Beacons of the sky

Between Cleveland and Rock Springs, Wyo., along the night route of the air mail service, tall beacons have been placed every twenty-five miles.

Revolving on great steel towers, General Electric searchlights, totaling 1,992,000,000 candle-power, blaze a path of light for the airplane pilot.

What the lighthouse is to the ocean navigator, these beacons are to the conquerors of the air.

This achievement has been made possible by engineers of the Illuminating Engineering Laboratories of the General Electric Company, working with officials of the Post Office Department. A startling achievement now will be a commonplace of life in the new America which you will inherit.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK
Praise Where Praise Is Due

Upon the return of Dr. Crenshaw, Professor Armstrong and Coach Alexander from their attendance at the Southern Inter-Collegiate Conference meetings held in New Orleans late in December, these gentlemen requested the "Alumnus" to publish their most gracious thanks to the New Orleans Tech Club, individually and collectively, for the genuine hospitality and loyal reception tendered them.

At the time, our January copy had gone in to the printers; in the subsequent February issue, it was of immediate and vital importance to publish certain differences on our opening page and as the thanks in question and many more besides, to the other clubs, as well, warranted our title page, we have delayed a little, it is true, to give praise where praise is due, but we want to do that now and in its rightful place.

For their many hospitalities, every kindness and true loyalty, personal sacrifices, steadfast backing through thick and thin, minute attention to even the smallest detail, "honest-to-goodness" hard mental and physical labor at times and never failing financial aid when appealed to, let us say now and for always that there is no greater body of alumni anywhere than our Georgia Tech men everywhere, when they are appealed to or feel themselves called upon "to deliver the goods." We aren't making any appeal now or are we going to any time soon, so far as we know; this article merely intends to state what its title indicates and that goes for all of the Tech Clubs in all of the cities and to all Tech men far and near.

From the times that our first teams, perhaps timidly, ventured forth outside of Atlanta's city limits, or when its first band of songsters stepped upon a foreign stage with quaking voices, no doubt, and knocking knees, to the great days of our northern invasions and later day achievements in our many activities down to the very present, you have all been behind the banner of the old Gold and White, whether a graduate or not; you have turned out in force to welcome and to make enjoyable the visits of the president of your alma mater, its athletic representatives, your alumni officials, the various teams in the different branches of sports and their individual members, its glee club, the band, the dramatic clubs, "engineering orators" and all—and you have supported your losers with even more spirit than your victors!

As a school and as individuals thereof, we have tried to express to you in some way from time to time just how all of us have felt toward our alumni for their many big things that have come from their many big hearts, and if we are late in trying to say it again and all at once to the four thousand or more of you whom we reach in this manner and to the many thousand more whom we can't reach for lack of addresses, we want to say that we are trying to tell you now, and if we seem to be "laying it on thick," it isn't half thick enough.

We have made and will make our mistakes, all of us have our faults, but like all loyal sons, we have overlooked each other's short comings and have borne on cheerfully and gloriously for the cause.

Pittsburgh, New York, Washington, Annapolis and its environs, Southbend and the cities thereabouts, Charlotte—

"Organization of the Georgia Tech alumni with Rogers W. Davis as president and J. P. Kidd as secretary, was effected on the night of February 17, at the Southern Manufacturers club under the name of the Charlotte-Georgia Tech Club, to which is eligible any Georgia Tech man who cares to join, whether a resident of Charlotte or not.

There were something like 60 men present when Mr. Davis called the meeting to order and in the absence of a minister pronounced a blessing upon the meal and the gathering.

The dinner rolled along smoothly enough except for members of the basketball team who had very light eatings, indeed, as compared to the other men who suffered from no such handicap.

Mr. Davis called upon Tom Fuller, class of '05, to introduce the boys from out-of-town. Captain Fred Moore, '24, of the football team and present leader of the basketball team, spoke briefly, as did Bailey Groome, sports editor of The Observer, who commended the Tech boys on their spirit of battle when engaged in athletic contests.

Coach Hansen spoke of the need for the alumni so to conduct themselves as to impress good athletic material with the value of Georgia Tech, saying: "If none of the other schools were making special efforts to induce good men to attend, everything would be on a plane of equal competition; but you may be sure the alumni of other institutions are working on promising material, so Tech alumni should become interested also."

