote in the November-December 1942 issue of the Georgia Tech Alumnus that the "Ramblin' Wreck" had its origins during the first two years after Tech opened in 1888, inspired when the entire student body traveled to Athens to see Tech's baseball team defeat Georgia.

By the early 1900s, "Ramblin' Wreck" was an established tradition. The earliest existing published version of the song appeared in the Blueprint, the institute's yearbook, in 1908.

In 1910, Michael A. Greenblatt, Tech's first bandmaster, discovered the band playing "Ramblin' Wreck" to the tune of "Sons of the Gaminbliers," and made his first arrangement of the song in the form of a handwritten manuscript.

When Frank Roman succeeded Greenblatt as bandmaster in 1911, he wrote a new adaptation of "Ramblin' Wreck," accompanied by many trumpet flourishes, that became nationally known. His is the version that continues to be popular today.

The fame of the song spread to such proportions that, in 1959, it was sung by Richard Nixon and Nikita Khrushchev at their historic face-to-face meeting in Moscow.

In 1984, the law firm of Newton, Hopkins & Ormsby investigated the copyright of "Ramblin' Wreck" and found that a number of people have had various versions of the song copyrighted. The original version of the song is in the public domain and can be played without payment of royalties.

Like all the jolly good fellows, I drink my whiskey clear,

Oh, if I had a daughter, sir, I'd dress her in White and Gold,
And put her on the campus, to cheer the brave and bold.
But if I had a son, sir, I'll tell you what he'd do.
He would yell, "To Hell with Georgia," like his daddy used to do.
Oh, I wish I had a barrel of rum and sugar three thousand pounds,
A college bell to put it in and a clapper to stir it around.
I'd drink to all good fellows who come from far and near.
I'm a ramblin', gamblin', hell of an engineer.

White & Gold

In the fall of 1891, before Georgia Tech organized a football team of its own, a game was scheduled between Auburn and Georgia. A rivalry was already established in baseball between Tech and Georgia, so Tech students were invited to the game to cheer, of course, for Auburn.

The students appointed a committee to recommend colors to be worn and cheers to be used at the game. The committee suggested white and gold, and about 200 students attended the game wearing those colors.

In 1893, when Georgia Tech's football team played Georgia for the first time, a group of young women from the Lucy Cobb Institute for Girls attended the game to cheer for Tech, dressed in white and gold.

Oh well it's up with the White and Gold
Down with the Red and Black
Georgia Tech is out for the victory
We'll drop the battle axe on Georgia's head
When we meet her, our team is sure to beat her
Down on the old farm there will be no sound
Till our bow-wows rip through the air
When the battle is over, Georgia's team will be found
With the Yellow Jackets swarming around.

Stu Wilson was named men's and women's swimming and diving head coach on June 8, 2005. He enters his third season as head coach and sixth overall with the program.

In his five years with the Tech program, Wilson has guided four swimmers to the NCAA Championships and tutored two Atlantic Coast Conference champions in the distance events.

Sam Morgan ended his career as a two-time All-American in the 1650-yard freestyle and became the first Yellow Jacket to qualify for the NCAA Championship meet in four consecutive seasons under Wilson's guidance.

In his first season as head coach in 2005-06, Wilson led the Jackets to their fourth straight top-five finish in the ACC, tallying a fourth-place finish at the 2006 ACC Championships, in College Park, Md. Tech boasted one ACC champion and Morgan garnered all-conference honors in the mile for the second straight season.

Wilson helped the Yellow Jacket men to four consecutive top-35 finishes at the NCAA Championships, posting a 33rd-place finish at the 2006 Men's NCAA Championships, hosted by Georgia Tech.

Tech sent four swimmers to the 2005 NCAA Championships, the second most in school history, and five of the seven All-America honors earned by Yellow Jackets have come during Wilson's tenure.

Former Tech standout Shilo Ayalon and Morgan both garnered All-America honors under Wilson's tutelage. Ayalon holds four school records and was named ACC Most Valuable Performer at the 2003 ACC Championships.

In 2006, Rob Miller, Morgan and Elizabeth Stowe all qualified for the NCAA Championships under Wilson's guidance. Morgan won his first ACC title in the men's 1650-yard freestyle and Miller finished fifth. Stowe posted a third-place finish in the women's 1650 free to earn All-ACC honors. All three clocked lifetime-best times in their respective events for Yellow Jackets.

Prior to joining the Yellow Jacket staff in 2002, Wilson spent 11 years with nationally-prominent club team Swim Atlanta from 1990-2001, serving as the team's Head Senior Coach for his last four seasons there. In this position, he planned and implemented strength and conditioning programs for swimmers age 13-and-over. He also handled administrative duties, including fundraising, travel arrangements, public relations and record-keeping. He worked as a head age group coach with Swim Atlanta from 1990-98.

