In the news... Wes Sarginson (left), WAGA-TV, interviewed Rosalind R. Meyers, associate vice president, Auxiliary Services and Sam Taylor, custodian I, Housing, Monday, Dec. 13, for Sarginson’s “Wes Side Story.” The video segment was all about Taylor and his job at Georgia Tech. Born autistic, Taylor said, “I have overcome it.” Sarginson reported Taylor’s job is his dream job and Meyers said, “He’s very productive...although he requires a little more supervision.” The video segment can be viewed at Auxiliary Service’s web site, www.importantstuff.gatech.edu.
Training Others

Auxiliary Services presented program information to universities throughout the country and Canada and personal financial information to Georgia Tech students during second quarter, 2004-05.

- Live from Orlando! It’s Auxiliary Services On-line. Rosalind R. Meyers, associate vice president, Auxiliary Services, led a discussion at the National Association of College Auxiliary Services (NACAS) annual meeting in Orlando, Fla., Oct. 26. The presentation showed at least one GT Auxiliary Services’ on-line program from each department. Other presenters were Rich Steele, director, Student Center; James A. Pete, director, BuzzCard; Vern Johnson, district manager, GT Dining; Darcy Domino, marketing manager, GT Dining; and Melissa Moore, communications officer, Auxiliary Services.

- Taking Charge of Your Campus Card Program. Rosalind R. Meyers presented at a training session sponsored by NACAS and the National Association of Campus Card Users (NACCU) in Scottsdale, Ariz., Nov. 14. So well received, she has been asked to re-present at another NACCU training March 2005.

- Managing Your Money. Rosalind R. Meyers re-presented her financial planning program to a GT 1000 class Nov. 2. Together with handouts and worksheets, students planned budgets, savings and retirement accounts.

Auxiliary Services frequently contacted presentations for on-campus visits and to represent information. After Orlando on-line presentation, Tulane University, New Orleans, visited Georgia Tech and The Bulletin, the Association of College Unions International (ACUI) requested a magazine article. Rosalind R. Meyers has presented Managing Your Money four times in two years to student groups ranging from GT 1000 classes to graduating seniors.

Student Center Programs

- With 31,768 people in attendance at 57 events during Oct., Nov., Dec., Homecoming and movies were two of the high attendance events with 22,050 people.

- The Programs Council also teamed with the Student Government Association to offer students a new, late-night event on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday of finals’ week. Held in the Student Center Commons, Coffee Break welcomed 690 students for no-charge coffee and bagels from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Family Housing sponsored an ice cream social/photo shoot Friday, Oct. 8, at the Burge apartments. A Family Housing marketing brochure displayed some of the pictures.
Programs

Emerging Leaders

• Beginning its third year, the Emerging Leaders Program signed up 38 freshmen to learn and fine-tune their leadership skills.
• The Emerging Leaders Program selected 12 graduates from the program (Emerged) to assist with this year’s events. Emerged assistants for 2004-05 are Rachel Cobb, Wes Crooke, Apurva Doshi, Sidd Gaur, Kunal Gosrani, Lamarr Jackson, Julia Makarova, Ravi Parikh, Gunny Patel, Sushrut Sahoo, Jonathan Sharma and Jon Ussery.
• Self awareness, teamwork, event planning, and interviewing for campus organizations were four of the topics covered during the weekly sessions in October and November (Due to finals and other class schedules, no events were scheduled during December).

The annual, off-campus retreat for Emerging Leaders Program participants on Oct. 8-9 concentrated on leadership styles. Passing a hula hoop over one’s head and onto the next person can be a difficult task as are some leadership skills and styles if the person is not prepared. Above, Emerging Leaders team build with this exercise.

Student Center hosts regional ACUI conference

• The Georgia Tech Student Center was the site of the Region 6 Association of College Unions International (ACUI) regional conference from Thursday, Nov. 11, through Saturday, Nov. 13.
• With 13 universities from Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida and Puerto Rico in attendance, the 78 representatives participated in 18 educational sessions at the three-day event.
• Jeff Smith, Georgia Tech Student Center President, received the prestigious Norman A. Whitten Award for Outstanding Student Leadership in the region at the conference.

Facilities

Reinvestments

- As of Dec. 31, Housing had 36 signed contracts for its new Family Housing apartments (Tenth and Home). Families started picking up keys on Friday, Dec. 31, to begin moving into their new homes.
- S&D Construction accepted the contract on the Folk Residence Hall renovation on Dec. 8. Construction begins, on schedule, in January.
- The Student Center Commons accepted a dedication plaque, acknowledging the support of Penny and E. Roe Stamps IV (Industrial Engineering 1967 and M.S. Industrial Engineering 1972), in a ceremony hosted by the Georgia Tech Development Office.

B&N @ Georgia Tech

Compared with the same period (July-Dec.) for fiscal year 2003-04, sales for 2004-05 are:

- Up 12.1 percent for Technology Center (i.e., up 47.8 percent on computer hardware and peripherals).
- Down 4 percent on textbook sales (Aggressive marketing for Spring Semester resulted in 94 percent increase in used books, planning to increase sales).
- Up 16.3 percent in Georgia Tech Clothing Sales.
- Up 17.1 percent in Georgia Tech Spirit Gift Sales.
- Up 68.1 percent at Starbucks Café.
- Up 30.8 percent in General Trade Books.

GT Dining

- Woodruff Dining Hall is sporting a new point of service system at its made-to-order grill. Customers may individualize their grill orders, selecting everything from bread and meat to condiments on a self-order, electronic keypad. The order goes directly to the grill cook who prepares the sandwich/burger more quickly and efficiently than a verbal order.
- The Food Court changed its “Grab-N-Go” section, adding three new salads and five new sandwiches, boasting Artisan breads.