The toastmaster had members of the team to stand so that all present could see them, and he then introduced the boys to the gathering. Wycoff and Barron, brother of the famous Red Barron, were two whose names were perhaps more familiar than any of the others.

Songs and yells took prominent place for a time and afterwards the Georgia Tech club of Charlotte was formed with Rogers W. Davis, president, and J. P. Kidd, secretary, they and the following three to be the executive committee: T. M. Barnhardt, Jr., W. W. Moore and Thomas Fuller.

The meeting was adjourned and the diners attended the Davidson-Tech game in a body."—(Charlotte Observer).

Manager Walt Godwin of the basketball team, Coach Hansen, and the members of the squad are all of one mind in praising the Charlotte Alumni who backed their team to the last, although it was torn by faculty rulings and hard traveling.
Baseball Card Formidable—Four With Georgia

With the recent addition of "Goat" Cochran, amateur and semi-professional pitcher of Atlanta to his baseball staff, Coach Robert Alva Clay is out for the bacon this season. Cochran is taking the place of Dad Amis, who assumed the office of head coach at Howard-Payne college in September. In securing Cochran, Tech added one of the best baseball men in this section to their coaching staff. He is well versed in every phase of the summer pastime and is one of the most popular ballplayers around this section.

The card closes with a series of four games with Georgia, two in Athens and two in Atlanta. In addition to the games with the other Southern colleges, the team plays two games each in Atlanta with Dartmouth and Notre Dame, respectively. You'll see Tech in some real games this year and we are expecting you to come out and help the boys put over a mighty hard schedule, as follows:

March 20—Clemson, Atlanta.
March 21—Clemson, Atlanta.
March 27—Furman, Atlanta.
March 28—Furman, Atlanta.
April 3—Dartmouth, Atlanta.
April 4—Dartmouth, Atlanta.
April 10—Notre Dame, Atlanta.
April 11—Notre Dame, Atlanta.
April 15—Maryland, Atlanta.
April 17—Alabama, Tuscaloosa.
April 18—Alabama, Tuscaloosa.
April 22—Oglethorpe, Atlanta.
April 23—Oglethorpe, Atlanta.
April 24—Auburn, Atlanta.
April 25—Auburn, Auburn.
April 27—Tennessee, Knoxville.
April 29—Kentucky, Lexington.
April 30—Kentucky, Lexington.
May 1—Vanderbilt, Nashville.
May 2—Vanderbilt, Nashville.
May 8—Georgia.
May 9—Georgia.
May 15—Georgia.
May 16—Georgia.

A successful season will depend on many things, chief of which will be the pitching staff. If this department can come through they will have a fine season. The Jackets have a flock of players considered real hitters in college ball and the offensive power of the team should be far above the average.

Doug Wycoff, Tom Angley, Captain Joe Palmisano, Gus Merkle, Silo Jones, Bob Reeves and Skinny Denicke all bat well over the three hundred mark and will give the Jackets a hitting lineup that will be feared by all college pitchers.

Behind the plate they will have a smart young man in Captain Palmisano, who has been one of the outstanding amateur ball players in the south, and his hitting and fielding have been features of practically every game in which he has participated. Two years ago he hit for an average of .355, while last year he was again well over the .300 mark.

Scrup Enloe is the only real veteran twirler back, but Johnny Snead has demonstrated that he has the ability. Johnny Conn is expected to be the real find of the season. He was held in check last spring, but last summer he simply had them eating from his glove. Johnny has plenty of stuff and uses his head to advantage.

Doug Wycoff at first, Skinny Denicke at second, and Bob Reeves at short will leave little worry about the infield. Dynamite Wilder and Bob Moreland will fight it out for Former Captain Baum’s position at third.