Wilson coached several successful swimmers at Swim Atlanta, including 2004 U.S. Olympian Amanda Weir, who set national age-group records (11-12 and 13-14) in the 50 free. Additionally, he mentored swimmers that posted more than 50 national top-16 age-group performances.

As an athlete, Wilson competed at the University of Georgia from 1984-88, reaching the finals of the SEC Championships in the 200 and 500 free in each of his last three seasons. He was an NCAA qualifier in the 400 free relay and held the school record in the 200 free at one time. Wilson also qualified for U.S. Nationals in his final six seasons of competitive swimming.

A native of Atlanta, Wilson, 42, graduated from Georgia with a Bachelor of Arts in Economics in 1989.
John Ames
Diving Coach
7th Season
Ohio, 1993

John Ames is in his seventh season as diving coach for the Yellow Jacket swimming and diving program.

Under his tutelage, Evan Stowers became the first Tech diver to qualify for the NCAA Championships in 2006. In his 7th season, Georgia Tech Aquatic Center, Stowers again made history by finishing seventh on the men's platform, becoming the first Tech diver to garner All-America honors.

In 2007, Stowers returned to the NCAA Championships, earning All-America honors for the second consecutive season.

At the 2006 ACC Championships, Stowers became just the second GT diver, first under Ames, to win an ACC championship, capturing the men's three-meter springboard. He also became the first diver to earn All-ACC honors on both springboards.

Sophomore Stephanie England finaled on the women's three-meter board for the second consecutive season, finishing in sixth place for the Jackets. She went on to finish sixth on the platform at the NCAA Zone diving meet.

Besides Stowers, two other Tech divers have garnered all-conference honors under Ames' guidance. Former men's diving standout Paul McCarty (2001-04) earned All-ACC honors on the one-meter springboard in 2002, while current diver Tony Burkhardt accomplished that same feat at the '05 ACC Championships.

Another piece of history was made for the Yellow Jackets in 2006. A total of six divers qualified for the NCAA Zone Diving Championships; Michael Bennett, Burkhardt, Peter Doblar, England, Laurissa Prystaj and Stowers.

In 2005, the women's diving program took its next step at the ACC Championships, as Junior Laurissa Prystaj and England both finaled on the three-meter board, making it the highest scoring event for Tech in women's diving history.

Along with his coaching duties at Tech, Ames also mentors the Atlanta Diving Association, which has quickly become the top United States Diving program in Atlanta, as well as one of the top programs in the state of Georgia.

Hired in August 2001, Ames came to Tech from George Washington University and the Montgomery Dive Club, one of the largest diving programs in the nation.

With Montgomery, Ames served as the team's associate head coach. He coached multiple Junior and Senior National qualifiers, as well as a number of Junior World Championship qualifiers. His duties with team included selection of team members, designing workouts and coaching and preparing the team for competition.

In his six season at George Washington, he guided the Colonials to numerous upper-tier Atlantic 10 Conference finishes, with both the men's and women's teams finishing as high as second. He also coached several NCAA Zone Diving Championships qualifiers.

Prior to his stint with Montgomery and George Washington, Ames served as an assistant coach with the Northern Virginia Dive Club. He also worked as a graduate assistant and diving coach at Western Illinois University.

Ames graduated from Ohio University in 1993 with a bachelor's degree in psychology after completing his collegiate diving career with the Bobcats. He earned a Master of Science degree in sport administration while at Western Illinois.

Marty Hamburger
Assistant Coach
3rd Season
Iowa, 1991

Marty Hamburger enters his third season as assistant coach at Georgia Tech. Hamburger serves as the men's recruiting coordinator for the Yellow Jackets, along with working primarily with the sprint group.

Last season, Hamburger helped freshman Agatha Kwasnik to one of the best seasons ever by a Tech women.

Kwasnik broke the school record in the 100 freestyle and holds a position in the top five of the 50 free, 200 free and 100 breaststroke.

Under Hamburger's tutelage, Noah Copeland broke the school record in the 200 freestyle. He also helped Ryan Bishop to an All-ACC finish and an NCAA 'B' cut in the 400 IM.

During his first season, Hamburger guided Bishop and Alex Williams to NCAA 'B' qualifying standards.

Bishop clocked NCAA 'B' cut times in the 200 IM and 400 IM events for the Jackets. He also qualified for the championship finals of the 200 IM, 400 IM and 200 freestyle for Tech at the ACC Championships.