The outfield looks to be well fortified with such hitters as Gus Merkle, Tom Angley, Silo Jones and Shine Morgan. All of these with the exception of Jones are infielders in addition and Kid will have a hard time leaving any of them off the club.
Julius Brown Memorial Hall

Described by Professors Skinner, Bush-Brown and Stowell of Architectural Department
Julius Brown Memorial Hall Under Construction

Plans for the immediate construction of a large dormitory and faculty apartment at Georgia Tech to be known as the Julius Brown Memorial hall were recently consummated by the issuance of a permit in the amount of $80,000 for the work. Dr. M. L. Brittain stated that the entire work probably will cost about $100,000. The building will be located at 101 West North avenue, on the corner of North avenue and Techwood drive, with its longer frontage on Techwood drive.

The apartment will be constructed according to plans drawn by Skinner, Bush-Brown and Stowell, architects. The architects are all members of the faculty of the Department of Architecture of Georgia School of Technology, Professor Skinner being the head of the department. It will be built to correspond with the type of architecture used on the other recent additions to the campus. It is expected that members of the faculty will occupy one-third of the dormitory, the remaining rooms being available for some 96 students, two to a room. Contract for the building was let to the J. S. McCauley Co., of Atlanta.

The building is not a part of the Greater Georgia Tech Campaign but fits in admirably with the expansion plans. It is being put up solely as a sound investment, the revenue of which is to be used for the furtherance and enlargement of a number of the departments at the school in accordance with the will of our benefactor—the man whose name it bears, the Honorable Julius L. Brown.

Grant Field “U” To Be Completed This Summer

Completion of the great stadium out at Grant field was assured Friday afternoon, February 27, when the Georgia Tech Athletic Association accepted the bid of the A. K. Adams Construction Company to erect the south stand. This stand will be the connecting link between the two existing concrete stands, and will represent an outlay of $105,480 in itself.

The “U” will be completed around the first of September and in plenty of time for the football season. The work will be done from the inside, and will not interfere with the baseball or track work this spring.

The concrete stands that were erected on the east side of the field last year seat 12,000 and the old stands on the west side of the field seat 8,000. The new section will seat 11,000 and the temporary stands, when completed only for football will seat 9,000, making a total of 40,000.

J. M. Shelton, Tech ’16, is the architect for the work.

The new stands will encroach on the present cinder track, which will necessitate the latter being shifted down toward the north end. The football field will also be shifted down ten yards, which will place the “E” section just about on a line with the 50-yard line. So when making your plans for seats next year allow for this slight change.

With Georgia, Auburn and Notre Dame as headliners, and Florida, V. M. I., Alabama and Oglethorpe not far behind, the Jackets have one of the best home schedules ever presented. Vanderbilt will be played in Nashville this year, while the Jackets will journey up to New York to play Penn State.

It is interesting to note that out of the six firms bidding on the stadium, three of them were former Tech men. The alumni are usually “in the money”; this time, however, quite a few thousand dollars intervened between their low man and the successful bidder.
A Fine Report from Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27, 1925.

"Georgia Tech Alumnus,"
Mr. R. J. Thiesen, Editor,
Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Sir:

Our little bunch of active Tech men in Washington held its first monthly meeting at the City Club on January 30. Mr. Pope presided over the meeting after we had had a delightful dinner and we were entertained by the reminiscences of "Lob" Brown and T. R. Borders, who attended Tech while some of us were wearing knee pants.

During the course of our meeting we adopted a resolution of sympathy to the bereaved family of Doctor Emerson, and everybody commented on his fruitful career at Tech. We understand that there is a movement on foot to perpetuate his memory by placing an appropriate memorial on the campus. I am sure that some of the members of our club will gladly contribute towards such a laudable undertaking.

Please notify Mrs. Emerson and the family of our action in this matter.

Yours very truly,

ALVA D. ADAMS,
Secretary Washington Tech Club.

This is a dandy report, alumni. Come on, other Tech clubs; send in your reports, we are counting on you! We'll be glad to send you our list of alumni in your cities. (Editor).

WGST Offers Fine Programs—Tune In

We publish herewith the type of program offered to you by your school on every Monday night, from 9 to 10 p.m., C. S. T., and on every Tuesday night, from 7 to 8 p.m., C. S. T., wave length 270 meters. It's a good one—entertaining, instructive and spirited. Broadcasted from a real station, our own, it will reach you. Try it and write in your reception.

The program for the month of March is as follows:

Monday, March 9—"Talk Back Home" hour by Tech students.