Williams posted a personal-best and first ever NCAA 'B' standard in the 100 breast at the ACC meet, finishing a career-best fifth in the finals.

Hamburger worked with the Dynamo Swim Club from 1999-2004, charged with all aspects of daily operations, administration and marketing for the Masters program. While at Dynamo, Hamburger produced over 100 nationally-ranked, national champion and All-America swimmers, four World record holders and five American record holders.

Along with working with the Dynamo Swim Club, Hamburger also assisted with three-time defending NCAA men's national champion Auburn and its Tiger Masters Swim Camp from 2000-04. He was part of the development of Master swimmers, covering topics of race strategy and developing a successful lifestyle as a competitive athlete.

Hamburger has also worked with U.S. Olympic coaches Eddie Reese and Mark Schubert at the Texas Longhorn Swim Camps in Austin, prior to coming to Tech.

Hamburger, a native of Fort Dodge, Iowa, graduated from the University of Iowa with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1991. He resides in Decatur with his wife, Amanda Johnson and two sons: three-year old Ellis, and newborn Reese.

Courtney Shealy Hart
Assistant Coach
1st Season
Georgia, 2005

Courtney Shealy Hart, a two-time Olympic gold medalist, enters her first season as assistant coach at Georgia Tech. Hart spent one season as an assistant coach at North Florida. There she helped guide the team to a fifth-place finish at the Pacific Coast Swimming Conference Championships and led nine individuals to top 16 finishes at the meet. Hart guided one athlete to a top-eight finish in the conference championship.

Before heading into the coaching scene, Hart participated in the 2000 Summer Olympic Games for the United States. She took home a pair of gold medals in Sydney, Australia, in the 400-meter medley and 400-meter freestyle relays for the U.S.

Hart has also competed on the international scene in the Pan-American Games (1999, 2003), Pan Pacific (2002) and the United States World Cup Teams (2000-04).

At the University of Georgia, Hart led the Bulldogs to NCAA Team Championships in 1999 and 2000 as well as being named the 2000 NCAA Female Swimmer of the Year after capturing individual national titles in the 50m free, 100m free and 100m backstroke. She also captured NCAA titles as a member of the 400m free relay and 400m medley relay teams. She finished her NCAA career with 26 All-America honors, plus two more honorable mention honors, tops in UGA history.

She also won nine individual Southeastern Conference titles, 10 SEC relay crowns and set five conference records. Hart was named SEC Female Swimmer of the Year in 2000.

Along with competing in swimming, Hart also played volleyball for the Bulldogs and lettered from 1997-99. She was named team most valuable player in 1998 and was the first NCAA Division I female student-athlete to compete in two sports on the same day, accomplishing that feat three times at Georgia.

After graduating from the University of Georgia in 2001 cum laude with a degree in sports studies/communications, Hart worked as a motivational speaker for the NCAA, Coca-Cola, Healthsouth and Arby's, and served as the director of the Golden West Swim Lessons Program in Huntington Beach, Calif., before heading to North Florida.

Tech Administration

President

Dr. Clough received a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering in 1964 and then added a master of science in civil engineering from the Institute in 1965. He later earned his Ph.D. in 1969 from the University of California at Berkeley.

His leadership continues to make undergraduate education more dynamic. After implementing a required computer initiative for all students, he oversaw the revision of the curriculum to include Web-based enhancements. The next step was a broad initiative to engage students more fully with faculty in the classroom and research lab, expand study abroad programs, and create more student leadership opportunities. The positive impact is reflected in higher quality students and higher retention rates.

Clough's skills as a civil engineer are evident as the campus is reshaped to meet the needs of Tech's world-class programs and students. He has overseen an ambitious $1 billion building program, with the construction of more than a dozen academic and research buildings.

Sponsored research has also increased every year since Clough became president. In the past seven years, research expenditures have increased significantly, doubling over the past decade to $425 million in the past year, as Tech moves into exciting interdisciplinary fields like bioengineering, sustainable technology, and nanoscience.

Outside of the Tech campus, Clough is also recognized as a leader. He gives Georgia Tech a voice in Washington, D.C., as the only person to serve on both the National Science Board and the President’s Council on Science and Technology (PCAST).

The chief engineer of Georgia Tech's effort to leverage the opportunities inherent in economic, cultural, social and technological transitions, Dr. G. Wayne Clough is the Institute’s tenth president and the first alumnus to serve as president.

Now entering his second year as Georgia Tech’s Director of Athletics, Dan Radakovich has brought a new vision for excellence to the Yellow Jackets’ storied athletics tradition.

His first year at Tech has seen many successes by the Yellow Jackets’ teams. Tech's women's tennis team captured the Institute's first-ever NCAA championship in 2007 and its third straight Atlantic Coast Conference title. The football team won the ACC Coastal Division and went to its 10th straight bowl game, while the men's basketball team earned its third NCAA Tournament bid in the last four years, the women's basketball team posted its finest season ever with 21 wins and a berth in the NCAA Tournament, and the golf team won a share of the ACC title for the second straight year.

Outside the competition venues, many projects are underway, including an overhaul of the annual giving and donation structure for Tech athletics, anchored by the new TECH Fund, which establishes minimum giving levels tied to season tickets in various seating areas at Georgia Tech’s historic football stadium. Also in the planning stages are a new stadium for Tech’s softball team, which will be located next to the O’Keefe building and open in 2009, as well as a transformation of Tech’s former football locker room on the ground floor of the Griffith Building into a new Technology Center facility to benefit academic support services for Yellow Jacket student-athletes.

Named Georgia Tech’s Director of Athletics on February 22, 2006, Radakovich possesses nearly two decades of experience in collegiate athletics management positions. He came to Georgia Tech after five years as senior associate athletics director at Louisiana State (2001-06), and he previously served as the athletics director at American University in Washington, D.C., in 2000-01. That followed stints as associate athletics director at South Carolina (1994-2000) and Long Beach State (1989-94) as well as two years as the athletics business manager at Miami (1983-85).

Just the seventh Director of Athletics in Tech history, Radakovich was named by Institute President Dr. Wayne Clough to succeed Dave Braine, who retired after nearly nine years in the post. Radakovich also follows in the footsteps of storied names such as John Heisman, Bobby Dodd and Homer Rice.

“Dan Radakovich brings a unique combination of enthusiasm for sports, concern for student athletes, experience in athletic administration, business experience and communication skills that are needed in today’s complex world of intercollegiate athletics,” said Dr. Clough.

In his position at LSU, Radakovich was responsible for the day-to-day operation of an athletics program with an annual budget of more than $50 million, encompassing 20 sports and more than 450 student-athletes. He directly supervised LSU’s men’s basketball and baseball programs.

Early in his tenure, Radakovich was instrumental in developing LSU’s football ticket donation program which resulted in more than $9 million in new annual revenue. He also participated with the Tiger Athletic Foundation in the most ambitious capital improvement initiative in school history, including a $90 million renovation of the Tigers’ historic football stadium.

LSU athletics reached unparalleled heights during his tenure, highlighted by the 2003 national championship in football and the basketball team's birth in the 2006 NCAA Final Four, as well as national titles in men’s and women’s track and field and top five national rankings in baseball, women’s basketball, softball and gymnastics.

As associate athletics director at South Carolina, Radakovich directed financial operations for a $30 million athletics budget.

At Long Beach State, where he served as senior associate athletics director from 1989-94, Radakovich managed a $5 million budget and supervised the men’s basketball and baseball programs.

Radakovich began his career in athletics administration as the athletics business manager at Miami from 1983-85. He then worked in the private sector for four years before moving to Long Beach State in 1989.

A graduate of Center High School near Aliquippa, Pa., and a member of its Alumni Hall of Fame, Radakovich, 49, became a football letterwinner and student coach at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated in 1980 with a bachelor of science degree in finance. He added a master’s degree in business administration from Miami in 1982. He also completed the Sports Management Institute’s executive education program in 1992.

He is married to the former Marcie McDonald, and the couple has two children, Christian, 17, and Grant, 13.
Theresa Wenzel enters her second season as an Assistant Director of Athletics and the Senior Woman Administrator at Georgia Tech. Wenzel was named to these posts on July 6, 2006. She oversees women's basketball, volleyball, softball, golf, men's and women's tennis, men's and women's track & field, men's and women's cross country and the men's and women's swimming & diving teams in her role.

Wenzel is the athletic department non-academic liaison to the Office of Student Affairs. She also is a member of various committees including the Georgia Tech Women's Resource Center Advisory Board, the Title IX Compliance Committee, the GTAA Compliance and Equity Committee, the NCAA Athletic Certification Steering Committee, the ACC Student Athlete Welfare Committee and the ACC Women's Basketball Committee.

Wenzel possesses a wide range of experience in athletic administration and coaching. She joined the Georgia Tech Athletic Association staff in October of 2005 after an eight-year stint at Siena College, where she served as Assistant and then Associate Athletics Director of business operations while also coaching the women's golf team.