Thursday, March 12—Miss Edith Moore, soprano, singing American Folk ballads; Mrs. J. O. Sanders, violin; W. L. Simmons, instructor of English, on the subject, "The American Folk Ballad."

Monday, March 16—Concert by the Georgia Tech Band, directed by Frank Roman, bandmaster.

Thursday, March 19—String quartet W. W. Leffingwell, violin; Mrs. Mary Emma Phillips, violin; Miss Mary Leffingwell, violin; Van Ferguson, violin; T. S. Dunn, professor of geology and metallurgy, on some subject relative to his profession.

Monday, March 23—Marionette Orchestra of the Tech Marionettes.

Thursday, March 26—Program sponsored by Mrs. Chas. Bellingrath, contralto; Hugh Harris Caldwell, registrar of Georgia Tech, on the subject, "Preparation for College Work."

Monday, March 30—Program sponsored by the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity of Georgia Tech. This program is composed of a quartet, a double quartet, and orchestra, band, vocal and piano solos.

The Monday night programs, 9-10 p.m., are furnished by Tech talent—students, faculty and families. There are no talks given on "Tech Night," as these programs are called.

On Thursday nights, 7-8 p.m., we give what we call our "Artist Series" programs. In these we have the best talent that we are able to secure in Atlanta and elsewhere. The short talks which are given, usually by Georgia Tech professors, add the only "Tech" flavor that we give these programs.
Jacket Cagers Lose Road Games

Wycoff Tech's First Four Letter Man

Crippled by the loss of “Skinny” Denicke, crack shot, the Yellow Jacket basketball team lost four games on its recent road trip, one to Mercer Friday night, February 13, 28 to 21, one to Clemson, the following Saturday night, 32 to 20; to N. C. State the succeeding Monday, 35 to 12, and Davidson on Tuesday, 36 to 27. All of these games were close affairs and the Jackets yielded only after a hard fight. Rosser, who filled Skinny’s place on the road trip, continues to get better as the season advances. Too much praise cannot be given him for his splendid floor work in these games. Hall and Moore are also to be commended for their excellent defensive play. The outstanding offensive players on the trip were Wycoff, Wilder and Wilde.

Before the Davidson game the alumni staged a banquet with about a hundred men present in honor of the team, manager and coach, as previously noted in this issue.

It is worth while to note here that with his basketball letter assured, Doug Wycoff becomes the first four letter man in the history of Tech’s organized athletics. Football, baseball, track and basketball have found him a star member of their respective teams. A modest gentleman and a scholar withal—no manlier a chest e’er bore four T’s so well.

We understand that Jim Preas, in his time, accomplished a similar feat though the basketball team on which he played was not in our intercollegiate sports calendar—all honor to him.

“Kick in” with the information, Jim! If others there be, we want to hear from them, too, so we can get straight on our history, so if any of you are better informed on the subject than we are, please advise us right away.

Freshman Basketeers Close Victorious Season

On Saturday, February 28, the Tech Freshmen brought their basket season to a successful close by handing Riverside a 43-to-18 drubbing. The freshmen played rings around the cadets and Tiny Hearn, giant center, was right when it came to ringing the basket. The freshmen tallied thirteen points before Riverside sank a shot, then it was the brilliant Riddle, captain, who looped one from midcourt. During this period the freshmen ran up 26 points, holding Riverside to three.

Hearn (22), c.  Smith (4), c.
Roane (1), r.g.  Franklin, r.g.

Our rats have won eight of their nine games, their only defeat coming in the return game with Mercer freshmen in Macon which ended, 23 to 21. Earlier in the season they beat the Mercer rats, 29 to 11.

In the nine games they have shot 352 points against 151. Hearn came within six points of shooting as many points as the combined scores of the opponents. Dick Wright, the flashy forward, came second in the scoring column with an even 70. Morton, the other regular forward, shot 41.

Their season record stands:

Atlanta Gets 1926 Ceramic Convention
Thomasville Ladies Donate Potter’s Wheel

Of much interest to all Tech alumni and friends and especially to those students taking ceramic engineering, is the announcement that the 1926 annual convention of the American Ceramic Society is to be held in Atlanta. During the meeting there will be side trips to Macon, Wilkerson county, and the Dry Branch District. This convention will afford the students a splendid opportunity to learn what ceramic engineers are accomplishing throughout the country and will no doubt give them a much broader view of that branch of engineering.