Wenzel originally went to Siena in 1997 and spent one year as the school's intramural director and assistant facilities director. She was named Assistant Athletic Director for business operations and head women's golf coach in 1998. In seven seasons as head golf coach, Wenzel led the Saints to five consecutive Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference titles from 2001-2005. She relinquished her coaching duties following the 2005 season, when she was promoted to Associate Athletics Director.

Wenzel spent three years (1994-97) as an assistant women's basketball coach at Canisius College in Buffalo, N.Y., and she also served an internship with the National Invitational Tournament.

A basketball letterwinner at Marquette University, Wenzel earned a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration from Marquette in 1991. She added a master's degree in sport administration from Canisius in 2000.

Ivery was a four-year letterwinner for the Spartanburg Summer League Swim Team from 1974-78. He continues to hold the record for most rushing yards in a game (356) and season (1,562) and earned All-America honors in 1978. He currently stands third on the all-time rushing list at Tech and was a first round draft pick (15th overall) by the Green Bay Packers in 1979, playing 10 seasons in the NFL.

Outlook

With another season behind it, Georgia Tech swimming and diving head coach Stu Wilson and his staff have witnessed continued growth in the men's and women's programs over the past year.

There is nothing that says 2007-08 will be any different for the two teams. The men return 20 members including senior captains Jason Bourgeois and Onur Uras, while the women will have 14 returnees on the roster, led by captains senior Elizabeth Stowe and sophomore Agatha Kwasnik.

“Our team received a boost with the transfer of Mickey Malul, who is seventh in the world in the breaststroke. He should help us in the relays with his tremendous skills,” added Wilson. “He will lead a great group of young guys that have a lot of talent, but just lack collegiate experience.”

“The women's team has 10 newcomers including Christine Chuang and Thea Kromer, who will definitely help the women's team right away. Michele Bertolino will be a great addition to our diving program.”

Last season, the Jackets watched numerous men's and women's records fall, led by Copeland on men's team, who broke the 200 freestyle record with a time of 1:36.92. The men also watched the 200 free relay team come away with a new school record in a time of 1:20.35. On the women's side, Kwasnik made a name for herself by entering the record books in numerous events including a school-best time of 51.48 in the 100 freestyle.

Now the coaches hope to see these kinds of results at the national level.

“My coaching staff and I are focusing on what we can do to get as many student-athletes to the NCAA Championships,” Wilson continued. “During the season, I just want to get these athletes to swim fast. I just want them to be mentally up to the challenges that lie ahead. The biggest goal is to just get as many to the NCAA’s and have a top-30 score.”

With the off-season addition of assistant coach Courtney Shealy Hart, a two-time Olympic gold medalist, Wilson’s dream looks like it could become a reality. Hart has begun to bring a new attitude to the athletes surrounding the program.

“From the first day that she (Hart) started at Tech, you could tell the environment has changed,” Wilson said. “Her experience just really helps this program understand what it takes to become a champion. She has really helped the women’s side, just opening those athletes' eyes. They can see that she got there because she works real hard. Courtney has just brought a real fire to this program.”

The Jackets will get plenty of chances to show off their new look this season. The team is scheduled to host six meets at the Georgia Tech Aquatic Center including both the 2008 Men's and Women's ACC Swimming and Diving Championships. Besides all the ACC schools, Tech will also host Georgia, Alabama and Vanderbilt from the Southeastern Conference along with Western Kentucky Emory and Florida Atlantic.

“I think it will be a big home advantage when we host the ACC Championships in our pool,” Wilson acknowledged. “We know the different nuances that come with this pool and it could help us out. It is just an honor to host this event in front of all our fans. I know the other teams are excited to come in here and swim. It is just going to be a great year at the Georgia Tech Aquatic Center.”
The Atlantic Coast Conference

The Tradition

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today’s intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 55th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league’s inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 105 national championships, including 56 in women’s competition and 49 in men’s. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 139 times in men’s competition and 86 times in women’s action.

The 2006-07 academic year concluded with league teams capturing five national team titles and 24 individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 39 national team titles over the last 11 years. The ACC has won two or more NCAA titles in 25 of the past 27 years.

A total of 137 ACC teams placed in NCAA post-season competition in 2006-07. League teams compiled a 109-70-7 (.605) mark against non-conference opponents in NCAA championship competition. In addition, the ACC had 181 student-athletes earn first team All-America honors this past year. Overall, the league had 250 first, second or third team All-Americans. In addition, the ACC produced nine national Player of the Year and six national Coach of the Year honorees.

The Championships

The conference will conduct championship competition in 24 sports during the 2007-08 academic year - 12 for men and 12 for women.

The first ACC championship was held in swimming on February 25, 1954. The conference did not conduct championships in cross country, wrestling or tennis during the first year.

The 12 sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse. Fencing, which was started in 1971, was discontinued in 1981.

Women’s sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship meet being held in tennis at Wake Forest University.

Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, field hockey, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing.

A History

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members - Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest - drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference’s annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region’s newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid South, Mid Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke’s Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league’s eighth member. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league’s 12th member starting July 1, 2005.

GEORGIA TECH SWIMMING & DIVING
History

EARLY YEARS

Georgia Tech first fielded a swim team in 1918-19, when the first tryout was held at the city Y.M.C.A. and about 60 men came out. According to the Blueprint, the fledgling squad featured “some of the fastest water splashing that the South has ever turned out and one that would make any Eastern college hustle to beat.” The team was captained by G.R. Fraser, described as the best swimmer in the South and holder of the Southern record.

Tech's first swim meet was on the road against the Clemson Tigers. In addition to Fraser, the first Tech team included Weiss, Scott, Carson, Evans and Owens, who returned with a 50 to 19 victory. Fraser swam the 220 yards in 2:50.00, cutting four seconds off his own Southern record.

The program enjoyed success against Southern competition throughout the 1920s. In 1927, Tech defeated all Southern opposition and made a good showing against two strong eastern teams. The Jackets broke into prominence by forcing the famous Brooklyn Y team to the limit, but fell 46 to 16. Two days later, Yale handed the Jackets the short end of a 46 to 16 score.

In 2003-04, the Yellow Jackets gave birth to a brand new renovated Georgia Tech Aquatic Center. Tech opened the birth to a brand new renovated Georgia Jackets the short end of a 46 to 16 score. Tech opened the

EARLY CHAMPIONS

The Yellow Jacket tankmen, despite the lack of an on-campus facility, won 10-straight unofficial Southern championships from 1926-35.

In 1927, Dave Young tied the national intercollegiate record in the 150-yard backstroke in 1:43.20.

Representing Tech in the national intercollegiate, Young set a new record of 1:46.10 seconds and in the finals established a new record of 1:44.00, finishing four seconds ahead of Spindle of Michigan to win Tech's only national championship in swimming. He also earned All-America honors with a second-place finish in the 220-yard free style.

KENNETH THRASH, SR. (1932-35)

After playing football at Tech, Kenneth Thrash, Sr., took over the swimming reigns and led the Jackets to four straight Southern Conference Championships from 1932-35.

Almost as impressive as five consecutive conference titles, Thrash only tasted defeat once in dual meets, finishing with an astonishing record of 24-1. His winning percentage of .960 is the best all-time in school history. As a former football player for the Rambling Wreck (1926-28), Thrash helped the Yellow Jackets win two conference titles (1927-28) and a national championship in 1928.

FRED LANOUE (1936-64)

Fred Lanoue, a graduate of Springfield College and former New England diving champion, began working with the Tech swimmers in 1936 and became the Yellow Jackets' full-time head coach in 1938 when the Tech pool was completed.

Under Lanoue's guidance, Tech won four Southeastern Conference championships in nine years, the first in 1942 and then three in a row in 1948, 1949 and 1950. Lanoue coached the Jackets for 27 years, stepping down after the 1964 season.

HERB MCAULEY (1965-87)

The star of the 1942 SEC championship squad was Herb McAuley, who won the SEC 220 and 440 freestyle championships that year.

McAuley had his schooling interrupted by World War II, serving in the Army Signal Corps before graduating from Tech with a degree in electrical engineering in 1947. Upon graduation he joined the Yellow Jacket staff as assistant coach under Lanoue, a position he held for 17 years.

McAuley succeeded Lanoue as head coach for the 1965 season. He coached the Jackets for 23 seasons, compiling a record of 169-144-1. He was inducted into the Georgia Tech Hall of Fame in 1982. Under McAuley, Tech competed in its first ACC Championships meet in 1980. The program took a one-year hiatus upon McAuley's retirement in 1987, which signaled the end of a 40-year stint on the Tech coaching staff.

BRAD LEHMAN (1989-91)

The swimming program resumed under Brad Lehman in 1988-89. In Lehman's first year, senior Tim Halligan earned All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors following his second-place finish in the 200 butterfly. Halligan qualified for the NCAA Championships in the event, finishing 21st.

Lehman coached the team for three seasons, amassing an overall record of 19-13.

BILL HUMBER (1992-97)

Bill Humber took over the Tech program in 1991-92. In 1993, he guided the Jackets to their then-best showing at the ACC Championships with a sixth-place finish and a then school-record point total of 198.