Dr. Brittain recently received letters of congratulations in regard to the ceramic exhibit displayed by Tech at the convention which was held at Columbus, Ohio, a week or so ago.
The interest of this most important step in the development of southern resources is not centered in industry alone as is evidenced by the recent gift of a modern potter’s wheel to the school by the ladies of Thomasville,
Ga. This expensive piece of machinery is now in the new Ceramics Building which is complete in every detail for study and research work.
Georgia Basketball Team Gets Revenge

By E. D. Arwood

The Saturday of February 21 was one of history making for Georgia Tech and University of Georgia. From the time the members of the team and supporters stepped off the train in Athens until they boarded it to leave the Classic City each and all were accorded a royal welcome.

The first game played in Athens since the renewal of athletic relations turned out to be the greatest friendly contest the Jackets have seen this year. About one hundred and fifty loyal sons of Tech were in force to root for the mighty Jackets. Across the basketball floor were some 900 Georgia students who could not drown the Tech rooters. The Georgia band favored us with a few strains of "Rambling Wreck," which preceded their "Glory" song.

The Bulldogs were out for revenge from the minute the whistle began the game, and in the twinkling of an eye shot their first goal. Douglas Wycoff, the cause of their downfall in Atlanta, was completely blocked at every turn.

After taking the lead, Georgia scored 11 points before Tech's first point. However, Tech overcame this lead and at the end of the first half had reduced it to five, leaving the score 17 to 12.

Asking no quarter nor giving any, Tech rallied in the second half and soon tied the score at 18 all. Then the Jackets were leading by one point when Nolan Richardson made a long field goal and led Georgia on to victory.

George Wilder, Tech's stellar forward had a big night. He shot 11 points. Nolan Richardson, Harrell Huguley and Charlie Wiehrs were the outstanding brilliants of the Georgia game.

The team work shown by each team was remarkable and the spirit of sportsmanship existing between the two was wonderful to behold!

Spring Lecture Course

Last year Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, instituted the annual lecture series assembling his speakers in the series as the "Captains of Industry." The schedule for this spring is as follows:

Forrest Adair, "Business Success," March 5.

President William H. Cox, of Emory University, "Honor Day Address," March 17.

The students of the various classes are very fortunate in having men of this calibre and information address them and obtain, as a result, a store of practical knowledge of inestimable value to them. Every student is required to pass a comprehensive examination on the U. S. and State Constitution before graduation.
Mr. J. T. Wikle

The many Tech alumni and friends will regret to learn of the death of Mr. J. T. Wikle during the last week of February. Mr. Wikle was graduated from Tech in 1896 with the degree of bachelor of science in mechanical engineering. At the time of his death he was chief engineer and purchasing agent for the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills, Atlanta.

By perseverance, application, efficiency and study, Mr. Wikle literally drove his way to the top of the textile industry and was a recognized authority in his work. By his death the industrial world loses a constructive builder and Georgia Tech a loyal alumnus and an example of "one who succeeds." Our sympathy goes out to his family and employers. A noble character has left the world a better one from its contact with him; he worked faithfully and well, of which great is the reward thereof.

With the death of Mr. Oscar Elsas, a few months ago, and Mr. Wikle, both comparatively young men, and the recent resignation of Mr. Frank Neely, who left to become general manager of M. Rich Bros., all Tech graduates, the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills have lost their three biggest engineers and executives in a short space of time. This organization has as its lot the consequent duty of carrying on to mighty big things in emulation of those who have departed to their reward beyond, and to the other great worker who cast his lot in another big field of endeavor.

James Bright Holmes—Chas. Edward Sewell, Jr.,

Students

The Alumnus regrets to note the death of two students, James Bright Morgan Holmes, of Hernando, Miss., a Junior E.E., and Charles Edward Sewell, Jr., Yatesville, Ga., of the freshman class. Both of these young men were active and popular at school and gave every promise of developing into leaders in their work. Their deaths came within a week of each other as a result of pneumonia, which every known attention failed to overcome.