In 1994, diver Brandon Lumm won the first ACC championship in the program's history with his victory in the three-meter event. He earned All-ACC recognition that year and qualified for Bill Humber tallied a dual meet record of 38-45 during his six-year tenure at Georgia Tech.

SETH BARON (1998-2005)

In August 1997, Tech hired Seth Baron to take the helm of the men's swimming and diving program. The Jackets' women's program debuted in 2001-02, and Baron now pilots the combined program. Baron, formerly an assistant coach at South Carolina and Auburn, also previously worked with the U.S. National Swim Team and was the head coach for the U.S. squad at the 1997 and 2001 World Maccabiah Games in Tel Aviv, Israel.

Under Baron’s direction, the Tech men finished in the top five at the ACC Championships in five consecutive seasons, including a third-place finish in his final season as head coach in 2005. Tech finished 32nd at the 2005 NCAA Championships, cracking the Top 35 for the fifth straight year.
In just four seasons of existence, the women’s program tallied a 33rd-place finish at the 2004 NCAA Championships and crowned its first All-American in Vesna Stojanovska. The Jackets posted three consecutive sixth-place finishes at the ACC meet, tallying a program-best 286.5 points last season. The Jackets also qualified two swimmers for the 2005 NCAA Championships for the first time in program history; Stojanovska and freshman Elizabeth Stowe.

Stojanovska advanced to her second straight NCAA meet in 2005, after becoming the first women’s athlete to win an ACC title, doing so in the 200 fly. Stowe garnered All-ACC honors in the mile, making her and Stojanovska the first all-conference tandem at a conference championship.

Along with collegiate accomplishments, the Tech combined program witnessed its first two Olympians in 2004 as Stojanovska (Macedonia) and incoming freshman Onur Uras (Turkey) competed at the Summer Olympics in Athens, Greece. Joining them in Athens were former men’s swimming standouts Leo Salinas (Mexico) and volunteer assistant coach Jorge Oliver (Puerto Rico).

Tech recorded its most successful season to date in 2001-02. Tech’s men tallied 580.5 points to finish a program-best second at the ACC Championships, as a record five Jackets earned All-ACC honors. Tech also placed 27th at the NCAA Championships, led by Shilo Ayalon’s eighth-place finish in the 1650 free. He earned All-America accolades for the second consecutive season.

In 2000-01, the Yellow Jackets placed third at the ACC Championships, scoring 434.50 points. Four swimmers earned All-ACC accolades: Ayalon, David Laitala, Scott Lenyk and Tomonori Tsuji.

Tech also scored its first points in NCAA competition in 2001. Ayalon placed 11th in the 1650 free, while Tsuji finished 13th in the 200 breast to become the program’s first All-Americans.

The Jackets went 11-3 in dual-meet competition, and 16 school records were established, led by Ayalon’s four marks.

In 2000, Baron and the Yellow Jackets finished the regular season with a 5-6 dual-meet record. Laitala became the first Yellow Jacket swimmer in 11 years to earn All-ACC recognition, placing second in the 100 butterfly at the ACC Championships. In his first season at Tech, Baron guided the team to a 4-7 dual-meet record and a seventh-place finish in the ACC Championships.

As an athlete, Baron also competed for the U.S. National Team, winning 10 gold medals in international competitions, including the 1985 World Maccabiah Games and the 1983 Pan Am Maccabiah Games in Sao Paulo, Brazil. He participated in the U.S. Olympic Trials in 1984 and qualified for the 1988 Trials.

Stu Wilson
(2005-PRESENT)

Stu Wilson became the 14th head coach in swimming and diving history in 2005 and helped lead the Yellow Jackets to their sixth consecutive top-35 finish at the Men’s NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships. The Jackets hosted the national championship event in the Georgia Tech Aquatic Center.

The men finished fourth at the 2005 ACC Championships, tallying a top-five finish for the sixth straight season.

Wilson led Sam Morgan to his fourth straight NCAA Championship in the distance events for Tech.

In his three years as an assistant coach with the Tech program, Wilson has guided four swimmers to the NCAA Championships and tutored two Atlantic Coast Conference champions in the distance events.

Tech sent four swimmers to the 2005 NCAA Championships, the second most in school history, and four of the six All-America honors earned by Yellow Jackets have come during Wilson’s tenure.

Former Tech standout Shilo Ayalon and Morgan both garnered All-America honors under Wilson’s tutelage. Ayalon holds four school records and was named ACC Most Valuable Performer at the 2003 ACC Championships.