We extend our sympathy to the families of these two fine boys who chose as their alma mater the school of our ties. The R. O. T. C. formed a military escort from the school to the station for young Holmes and Sewell, whose bodies were taken to their respective homes for burial.

Students Enter Intercolligate Debates

A varsity debating team for 1925, composed of L. M. Gudger, junior; W. E. Smith, sophomore; W. T. Dunkin and Herndon Thomas, freshmen; has been selected to represent Georgia Tech for the coming year in the forensic field.

At the same time, a freshman team composed of T. A. Middlebrooks, O. C. Custer and B. L. Crew was selected. The freshmen will try their mettle against the Emory rats.

For the varsity a triangular debate with Mercer and Alabama has been arranged. Last year was the first year in many in which debating received the attention it deserves. Debates were scheduled with Ogletorpe, Mercer and Alabama, the subject under discussion being, "Resolved; That France was Justified in Entering the Ruhr." The dates for the debates this year have not yet been announced.
N. C. Wins Third S. I. C. Basket Tourney

For the third time since 1922, the Tarheels from the University of North Carolina were returned victors in the Southern Intercollegiate Conference tournament which closed in Atlanta on the night of March 3rd after five days of hectic basketball struggling. Tulane was the runner up against the victors and was a great team itself.

The North Carolina stalwarts didn’t extend themselves much until they played Tech and were evidently hitting their stride when they played Georgia on the following night, but when they went against Tulane it was necessary for them to hit on all “n” cylinders, which resulted in a great team getting defeated by one a shade better.

From a Tech standpoint, it is interesting to observe that N. C. beat Tulane by the same margin of points that it defeated the Jackets, who, too, were the next highest scorers against the victors, falling below Tulane in this respect by only two points. Furthermore, though participating in but two of the games, Doug Wycoff was fourth highest individual scorer for the entire tournament. Doug’s total points were 25, an average of 141/2 per game; while third high scorer, McDonald of N. C., totaled 37 points for an average of 7 2-5 per game for the five games.

Winner against Sewanee in its opener, the Jackets were not dealt kindly by the fates in drawing N. C., for the second round; just as our boys were beginning to find themselves, too, after a hard trip and the heavy hand of the faculty; the clan is gathering, however, look out, future tournaments!

From the Technique—Our College Paper
Georgia’s Hospitality

“The spirit which prevailed at both encounters between teams representing Georgia and Tech is one which demands recognition. It is a concrete example of man’s power to candidly acknowledge an error and with its admission, to raise himself above that plane upon which quarrels exist.

In Athens as in Atlanta, the palm of welcome was cordially extended. A sportsmanlike behavior characterized both players and their respective supporters. Anything unpleasant which has happened is of the dead past. Rather than cast out its memory, we will recall its evil influences at times when we are likely to act irrationally, and so let that memory be a guide for our future actions.

Those who tasted the hospitality of our friends at the University are convinced that all traces of bitterness or rancor are gone. They have returned with tales of enjoyable affairs, with stories of regal pleasures; and they have evidenced a desire to reciprocate when the opportunity presents itself.

We are sincerely glad of the course which events have taken, and we hope that as long as Georgia and Tech are co-existent, the most friendly relations will be maintained.”
Weddings and Engagements

Alexander—Bullock
The engagement of Miss Martha Foute Alexander and Mr. Ellis Way Bullock, of Birmingham, will be of cordial interest, not only here in Atlanta, but to a wide circle of friends in Chattanooga, Tenn., where the bride-to-be formerly resided, and in Eastman, Ga., the home of Mr. Bullock.

Doster—Standard
Of state-wide interest was the wedding of Miss Pauline Doster, of Rochelle, and Mr. William Thomas Standard, of Macon, formerly of Washington, Ga., which occurred on Wednesday, October the fifteenth, at high noon, in the Baptist Church at Rochelle.

Davis—Hunt
Cordial social interest centers in the announcement of the approaching marriage, on March 19, of Miss Alverne Miller Davis, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Montey Davis, of Ruston, La., to Mr. Alexander Trotter “Pinkie” Hunt, of Lodge, La.