In 2006, Rob Miller, Morgan and Elizabeth Stowe all qualified for the NCAA Championships under Wilson’s guidance. Morgan won his first ACC title in the men’s 1650-yard freestyle and Miller finished fifth. Stowe posted a third-place finish in the women’s 1650 free to earn All-ACC honors. All three clocked lifetime-best times in their respective events for Yellow Jackets.

Prior to joining the Yellow Jacket staff in 2002, Wilson spent 11 years with nationally-prominent club team Swim Atlanta from 1990-2001, serving as the team’s Head Senior Coach for his last four seasons there. In this position, he planned and implemented strength and conditioning programs for swimmers age 13-and-over. He also handled administrative duties, including fundraising, travel arrangements, public relations and record-keeping. He worked as a head age group coach with Swim Atlanta from 1990-98.

Wilson coached several successful swimmers at Swim Atlanta, including 2004 U.S. Olympian Amanda Weir, who set national age-group records (11-12 and 13-14) in the 50 free. Additionally, he mentored swimmers that posted more than 50 national top-16 age-group performances.

As an athlete, Wilson competed at the University of Georgia from 1984-88, reaching the finals of the SEC Championships in the 200 and 500 free in each of his last three seasons. He was an NCAA qualifier in the 400 free relay and held the school record in the 200 free at one time. Wilson also qualified for U.S. Nationals in his final six seasons of competitive swimming.

Georgia Tech Aquatic Center

The home of the Yellow Jacket swimming and diving program is the Georgia Tech Aquatic Center (GTAC), located on the west side of campus as the foundation of the Campus Recreation Center (CRC).

The facility was the site of all swimming, diving and synchronized swimming competition as well as the swimming portion of the modern pentathlon during the Centennial Olympic Games in the summer of 1996.

Along with hosting the '96 Olympics, the GTAC played host to the 2005 Men’s and Women’s Atlantic Coast Conference Swimming and Diving Championships, Feb. 16-19, and Feb. 23-26, and 2005 NCAA Zone Diving Championships.

Tech will once again play host to both the men’s and women’s ACC Championships in 2008.

The Jackets posted a third-place finish during the men’s ACC meet, marking the second highest finish in program history, falling behind the second-place finish in 2001.

The Yellow Jackets served as the host of the 2006 Men’s NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships, March 23-25. The GTAC set a modern day record for attendance, bringing in more than 10,000 fans to watch the spectacle.

In front of the home crowd, Tech’s Evan Stowers tallied the highest diver finish during the men’s ACC meet, marking the second highest finish in program history, falling behind the second-place finish in 2001.

The Jackets opened the newly-enclosed GTAC in 2003-04, as they hosted NC State on Oct. 25, 2003. Tech went on to host 11 meets in the top-of-the-line facility during the 2004-05 season, including the ACC Championships and NCAA Zone Diving Championships.

In 2005-06, Tech welcomed 23 teams in the GTAC, before the men’s national championship meet.

The GTAA provides the Yellow Jackets with a world-class venue for aquatic sports and serves as an important element of the physical legacy of the Games, enhancing the activities Georgia Tech can offer its students for years to come.

The competition pool is 50 meters by 10 lanes, with two movable bulkheads so that courses can be set up for 25 yards, 25 meters or 30 meters for water polo. It also features a movable floor which can be set from zero depth to seven feet, eight inches.

The dive pool features one- and three-meter springboards plus one-, three-, five-, seven-and-a-half- and 10-meter platforms, as well as a Spargar system that sends a mass of bubbles from the bottom of the tank to ease entry into the water.

During the Olympic Games, the GTAC also included a temporary water polo pool with a seating capacity of 4,000. It was used for all competition except the finals, which were held in the main pool.

The original $21 million facility was funded entirely by the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games (ACOG). Construction of the facility began in July 1994 and was completed in time to host the VIIth Synchronized Swimming World Cup in August 1995. The newly-renovated enclosure of the GTAC is part of an over $45 million expansion to the CRC.

Other test events held at the facility included the Nations Bank Pan Pacific Swimming Championships, the IXth Diving World Cup and the IXth Water Polo World Cup.

Georgia Tech continues to reap the benefits of a world-class aquatic facility for use by the Rambling Wreck swimming and diving program as well as the student body. Tech held its first meet in the aquatic center on Oct. 5, 1995, hosting Emory.

"The Georgia Tech Aquatic Center is a beautiful facility, which I think is one of the best in the country," said Wilson. "It gives our athletes an opportunity to train in an Olympic pool on a regular basis and state-of-the-art equipment.

"Swimmers have their own lockers, team room, computer lab and entertainment center where they can watch their swims from previous swim meets or just relax.

"Our athletes have all the resources needed to be successful, in and out of the classroom here at Georgia Tech."