Gibson—Allen
Interest centers in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Sara Frances Gibson, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Harris Gibson and Mr. Ernest W. Allen.

Goodrich—Carnes
The wedding of Miss Emma Coyle Goodrich and Mr. Erwin McDowell Carnes, of Birmingham, Ala., was solemnized on Saturday evening, January 17, at 8:30 o’clock, at the North Avenue Presbyterian church, Atlanta. This lovely wedding was an event of state-wide interest, both the bride and the groom being natives of Georgia.

Earle—Dillard
Of wide social interest throughout the south is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Winifred Earle to Mr. Joseph Penn Dillard on Wednesday, March 4, at 5:30 o’clock, at the Austin Avenue Methodist church, of Waco, Texas.

Morgan—Miller
A marriage of interest was that of Miss Laura Morgan, of Vienna, and Mr. Joseph Miller, of Cordele, which was solemnized Thursday afternoon, January 15, at 5 o’clock, at the home of the bride’s uncle, Mr. H. J. Morgan on North Dargan Street, Atlanta.

Peeples—Smith
Mrs. Ralph Woods Peeples announces the marriage of her daughter, Gertrude, to Mr. Frank Heard Smith, Jr., of Thomasville, Ga., Saturday, February 21. This announcement comes as a surprise to a wide circle of friends of the popular young couple, and centers cordial interest throughout the state.

Roberts—McCown
Of widespread social interest throughout the state is the announcement by Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Roberts, of College Park, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Blanche Roberts, to Mr. Harry Shi McCown, of Atlanta.

Frank Neely Talks On Big Stores

Human beings are the big problem in the administration of a department store, students in the store management class at the Georgia Tech evening school of commerce were told by Frank Neely, general manager of M. Rich Bros. “Real administration consists in finding out three things, what is to be done, how long it will take to do it, and who should do it,” said Mr. Neely. “The analysis necessary to answer these three questions is the basis of all business management.” The complex organization of the Rich store was explained to the class by Mr. Neely.
Do It Now

The letter below was mailed to you; if you haven’t replied to it already please, by all means, do so now—that’s the hunch, play it! We hope it will be worth a lot to you. If Midas hasn’t touched you yet, send in the information at least. None of you are too big, none of you are too small, all of us know that. We have every faith in your loyalty, but some of you persist in procrastinating. It’s never too late to send in the information—but we want it now. Come on, men!

Would you not care to do your bit for the National Alumni Association by paying your 1924-1925 dues of $5.00, payable to the Georgia Tech National Alumni Association, which includes subscription to the ALUMNUS? If so, please mail check with this letter.

Or, would you prefer to send check for $2.00 with letter for ALUMNUS subscription—which covers actual cost only of publication?

We want the first, preferably, so our organization will continue to grow and to give real service to you. The ALUMNUS subscription alone, however, will materially decrease our overhead.

We need you and want you; under no circumstance, however, delay sending in the information on yourself—other business men of the Tech Alumni want to keep in touch with you, too, which, we trust, will be mutually beneficial. With every good wish and hoping to hear from you at once, we are,

Sincerely yours,

GA. TECH NATL. ALUMNI ASSOC.,
By R. J. THIESEN, Secy.

P. S. If any former registrant of Tech is not receiving the ALUMNUS, it is because we lack his address. Should you know of anyone, kindly advise or have him write us. Use this space or reverse side for information continued from the foregoing or for anything else additional.
Directory of Classes
Graduates and Former Students

Please check over these lists as they appear each month in the Alumnus. If there are any corrections to be made kindly notify us at once. We are particularly anxious to verify those listed with "last known address"; should any of you have more recent information on those so shown kindly consider it your duty to advise us accordingly.

Graduates are shown with their degrees; those of you who withdrew are classified without degrees under the graduating year of the class with which you registered.

If we have not given your business title and connection, it is because we have not been able to get this from our letters to you; perhaps the letter miscarried or went to the wrong address; maybe it remains unanswered or was only partially filled out by you. In any of these cases, kindly use the letter on the preceding page and SEND IN THE INFORMATION AT ONCE. Don't wait until "your ship comes in"; we want the data regardless of the ship!
